

Policemen hit the books — Attend courses at police college

Last year a number of Midland policemen attended courses at the Ontario Police College at Aylmer.

Constables M. Brady, C. Carlton and W. Tiessen took part in the college's three-week advance training course while Sgt. M. Dorion attended the junior command course at the college.

The information is contained in Police Chief, Ernest Bates' annual report for the year 1981.

Meanwhile his report shows that Const. J. Charlebois took part in the college's arson investigation course while CRO / Clerk David Gay attended a CPIC course in Ottawa.

And here at home Staff-Sgt. Ross Willett conducted in-service training at the police station while Const. J. R. Adams instructed at firearms training sessions.

During '81, Const. Dan

Gilbert, known affectionately as "Officer Dan" to public school pupils spent 120 hours working in schools, supervising and training safety patrollers, speaking to service clubs and assisting to spear-head

Midland's Block Parent program.

The above took up an additional 43 hours of his time. And long-time member of the local police force was quite visible as well. Staff-Sgt. Donald Johnston lectured at MSS to Grade 12 and Grade 13 students enrolled in Midland Secondary School's Canadian Law course.

He also spoke to members of the Midland Kiwanis Club on the subject of police work.

As those of you involved in Guiding or Scouting know, Thinking Day is fast approaching and celebration planning is keeping everyone busy.

What is Thinking Day all about?

Thinking Day, February 22nd, was adopted as a special day of celebration every year;

after a suggestion was made at the World Conference in 1926 that a day be set aside each year to commemorate the founding of Scouting and Guiding.

Why was February 22nd chosen as the date? It marks the birthday of both Lord and Lady Baden-Powell and it is celebrated with various activities throughout the world.

Dates of Thinking Day Celebrations:

February 22nd—St. Paul's United Church-Brownies from all Midland packs are attending a Brownie Revel.

February 23rd—Monseigneur Castex-Guides from all over Midland are attending a Guide Rally.
