Annual EDHS Day coming soon

Students at Elmvale District High School will once again be celebrating EDHS Day this year and residents and businesspeople will be the ones benefiting.

According to Graham Shaw, head of student services at school, requests have already begun filing in to the office, most of them repeats from last time around.

EDHS Day, meaning Elmvale Deserves Help from Students, will be held on Thursday, June 4 and will involve high school students giving freely of their time and energy to help members of the community in any way they can.

Throughout the day, young people will be offering free car washes, shopping services and a nursery school and will also be available for whatever jobs are requested from Elmvale and area residents.

Anyone who is interested in receiving free help from these students, can obtain work situation forms from either the young people themselves or in stores throughout the village. They can also contact the school and put in an order.

Shaw noted that jobs should be geared to anything a teenager can accomplish.

He went on to say he hoped more area businesses would take advantage of the day, as they are responsible for the many advertisements found in the annual Year Book and school paper the Blat as well as being the ones who supply funds for commencement and other activities.

This first EDHS Day received good response last year, said Shaw as approximately 95 percent of students participated. Feedback received from area residents showed the work was well done and much appreciated.

Participants could be seen all over the village last year painting, gardening, housecleaning, washing cars, landscaping and doing general clean-ups.

They could also be seen in the rural areas mending fences, doing chores on farms, cleaning windows and picking garbage from the roadsides.

People who are interested in receiving student assistance on Thursday, June 4 are asked to keep those jobs in mind when applications become available.

Stolen car returned

Last week was almost as uneventful as the preceding weekend for the short-staffed town police.

A car reported stolen from a factory parking lot turned up less than two hours later parked in a different location. The owner, Doris Ferguson, left her key in her car in the parking lot of her place of work, Decor Metal Products on Centennial Drive, police said.

The car was reported stolen at 9.50 a.m. Wednesday and police found it empty, undamaged, and unattended in the factory parking lot later at 11.30 a.m.

Spring concert tomorrow

Penetanguishene Secondary School dance band, and will be part of the annual ESPSS spring concert tomorrow. Starting time is 7.30 p.m.

ANNOUNCING A PROGRAM TO HELP COMMUNITY GROUPS IN ONTARIO WHO HELP UNEMPLOYED YOUTH

If your community group is interested in providing counselling to young people who have low educational levels or insufficient training in the fundamental skills necessary to find and hold a job, there's financial help available.

As part of BILD (Board of Industrial Leadership and Development), the Ontario Youth Secretariat and the Ontario Manpower Commission have created a program to encourage a community response to the special problems of unemployed youth. The Ontario Youth Secretariat will match local monies in support of a counselling service - up to $60,000 per year.

Are you interested? Would you like more information? Mail the coupon below for a brochure that will fully explain the program and qualifications.
