Cardinal thanks government, private sector

His Eminence, Gerald Emmett Cardinal Carter today confirmed that all planning in connection with the Papal Visit to the Archdiocese of Toronto will be completed by Friday, June 29.

The Cardinal said that any problem areas should be ironed out well in advance of the Pope's visit to the Archdiocese on Sept. 14, 15, and 16.

The Cardinal stated that he had been impressed with the co-operation already received from all levels of government and the private sector. He said that "we have found that this exercise which will involve many hundreds of thousands of people is a rather expensive one, and we have gone through numerous exercises in cost cutting.

"However, we have to remember that, apart from the security of the Pope himself, there is also the question of the safety of the people, including children who will be lining the motorcade routes, attending the Mass in North York, and attending the events in Midland when the Pope visits the Huronia area."

The Cardinal particularly expressed his appreciation for the cooperation of the governments of Ontario and Metropolitan Toronto.

Some volunteers will work on the project for a few weeks and others for a few months, and he complimented the staff on working for such long hours and many weekends.

Cardinal Carter also said that he was particularly grateful to a host of private companies for their generosity in providing personnel, equipment and vehicles.

He stated, the total response has been absolutely overwhelming, particularly in the area of volunteers, 15,000 of which will be working, with various responsibilities, during the Papal visit.

He added, the Papal Secretariat had on staff, students, retired people and many volunteers who have given so much of their time for no financial remuneration.

In conclusion, the Cardinal said that the whole spirit of the Papal Visit, which is to be a pastoral one from coast to coast, had been captured in Huronia and Toronto. He looks forward to a very successful and religious occasion for people of all faiths.

It's a matter of making history

their entry for the Penetanguishene History Fair which opens Wednesday May 30 at the Penetanguishene arena. At left, Ami Puddicombe concentrates on her special area of research.

Penetanguishene police report

Penetanguishene Police report four minor motor vehicle accidents over the past two weeks, with no injuries and no charges laid.

On May 17, Timothy Taylor of Midland was charged with impaired driving and a blood alcohol reading of over 80 mg.

An altercation at a local hotel on May 23 resulted in two women and one man being charged with various offences.

Police investigated a scuffle in the hotel lobby and observed persons shouting and using obscene language. When officers proceeded to arrest the suspects, they reportedly resisted. Charged with causing a disturbance and resisting arrest were Christine Hindson, Line Chapados and Brian Douglas Hoy, all of Penetanguishene. Hindson was also charged with assault.

Police are investigating the theft of a flag from St. James Church on May 26.

MHC games

Recreation staff at the hospital say the machines are a welcome addition to the entertainment resources of the facility. And patients will be luckier than people in the community, who can use a pocket full of quarters on the games. They will get to play them for free.

Simcoe North MP Doug Lewis visited the Centre to be part of the presentation ceremony, and to take a brief tour of the hospital, the biggest in his riding.

The Penetanguishene Mental Health Centre is, in fact, the second largest psychiatric hospital in Ontario, with beds for 542 patients.

Its regional division serves an area including the south half of Muskoka-Parry Sound Districts, Simcoe County, Dufferin County, as well as the entire Grey-Bruce Peninsula.

Oak Ridge, the only maximum security psychiatric unit in Ontario, draws patients from across the province.

Counsellors reap awards

What greater contribution can an individual make to a society than to assist today's youth with today's problems and help prepare students for an uncertain future? That, in essence, is the mandate of every educator and especially those involved in counselling.

On May 23, at the Highway Inn, in Orillia, members and guests of the Huronia Counsellors' Association gathered together to pay tribute to local counsellors for their contributions to counselling in the Huronia area.

Award recipients include: Peter Phelan of Twin Lakes Secondary School, Orillia; Carol Deimling, also from Twin Lakes; and Joan Morris of Eastview Secondary school, in Barrie.

Peter Phelan received the "Outstanding Contribution to Counselling" Award. Peter has a longstanding history of involvement at the county level on committees involved with the implementation of Ministry guidance guidelines.

More recently, Peter can be credited with much of the impetus behind the beginning of Co-operative Education in Simcoe County and is presently responsible for the programme in Orillia. Along with this, Peter is known by his peers and students to be a warm, empathic, and concerned counsellor—a credit to our profession.

Carol Deimling received the "Outstanding Contribution to Huronia Counsellors' Association" Award. Carol was solely responsible for organizing three excellently planned, well-attended, professional development workshops for counsellor educators. These workshops included: Computer Usage in Guidance; Decision-Making Processes; A Model for Counselling; and workshops on two new Ministry documents.

The Ontario Schools Intermediate and Senior (O.S.I.S.) and the new Guidance Guidelines. Every professional group needs on-going, in-service training and up-dating. Carol's contribution to this professional development was recognized by her peers in this award.

Joan Morris received the "Professional Writing" Award. Joan's contributions to the profession are too numerous to list. Presently, she is editor of the School Guidance Worker, a national, quarterly journal which deals with issues and concerns of interests to guidance counsellors.

She has written several books, including Learning to Learn, which can be found on most counsellors' bookshelves. Joan's leadership and influences in research and writing has long been respected by local counsellors and was recognized by this award.

After dinner speakers include: Daryl Cook, President of the Ontario School Counsellors' Association and John Bray, Curriculum Officer for the Simcoe County Board of Education. The Key-Note Speaker was Barb Swanson.

"Meaningful awards, excellent speakers, good food and good fellowship" seems to sum up this successful Awards Banquet and the rapidly approaching end of another school year. It also signals the beginning of a new executive and a new year. Next year executive of the Huronia Counsellors' Association include: Past President Graham Shaw, Elmvalle District High School; President Leigh Ives, Innisdale Secondary School; Vice President Harley Auty, Innisdale Secondary School; Secretary Florence Fish, Innisdale Secondary School; Treasurer Ev Clarke, Alliston Union Public School; Professional Development Carol Deimling, Twin Lakes Secondary School; Social Chairperson Fran Tanner, Huronia Centennial E. S.; and Liaison with Heads of Guidance Ernie Fraser, Banting Memorial S. S.

Counsellors, educators, and anyone involved in the helping services, could get further information about joining the Huronia Counsellors' Association by contacting any of the above people.

History Fair

Students' exhibits will make history

More unusual and attention-getting entries than ever before are featured in this year's edition of the Penetanguishene History Fair which opens at the Penetanguishene arena tonight, Wednesday, May 30.

The public is invited to view this exhibit of local historic displays between 7 p.m. and 8 p.m. tonight from 9 p.m. to 3 p.m. tomorrow and from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Friday.

Judging takes place Thursday night. Judges in the various categories include: Madeleine Blondin, Rosemary Vyvan, Bob Klug, Rosita Desroches, Lynn Sullivan, Robert Robitaille, Diane Greenfield, Romeo Marchand, Carole Gerow, John Barrett-Hamilton, Marc Mercier, Eric Robineau, Madeleine Paille and Cathy Dupuis.

Organizers anticipate great public interest in this bicentennial event which focusses on local and area history. Co-ordinator Michelle Quealey comments, "As well as learning about our own community, it's a matter of seeing the enthusiasm these young people have shown for their local heritage.

It comes across clearly in their projects."

The History Fair is co-sponsored by the Historic Naval and Military Establishments and Heritage Penetanguishene with the assistance of the Penetanguishene Museum Board, the Descendants of the Establishments organization, the Centre d'activites francaises and the Ontario Bicentennial Commission.
