

Advance to finals

Angels win ANAF series

Elmvale Palace Tavern Angels advanced to the Barrie and District Ladies Softball league play-off finals with a decisive sweep in their best of three series against Army, Navy Airforce last week.

Angels won that series two games to none and both matches were won by just a single run.

Tuesday match
The first game of the series was played in Elmvale last Tuesday evening and the opposing team, ANAF jumped into an early two point lead, with key hits from Sue Flegal and Linda Watson.

Elmvale fought back to even the score at 2-2 and the winning run for the local squad came in the seventh inning of play.

Shirley Howie led off the rally with a single and Angie Kirton went in to run for her, was advanced to second by JoAnne McGinnis and on to third on a sacrifice bunt by Barb Schlorff.

Deb Charman managed the RBI, her single scoring Kirton from third and giving the Angels the 3-2 victory.

Deb Charman was the starting pitcher in the match and JoAnne McGinnis came in to relieve in the sixth and earn the win.

Fans were glued to their seats by the exciting last inning of play and subsequent win by the Angels. ANAF played a strong game and the Elmvale girls were lucky to come away with a win as the team was not very sharp throughout.

Series winner
Angels wound up that best of three series Thursday night in Barrie when once again they managed to hold on to their one point lead and take the match by a 3-2 score. This time around however, it was Elmvale who jumped into an early 1-0 lead.

Brenda Columbus crossed the plate for the Angels to score that run. Angels increased their lead to 3-0 by the fourth inning but the hard-fighting ANAF squad brought their score to within one point of the leaders.

JoAnne McGinnis was the winning pitcher for the Elmvale girls.

ANAF gave the Angels players a good test in this short series and a major component in their loss was the fact they were missing their starting catcher for the entire series as well as other key players for the two games.

Though the Angels didn't play their best baseball of the season last week, they are looking forward to the finals, a best three of five series against Ivy.

Getting ready

A very successful golf tournament was held at Brooklea Golf and Country Club, Saturday, as that club's fifth annual invitational tournament got underway. A total of 127 golfers took part in this year's tournament, as compared to an average of 55 from past years. Shown here are golfers marking each others scores to eliminate the possibility of unfair play. From left standing: Tom Sandle, Blue Mountain Golf Course; Marlon Gieseler, Brooklea Golf Course; Glenn Howard, Midland Golf Course; Dave Holloway, Base Borden Golf Course. Holloway won the tournament while Howard had the low gross in the first flight. Seated were Kaye Stewart, foreground, and Norma Roberts, with glasses.

Barrie takes Oldtimers' softball tournament

The Elmvale Oldtimers Softball tournament held in the village last weekend went off without a hitch and as a result of a match with the Elmvale squad, Barrie's Olympia Old Stars took the championship game and the trophies and awards that went with it.

Action got underway Saturday morning and saw Maple Valley defeat Coldwater in the opening round of play. Elmvale beat Bracebridge, Barrie won over Gravenhurst and Penetanguishene was victorious over Aurora.

In the consolation round Coldwater downed Bracebridge, Aurora won over Gravenhurst and Aurora then beat Coldwater for the title.

The championship round saw Elmvale defeat Maple Valley, Barrie oust Penetanguishene and Barrie down Elmvale by a decisive score.

The Oldtimers took part in a fastball tournament in Sundridge in mid-July

The Barrie squad took home the Molson trophy and awards for their efforts last weekend.
