Vice-chairman Ted Gerow and board member Jim McConachie are being replaced in January by new members Gail White and Tony Osler. Also, board chairman Dave Carpenter noted that the board would need the advice of the town solicitor before it could commit itself to an agreement with Szeliga. Hacker said that Szeliga would not pay $50,000 for the right to sign a long term lease, but that Szeliga might favour paying $50,000, the first five year's lease money, at one, if the money were applied against future rents. The assessed value of the parkland for which Szeliga is currently negotiating, with the town is $40,000.
