Tenders for high school could be let at next SCBE meeting

Permission for the Simcoe County Board of Education to begin construction of a school in Penetanguishene for Ecole Secondaire Le Caron students could be received in time for tenders to be let at the next meeting of the SCBE. Penetanguishene and Tiny Township trustee Alvin Gravelle says.

Le Caron's principal said yesterday the school will be occupied as soon as possible. He would like to move into the new school in late August or, failing that, during the Thanksgiving weekend.

Estimates of when the school could be occupied range from September to early November. Although the building may not be turned over by the contractor to the SCBE until January, the school can be occupied earlier with the contractor's agreement, the principal said.

The principal based his optimism on the supposition that the contract to build the school will be given to a firm in Guelph, the only firm in Ontario capable of erecting the type of temporary school the board has in mind.

Last year the Guelph firm started to build a similar school in Ottawa in April and it was occupied in early October, he said. The principal noted that Penetanguishene is much closer to Guelph than is Ottawa, and that the company has gotten some bugs out of its system with the experience of building the Ottawa school.

Planning board's opinion of church construction delivered

The Lutheran Church in America has received the approval in principle of the Midland Planning Board for the erection of a church between Yonge Street West and Little Lake Park.

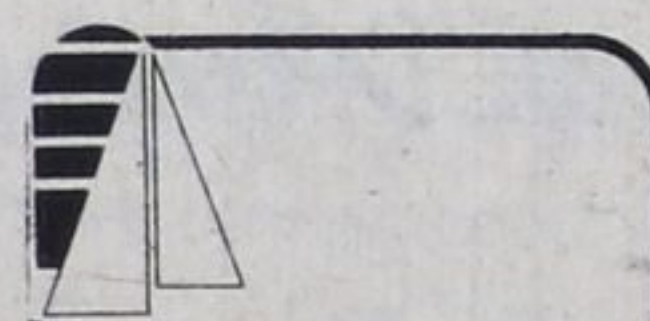

The church is considering purchasing property between the cemeteries and the Gulf service station on Yonge Street. The zoning would not need to be changed. The residential zoning includes institutional use, and allows a church.

The planning board was approached Tuesday evening because the church wanted some evidence that if the property were purchased that church could be built. The church is restricted from buying property for any other use and the deadline date of an option to purchase was very near.

A problem foreseen by the board was that the closest sewage line is on the north side of Yonge Street, and also uphill.

The church's solicitor, Fred Hacker, said that a church will be built in future on the property to the east, and that perhaps development of the Lutheran Church construction could be managed so that the problem of connecting with the sewage line could be minimized.
