

Obituary

Doris Barrow

The death occurred on July 9, 1982, in Toronto General Hospital, of Doris Isabel Barrow of Victoria Harbour. The former Doris Kehoe was 55 years of age. The 74 Jephson Street had been ill for a year-and-a-half. Fr. Philip Wiley officiated at the funeral mass at Nicholls Funeral Home and at St. Mary's Church, Victoria Harbour, on July 12.

Interment in St. Mary's Cemetery, Victoria Harbour. The late Doris Barrow is survived by her sons Tom, Clayton, and Raymond of Toronto, Larry and Doug of Midland, and her daughters Kathy of Sudbury, Charlene (Mrs. Terry Smith) of Midland, Elaine (Mrs. Bill Coveos) of Midland, Judy of Midland, and Joanne (Mrs. Edmond Desrochers) of Lafontaine, also her brother Don Kehoe and her sister Olive Mitchel. She had 10 grandchildren.

Her husband, Charles Barrow, predeceased her. Her parents are the late Patrick Kehoe and Rae Kehoe. Born in Tweed, Doris Barrow lived in the Midland area after her marriage to Charles Barrow.

Sons-in-law Terry Smith of Midland and Edmund Desrochers of Lafontaine, Pat Potter and Rick Potter of Barrie, Roy Bonneville of Midland, and Fred Webb of Victoria Harbour were her pallbearers.

35TH ANNUAL REGATTA

Wymbolwood Beach does it up right

by Andy McDermott

Unquestionably a real saw-off. That was the unanimous opinion of nearly 100 over-16 adults engaged in the annual tug o' war between the north and south sides of the Wymbolwood Beach Association's 35th annual regatta on Saturday when the rope broke in the center to leave the entire assembly sprawled on the sand in front of the White Surf Motel.

It was a fitting finale to a two-hour program of land and water events which attracted a crowd of nearly 300 participants of all ages.

Earlier the children's tug o' war had been won by the north side group for the second year in a row. More than 11 dozen eggs were smashed in the two (junior and adult) versions of the popular egg toss before winners could be found.

The full program for the day included races of all kinds and other events arranged under the direction of beach association directors Mrs. Dale Recchia and Ralph Champion, ably assisted by a large group headed by Ron Robinson.

John Houston, president, handled the P.A. arrangements. He expressed the association's thanks to Mrs. B. Nelson and her son, Dick of White Surf for their co-operation.

Next social events include a barbeque and dance July 31 at the association's Tuft's Park, a sailing race Aug. 7 and the annual Field Day on Aug. 14.

Many thefts here

In the week ending July 26, 185 occurrences were handled by the Midland OPP. Among the occurrences were 22 thefts, nine cases of break and enter, and eight assaults.

Fifteen charges were laid under the Liquor Licence Act.

Baby gets attention

Waubushene (Tay No. 1) Fire Department personnel answered an emergency call Friday afternoon after a small baby in the hamlet required the use of a resuscitator.

The child was later rushed to Huronia District Hospital for observations and then transported to Sick Kid's Hospital in
