

Time sharing is the name

Timesharing has arrived in Collingwood, with the introduction of Cranberry Vacation Villas in Cranberry Village.

Forerunners of an exciting new development by Cranberry Timeshare Inc., 35 timesharing vacation villas representing 1,750 unit weeks, are being built in Phase I, and are scheduled for completion in early 1981. Phase II will comprise 50 villas, developing 2500 unit weeks.

Cranberry Vacation Villas recently appointed Bryson McQuirter Ltd., Real Estate, as its agent in Midland, Penetanguishene, Honey Harbour and Wasaga Beach.

The local firm plans to unveil the details surrounding this unique timesharing program during a public presentation at the Highland next Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. The gathering is open to the general public with wine and cheese to be served later in the evening.

Special counsellors from Cranberry Villas will be in attendance to answer any questions. Bryson McQuirter emphasized this week, "Nothing is being sold Wednesday evening." Successful throughout Europe and the United States, timesharing is today's answer to vacation inflation. It's an exciting and innovative concept that allows the middle income family to buy one or more guaranteed vacation weeks a year in luxury accommodation for a low, one-time purchase price.

It conveys the prestige of property ownership for a usable time period at a low cost.

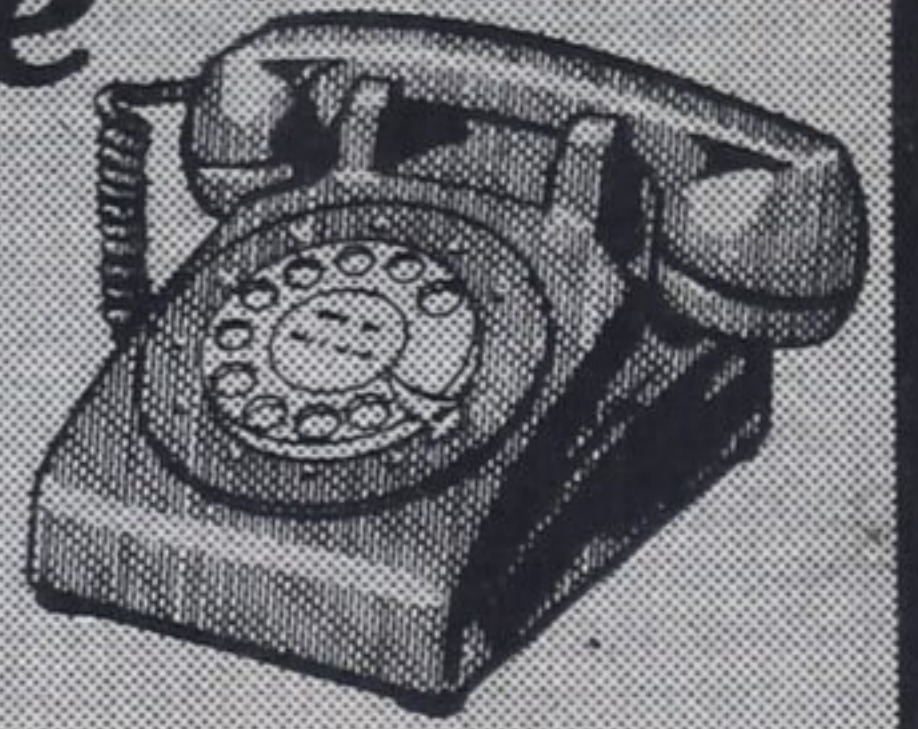

Schmidt pleased with training camp

Angela Schmidt of Midland and member of the Canadian National Cross Country Ski Team, returned to Midland this week from Alberta where she was training with the team and its new coach.

Schmidt was pleased with the training camp and says she might be attending another training session as soon as early September but that will be determined by the new head coach who may want more time to organize things.

Meanwhile, Schmidt keeps in shape with outdoor training on roller skis and regular running.
