

Chamber was a winner too Wed.

Wanda Tucker, winner of the Midland Chamber of Commerce photography contest earlier this year, presented her prize-winning entry to the Chamber on Wednesday night at the monthly meeting.

As a result of winning the contest, Mrs. Tucker had her artistic effort used in a recent issue of Toronto Life Magazine, as a part of an advertising campaign publicizing the merits of Midland as a potential investment area for industry. The beautifully framed photograph of wild geese was gratefully accepted by new Chamber of Commerce president Ross Heacock.

In her donation address, Mrs. Tucker reiterated how glad she was to have won the contest, and stressed the fact that she is a firm believer in the future growth and development of the town.

Civitan directors

BIA ends '81 in the black; '82 looks good too: report

Midland BIA ended 1981 with a surplus for the year of $10,608.

The information is contained in a report tabled Tuesday night at the Budd Watson Gallery during the annual general meeting of the Midland Town Centre Business Improvement Area organization.

The meeting was attended by 75 members, reports BIA Manager Liz Downer.

The forecast for 1982 indicates there will be a surplus of $6,134.51.

Meanwhile the BIA has launched its 1982 Midland Town Centre

Christmas Promotion. A total of $700 worth of BIA Bucks will be up for grabs.

Pontiff coming to Canada

It's official: Pope John Paul plans to visit Canada sometime in 1984.

What isn't official at this time is where he'll visit while in Canada.

There has been some speculation for months that the Pontiff might visit the Martyrs' Shrine. So far such a visit to the Heart of Huronia is only that...speculation.

Camera buff's photos are on display

Former public school principal Ken Cowan, a well-known Midland lawn bowler and camera buff, has set up a display of Midland Homecoming '82 pictures in the front window of The Midland Times.

According to Ken you can order any of the photos you see on display.

An expression of appreciation to the electors of Midland who supported my candidacy for the mayoralty. I have much enjoyed serving the Town of Midland for the past eight years.
