

Third incident of indecent exposure in Port

The third appearance of the Port McNicoll flasher occurred last Thursday when a man jumped out of a pick-up truck and exposed himself to a pedestrian, reports the Midland OPP.

The incident, the third to be reported to police in the last several weeks, occurred on First Street at the exit from the village.

Police say that at 11:45 p.m. a male driving a pick-up truck leaving Port McNicoll stopped his vehicle, jumped out, exposed himself to a girl who was walking the other way, jumped back into the pick-up truck and left.

The Gibson-Bahrynowski and Associates Limited Planning and Housing Associates are conducting a survey on behalf of the village re people interested in a Senior Citizens Housing Project and held a meeting on Wednesday afternoon in the Community Centre, with interested parties attending.

Miss Deborah Wyley representing the company explained about the project very thoroughly--that it would require about one hundred interested people to fill in applications before a 30-unit Senior Citizens Building could be approved.

She explained it would be a mixed resident project meaning 50 per cent of the apartments would be subsidized. All the apartments would be similar and all the subsidized rental would be confidential. There would be some two-bedroom apartments as well as the one bedroom apartments and it is hoped there will be much prompt response to the questionnaire as this is necessary to obtain the two bedroom units. The completed questionnaires can be left at the Village or Municipal office or the Victoria Harbour post office.

Anyone with questions about this project can ask at the Municipal Office and they will be in touch with Miss Wyley for the information.
