St. T's shuffle

The students of St. Theresa's High School showed they're just another bunch of fashion slaves as they donned various new wave, old wave and athletic wave gear during their annual Run-a-thon romp around the Sacred Heart track last Friday. The run was a fund-raising effort to help support the school's drama, sports and music activities and to help pump up school spirit. It was a success on all accounts.

Shipbuilders get pre-season revenge

A's fit to be tied ...but they lost it

The Midland Athletics may be more fit than last season but, also like last season, all it takes is one burrowing nuisance on the other team to throw the frustrated A's into fits.

Sunday night at Midland Arena Tom Colley of the Collingwood Shipbuilders was the culprit as he scored three goals to subject the A's to a 9-6 loss in their second exhibition outing.

The A's had previously beaten the Shipbuilders in the OHA Major Intermediate A Hockey League's first pre-season encounter of the season, and coach Earl Scott had credited the win to more late-game gusto.

Sunday, though, the gusto was gone again, just as it had disappeared in more than a dozen games which the A's lost by a goal last year.

The Athletics had actually steered things back their way before the midway of the third period Sunday before Colley let loose with his third of the game at the 7:26 mark of the final frame and his teammates followed up with a couple more within seconds of each other only a few minutes later. And that's all it took.

Colley's first two goals came in the first period and were enough to answer A's efforts by Doug Gillespie and Bill Arbour.

Terry Spiker, with help from Paul Robillard and Hugh Robertson, brought the home side to within a goal early in the second period, but Doug Kerr put his crew well in front again with a pair before the middle period was settled.

The A's big third-period push, which was subsequently wiped out by Colley and company, began with a goal by Bruce Guthrie; that was followed by Spiker's second only 15 seconds later and a tying touch by Doug Fryer within two minutes.

Other Midland assist-getters were Doug McMann (back from a sore back), Gary Hansford with two, John Lemieux (who handles the A's conditioning programs, including regular Wednesdays in the gym), Ken Knapp, Larry Cowan, Robillard with one other and Gary Hansford with a pair.

Craig Watson and John Duval shared the A's netminding chores while Van Wilson and Brad Steele guarded the crease at the other end.

The Athletics did have the upper hand in shots on goal - 41 to 39 - but Collingwood took the honors in penalty minutes, 14 to 12.

The A's were without Wayne King (foot), Joe Butson (pneumonia) and Bob Monteith for their final pre-season encounter.

Manager Shawn Stewart said Monday that the club has signed about 14 skaters so far and other key signings are expected before the team begins its 1982-83 schedule Friday night in Midland against the new entry Durham Huskies (who lost by a wide margin to Collingwood in pre-season action Friday).

The opener will get started at 8:30 p.m.
