

OPP divers brush up on skills

on another
(new) mission

OPP scuba divers from across the province have been in the area this week brushing up on their skills.

The divers have been using the Midland OPP motor launch General Williams II to transport them to and from parts of Southern Georgian Bay where they have been re-qualifying (something they are required to do once a year).

Meanwhile an OPP helicopter arrived in Midland on Wednesday to take one of the divers, OPP Const. John Edwards, to another part of the province where he was to join other OPP divers in searching for a man feared to have drowned following a boating mishap.

Const. Edwards is assigned to the Midland detachment.

A special event

Midland police force's Const. Ted Watson was presented with his 20-year service medal at Monday night's council meeting. Presentation was made by Alderman Bob Jeffery, chairman of the community's public safety committee.

Tiny takes off the gloves

Wants costs

Township of Tiny has taken the bull by the horns and has called for a new OMB hearing in an effort to extract costs awarded it from Midland as a result of a Jan. 28, 1983, OMB decision.

The following resolution was approved during a township council meeting on Wednesday: "An order was filed directing that the Town of Midland pay to the Township of Tiny a sum equal to 50 percent of the Bill of Costs submitted in the total of $88,537.43 after deduction of certain legal services in respect of the attendance of Tiny's Counsel at the Legislative Committee re Bill 62.

"Since the Township of Tiny has confirmation that Midland's solicitor has recommended that Midland pay Tiny the sum of $42,303.21 and since the Ontario Municipal Board is requesting a status report as to the Bill of Costs and since three months has lapsed since the order was issued and this revenue is in arrears which may necessitate the Township to borrow this amount to maintain its cash flow... Now therefore the council hereby directs its solicitors to have the OMB to re-open the case and to direct Midland to pay the costs as agreed upon immediately. Further that the township seek costs involved in the new hearing."
