

Work Week gets an 'A' from school and firms

by Roger Flint
Business Education
Director
MSS

For many years the businessmen and professionals on our community have greatly assisted in the education of the students graduating from the Business Education Courses. The success of the program last year was quite evident from your comments and those of the students who participated.

This annual program succeeds because of the tremendous co-operation of the local professionals and businessmen in our community.

Although this week's practical experience had been primarily designed for clerical and secretarial students, the positive response has encouraged us to have some of our senior accounting and marketing students participate in this program.

The students are working a regular work week where possible and are still responsible for maintaining their academic instruction. They do not receive any remuneration. They are working for the variety of office experiences, insight into job functions and a crash course in human relations which cannot be duplicated in the classroom.

This year approximately 45 students and 35 firms or professional offices will be participating.

Work week

Several dozen students from Midland Secondary School's business education courses are currently taking part in a week-long co-operative work experience program in Midland and area. Chris Cormican, above, has been working alongside The Midland Times advertising sales staff this week as part of Work Week.

Important meeting set

New outreach program

An evening lecture about Starting and Operating a Small Business will be offered at the Midland Public Library on Tuesday April 27 at 7 p.m.

A "How to" seminar, this program is brought to you by the Midland Public Library through the cooperation of the Ministry of Industry and Trade, The Georgian Bay Regional Library System and Outreach Ontario, a program of the Ministry of Citizenship and Culture. Service to the business community is an important part of the library's total information service, and this lecture will increase the awareness of business about the wide range of up-to-date information available through the public library.

Entrepreneurship, business opportunities, management skills, legal organization, franchising, buying a business, financing, business plan, business records, government assistance programs, marketing, advertising, insurance are subjects covered in the presentation.

A workshop that usually lasts three hours, it is a sure way to find the information and assistance that is available to you about small businesses through Midland Public Library and relevant government agencies in the Midland area.
