Salmon is fast becoming a luxury item due to the rising cost, but consider the possible price per pound should some angler snag a special salmon on what has been dubbed the "Million Dollar Day."

The Toronto Star's Great Salmon Hunt could have some lucky fisherman walking away financially secure for the next 20 years.

The Hunt began on Aug. 14 and will continue until Sept. 26 at noon.

But, on Sept. 18, a salmon carrying a special tag could bring home more than the proverbial bacon: a million dollars is riding on the back of this coho.

It will be released prior to the derby and if a salmon chaser isn't lucky enough to catch it on a day other than the 18th or another lucky day designated by the Toronto Star (if there should be poor weather conditions) it will bring home $10,000 as a consolation award.

However, it must be caught between the Million Dollar Day and the end of the Salmon Hunt on Sept. 26.

The angler who ends up on top of the heap during the hunt run will drive away in a new Dodge Ramcharger followed by a 20-foot Wilker fishing boat powered by a 200-horsepower Mercury Outboard sitting on a Cal Trailer. And don't worry about tackle: Mitchell is supplying a boatful and Lowrance will be chipping in a graph and digital depth alarm to help you find the big one. Of course there will be Walker Electric Downriggers to save anglers' arms from playing in the big salmon.

The whole package is worth about $50,000. Not a bad payday for some lucky angler.

If you aren't lucky or skillful enough to end up No. 1 but managed to enter a few fish over five pounds, there is always the luck of the draw. Anyone who enters a coho or chinook salmon, rainbow, brown or lake trout over five pounds will have their name entered in a draw to be held at derby's end. The prize: what else but another Dodge Ramcharger tailed by a boat, motor and trailer.

Even if you're not No. 1 there are many other prizes making the $15 entry fee a good investment. All totalled there will be more than $120,000 in prizes and cash to be awarded.

The winner will have to earn his spot, though. As John Power, outdoor writer for the Toronto Star, put it: "Don't worry about being alone on Lake Ontario, we expect about 15,000 entries this year."

Each week the heaviest fish entered in the derby will receive a Lund Boat, Mercury Outboard and Caltrailer, creating six mini-derbies.

Anyone interested in taking the chance of becoming a millionaire or picking up a new boat, motor and vehicle can pick up an entry in Toronto at Canadian Tire Stores, Collegiate Sportsworld, Sears, selected sporting goods stores and at the weigh-in stations.

Net proceeds from the 1982 Great Salmon Hunt will go to the Ringwood Salmon Hatchery Expansion Program which will hopefully give us many years of good salmon fishing in the future.

Good luck, and see you at the Toronto Star's Great Salmon Hunt.

HURONIA SLOW PITCH REPORT

Wilkins were Nicked

Barry Nickerson clouted three home runs to lead Goman Boats 33-9 win over Wilkins Auto.

Keith Dumais matched Nickerson at the plate by also hitting three home runs in Goman's victory. The win knocked Wilkin's Auto out of contention.

In other action, the Dollartown Saints hammered Bay Mills 24-11 to take that series in two straight.

Tony Light pitched Leitz Brigade to a 10-8 win over Steelbrite on Tuesday but the Brigade bounced back on Wednesday to finish off Steelbrite with their second win 14-12.

Simcoematic also finished their series with a 13-8 win over Ogilvie Mills. Ken Lacroix got the win with support from Jackie Dusome, who pitched in with a homer and three RBI, and John Dumais, who had four RBI.

The Warriors took out the IUE Sluggers 30-11 for their second win in that series. Art Bergie pitched the win and contributed two home runs to help himself out. He got lots of help from his hitters as well, as Steve Charlebois was six for six with a home run, Andrew Messinger chipped in with one and Gary Greer hit his first of the year.

Gill Deschamps pounded out a home run for the Sluggers in a losing cause.

The only other game saw Fred Hook's defeat the Donut Villa 12-7 in the first game of that series.

The next series will see Greening Donald play Leitz Brigade, Warriors clash with Dollartown Saints, Goman Boats face Simcoematic and the Techform Eagles take on the winner of the Fred Hook's Donut Villa series.

Egg hunt part of Y's Summer Sendoff

What to do with a dinosaur egg once you find it will be a moot question to the kids involved in the Midland Y.M.C.A.'s Summer Sendoff excursion.

All the fun will be in looking for the egg while trying to squeeze in lots of time for games, crafts and swimming on the first day of the two-day program for kids 8 to 12 years old.

The second day of the program, scheduled for Aug. 26 and 30, and designed as a final fun fling before school starts up again, will include a trip to the Ontario Science Centre in Toronto where the kids will test their skills in the science arcade.

For more information on the program, contact the Y's Lori Bevridge at 526-7828.
