

Club fed Crossland people

by Adelaide Loughheed

On Nov. 19 at the Lions' Club Hall, the Crossland Community were guests of the Crossland 4-H Club for a pot luck supper. This was part of their bread-making project.

We were treated to many delicious varieties of home made bread and rolls; along with our casseroles, salads, and desserts. A quiz on ingredients in bread-flour and its reaction with other ingredients was given by Mrs. Doan. It was informative and interesting.

Seldom has such a large number of the local residents been together for such a pleasant evening.

Nursery School may be an advantage for those living in towns. Some parents on Concession 7, West, have developed their own school for tiny-tots, which has operated for nearly a year now. They meet in the homes with moms for leaders.

Come birthday time for one of the students, and Dads and Mums get together with the children to celebrate. Davin Regeir had his fourth birthday on Sunday and his party was no exception, except for entertainment. They had rented video tapes of their favourite TV programs.

Eight weeks in Manitoba

by JEANNE WEBB

Mrs. Margaret Marcellus enjoyed eight weeks in Portage LaPrairie, Man., visiting with the Jack Green family. While there, she attended the wedding of her granddaughter, Sheila Green, and Richard Henderson. She was also able to take in an award winning ceremony at Brandon University. Sheila won a gold medal, presented by the board of education, for an outstanding performance in student teaching and academic subjects. Mrs. Marcellus sprained her ankle during her stay but was still able to take in all the activities.

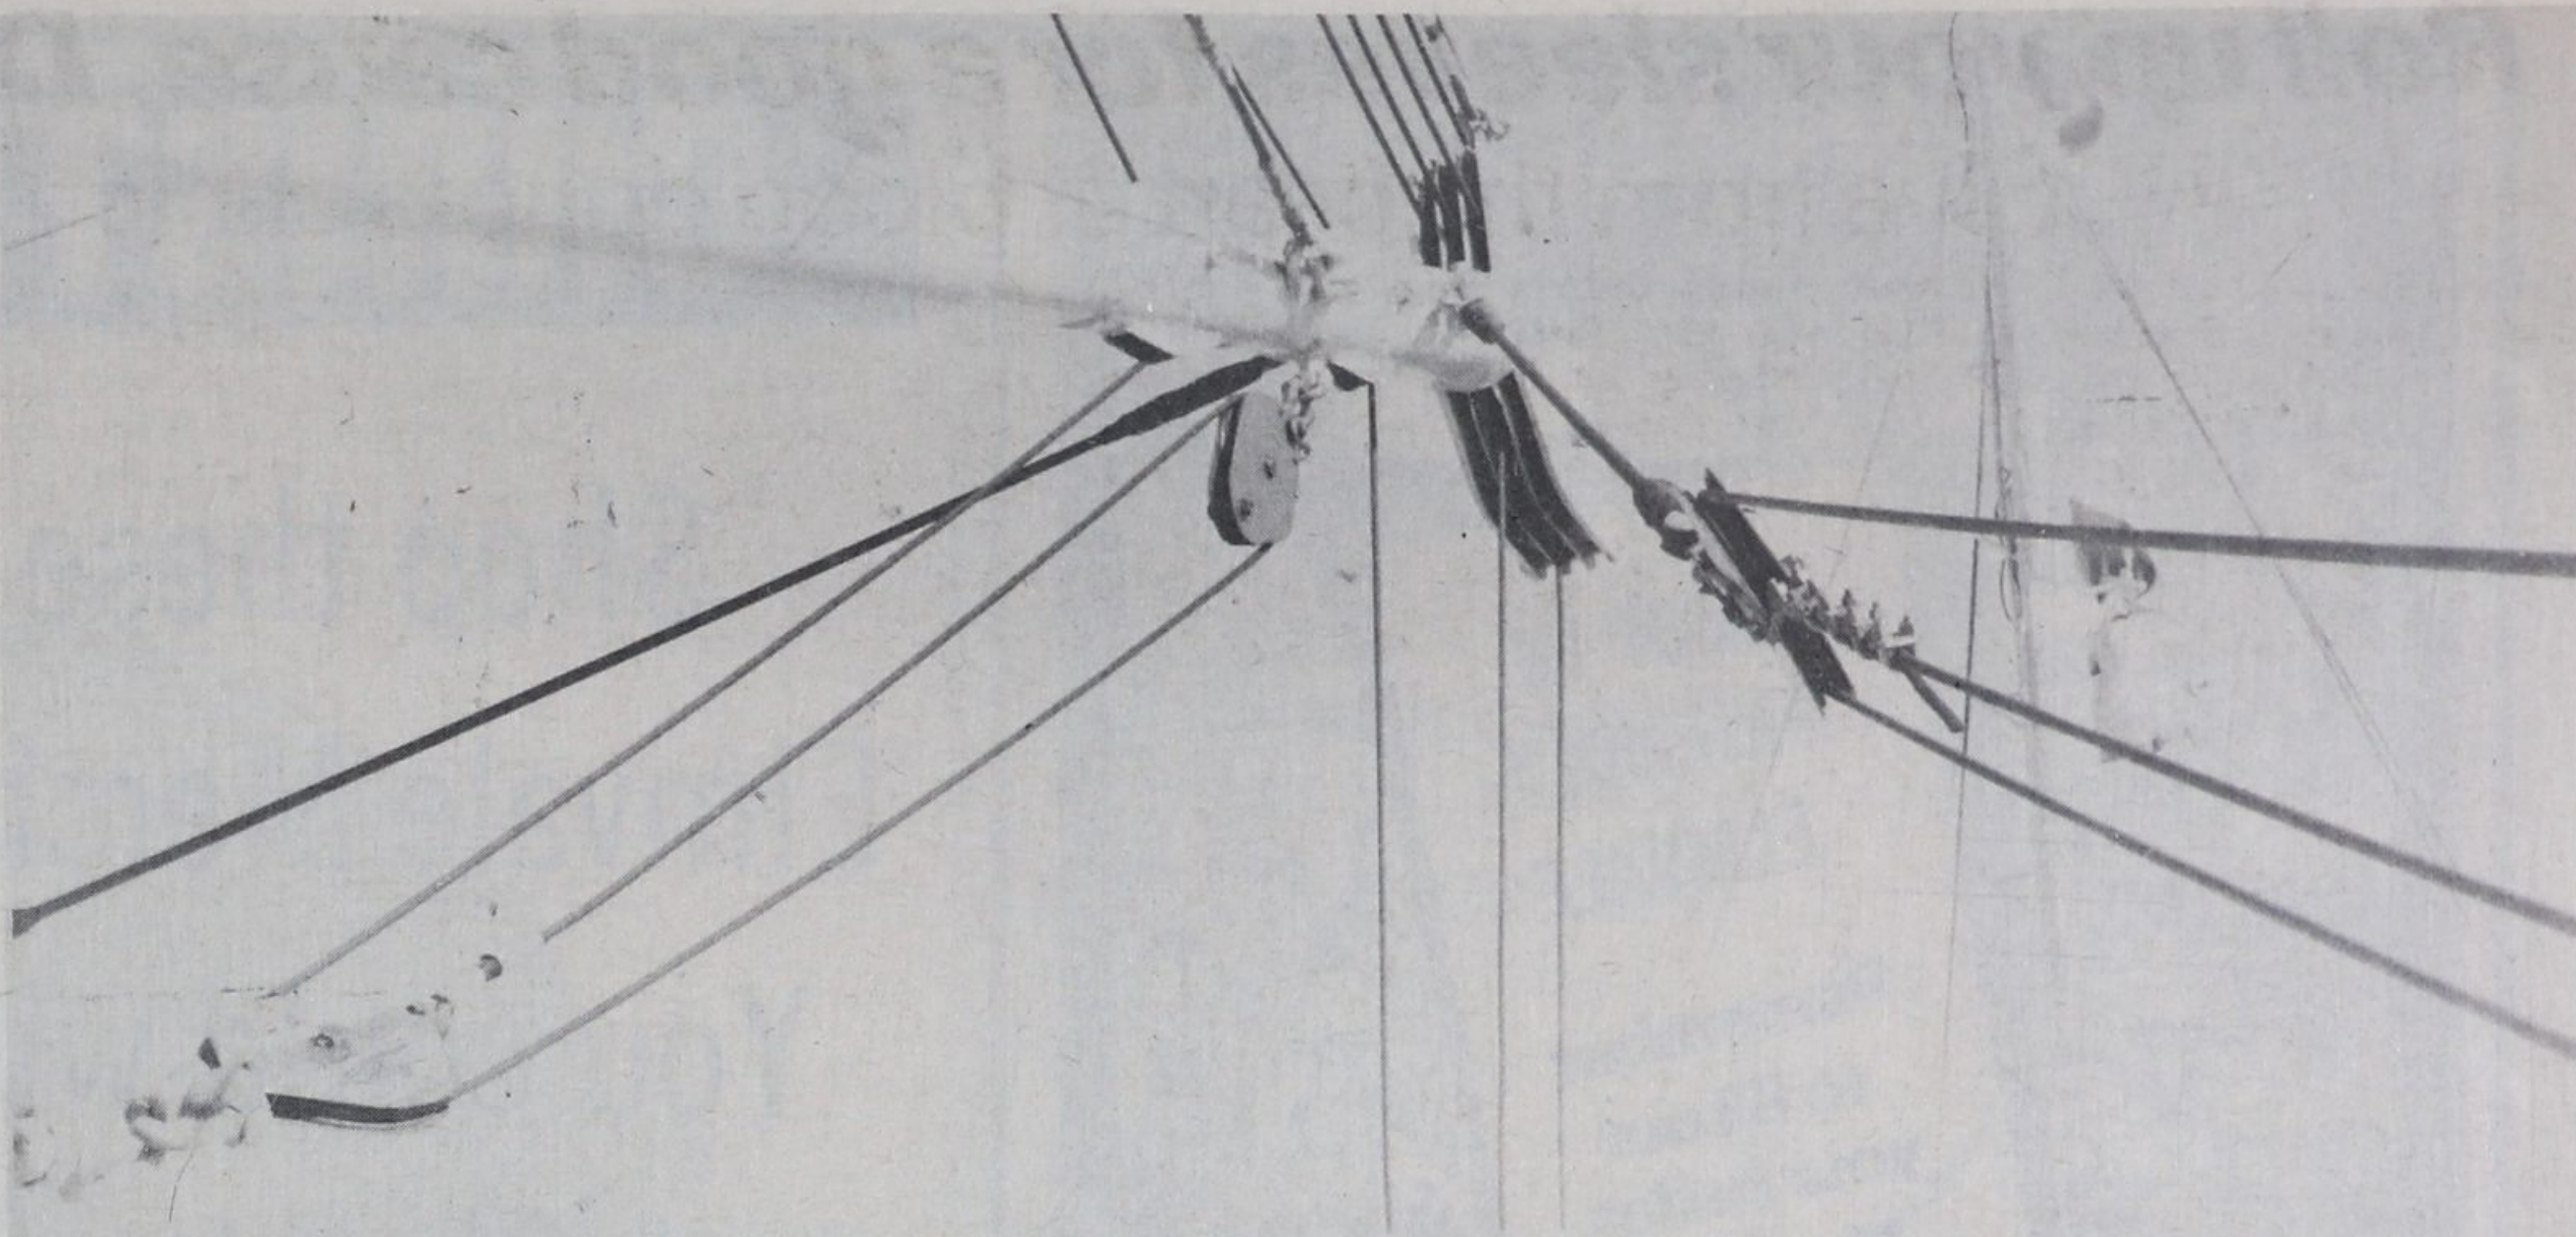

May and Moe Martin, from Calgary, Alta., were surprise visitors at the Marcellus' home two weeks ago. Bill and Grace Marcellus and Babe and Elwood Blow enjoyed having them. Grandma Marcellus didn't miss out on the company. She arrived home from the West on Tuesday.

NUCLEAR ATTACK INSTRUCTION FOR MERCHANT SHIPS IN PORT

The Civil Defence "Alert Signal" is a steady blast lasting 3 to 5 minutes.

When you hear this signal, or when directed by the Canadian Control of Shipping Organization, execute the merchant ship evacuation and dispersal instructions prescribed by the Canadian Control of Shipping Organization for the port you are in and take the following action:

IF THE INSTRUCTIONS TELL YOUR SHIP TO EVACUATE:

1. PROCEED. Get underway as rapidly as possible and carry out the evacuation and dispersal instructions.
2. RADIO GUARD. Set a radio guard on 300 or 2182 kilocycles for further instructions from the Canadian authorities. Tune in a broadcast receiver on 640 or 1240 kilocycles for Civil Defence bulletins. Do not operate your radio transmitters except in case of distress.
3. BATTEN DOWN. Secure all unnecessary blowers and close external openings, such as ventilators, hatches, doors, and ports.
4. FIRE HOSES. Rig as many fire hoses as possible, preferably with fog spray nozzles so that a protective blanket of spray is maintained over sections of the ship containing personnel and so that the running water will wash away any radioactive fallout striking the ship.
5. PROTECT PERSONNEL. Keep all personnel not assigned to operate the ship below deck out of the line of possible flying debris and away from steam lines and other piping or equipment under pressure.

6. KEEP POWER ON ENGINES. After you get to a dispersal or emergency anchorage, keep power on the engines so that you can move immediately, directed, to avoid fallout.

7. AWAIT INSTRUCTIONS. Stay in the dispersal area or emergency anchorage after the attack until you receive further instructions.

IF YOU ARE UNABLE TO GET YOUR SHIP UNDERWAY IF THE EVACUATION AND DISPERSAL INSTRUCTIONS TELL YOU TO REMAIN WHERE YOU ARE, TAKE THE FOLLOWING ACTION:

1. If you are at anchor carry out steps 2, 3, 4 and 5 above.
2. If you are alongside a wharf, secure all fires and operating machinery on then have all personnel evacuate the area or take cover in accordance with Civil Defence instructions for its general public.

IF YOU ARE UNABLE TO GET YOUR SHIP UNDERWAY IF THE EVACUATION AND DISPERSAL INSTRUCTIONS TELL YOU TO REMAIN WHERE YOU ARE, TAKE THE FOLLOWING ACTION:

When you hear this signal, have all hands take cover immediately in the best available shelter on board or ashore.

NOTICE: Plans should be posted in the galley, engine room, and in the staterooms, messrooms, and other departments of every vessel when open to the public.

Toughlove is a parent support group which advocates taking action not reaction with a tough stand: putting your foot down and sticking to your word.

Take the problem of money and the child who never has enough and always wants more.

One of the first things told to parents is not to give allowance advances. Inform the child that if he or she needs money, it's going to have to be earned. Then arrange with another Toughlove parent to set up some job the child can do to earn money.

The idea that Toughlove advocates, is teaching the child the consequences of his actions. In this case, the child learns that if he doesn't plan the spending of his money wisely, he's not going to get any more unless he earns it himself.
