There's a building boom in Tiny these days

The estimated value of building construction in Tiny Township for the first quarter of 1981 is up $667,900 over the previous year, according to building inspector Larry Crawford.

These figures were presented in the inspector's quarterly report to council on Wednesday, and show that construction value has more than doubled for the same period in 1980. In 1980 a total of 42 building permits were issued for an estimated construction value of $534,600 from Jan. 1 to April 30.

Sixty-six permits were issued before April 30 this year for a total value of $1,202,500.

In summary, the building inspector states, "24 more building permits were issued-13 more for the construction of new seasonal dwellings and three more for new permanent dwellings."

Deputy-reeve John Lackie expressed surprise over the increase in building, and speculated that builders were "maybe trying to beat the re-imposition of sales tax on materials in June."

"They're also learning to live with high mortgage rates," Lackie added.
