

Skilled firemen

Penetanguishene firefighters have been taking part in weekly auto-extrication courses at Caughey Wrecking Yard, Tay Twp. LEFT, Assistant Training Officer Marc Dupuis has the attention of firefighters Don Robitaille, No. 8; Clark Dumais, No. 7 and Larry Merkley, No. 2. Training will take place again same time, same place next Wednesday night, reports Fire Chief Ted Light.

An update

Midland Chamber of Commerce is to conduct a survey of this area's work force as well as take into account those currently unemployed.

That was the word this week from Simcoe East MPP Al McLean who along with officials from the C. of C., Simcoe North MP Doug Lewis and Mayor Moreland Lynn met at the chamber office on Wednesday to discuss the plight of RCA which plans to shut its doors for good, Dec. 31.

Efforts are also being made to obtain an ILAP (Industrial and Labour Adjustment Program) grant from the federal government so as to attract a new tenant for the Highway 12 factory.

Meanwhile McLean and union leaders from both RCA and the IUE will be meeting in Metro today with government officials in an effort to drum up provincial funds for a study which plans to look into the pros and cons of continuing to manufacture colour picture tubes in Midland.

Smile please

Once again the Wye Marsh Wildlife Interpretation Centre, Midland will be hosting a wildlife art show. Entitled, "VISIONS: Nature through Art and Photography", the display will be open free for public viewing from Sunday, Aug. 22 until Sunday, Sept. 12.

This is the second year an exposition of this type has been offered in north Simcoe County. The number of exhibitors has been increased to eight this year, with works of oils, watercolours, pen and ink, intaglio etching, wood carving and photography on display.

As all of the artists are from Simcoe County, their subject matter is taken from local flora and fauna. Many of the pieces will be for sale through the artists.

A slide presentation is also featured during each day.
