

Concert, carols part of Christmas

by Jeanne Webb
The Wyevale School gymnasium was packed on Dec. 15. The happy occasion was the school's annual Christmas concert. Parents and friends were bursting with pride as each child took their part.

The principal, Mr. Tom Mart and each teacher is to be commended for their leadership, also Mrs. Marion Locke, who is choir director. The school choir gave a super performance.

The school choir also brought more sunshine to the Sunshine Club in Elmvale on Dec. 14. They put on a musical program for the senior citizens of Elmvale area.

The United Church of Wyevale sponsored a night of caroling, Dec. 20. The beautiful evening drew approximately 80 carolers out, even to the tiny tots, carried on parents' shoulders. Many homes were cheered by the beautiful Christmas message in song. After about two hours, the happy throng wended its way back to the church to enjoy a hot snack of chili and chocolate.

On Sunday morning, Dec. 20, the United Church congregation thoroughly enjoyed the Christmas pageant, put on by their Sunday School children.

The Wyevale Free Methodist Church held its Christmas concert Saturday night, Dec. 19. Everyone enjoyed the program directed by Zdenka Slama, portraying What Christmas Means To Me. Special music was provided by a young brother and sister from Barrie, friends of the Slama's. Tracey Redforth and Claudia Slama sang several Christmas carols, fitting in with the Christmas message. A light lunch and bags of candy and chips for each ended an enjoyable evening.

Sunday morning, Dec. 20, in the Free Methodist Church, the Christmas message was brought by Reverend Hubert Schwartz, who is back on one foot at least.

Hubert suffered a broken ankle about a month ago. Following the worship service, a fellowship dinner was enjoyed.

The turkey bingo, held in the Orange Centre, Dec. 11, was a success. The Ladies' and Mens' Lodges were pleased with the response.

We are sorry to learn that Frank Caston is back in the hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Ike Brock are home from a tour of the Orient. They report a very beautiful and educational trip. Ike and Flo will have many interesting things to tell you, if you can corner them.

Once again the spirit of Good Will and Cheer is rampant in the village. The beautiful Christmas lights are twinkling out their Christmas message to each of us and we say "Thank You!"

If you want to know what is going on in Wyevale during December, consult the Grenier's Store window.

It has a lovely Christmas Calendar. Julie Barker has come up with some great ideas again.

The McRaes, on the corner of the Drive-In Road and the Base Line, are once again sending forth their Christmas greetings to one and all. The magnificent display of lights and the beautiful Christmas carols are gladdening the heart of many a passer-by.

Girl Guides of Canada Rocky Shores

Today's column was submitted by Mrs. Margaret Fritz of 1st Midland Guides.

We were slow at the starting gate but are now galloping along. On Oct. 20, 1981 we held our Fly-Up of eight girls. The Mothers were invited to attend the Fly-Up and a jolly time was had by all.

The following week was Halloween, as usual the costumes were outstanding. We had the girls bobbing for apples and the Mothers generously supplied the treats.

The 1st Midland Guides showed how tough they were, when they enjoyed a day of Campfire Skills at the Rally held in Penetanguishene Park on Nov. 28.

I am happy to say they came through with flying colours, chattering teeth and knocking knees.

All these activities were in addition to the regular meetings. On Dec. 8 we enrolled our tenderfoot Guides and held our Christmas Play. At this important event the newest girls (Tenderfoots) became fully fledged Girl Guides; there was great rejoicing. The parents and relatives were invited to attend and the girls got to show their prowess in acting as they took part in a play.

The Girls also took part in the Caroling at the Senior Citizens Club on Friday, Dec. 11.

Supper at McDonalds and then on to carol at the Huronia District Hospital for the patients. Afterwards the group attended a small party at the home of Mrs. Bourgeois to exchange gifts and to wish each other a Happy Christmas.

Thirteen exhibitions of the National Gallery of Canada were shown in 18 communities across Canada and were seen by nearly 250,000 people in the last year.
