Assembly line

ESPSS band members used a little bit of elbow grease on Saturday at the School while washing cars and vans in an effort to raise money for the band's trip to England next spring to participate in the International Youth Music Festival. While the students were busy washing, their moms and dads were busy selling baked goods and other gems in a huge garage sale.

Volunteers find home in White Houses

After two years of up a permanent home in negotiating and working one of the White Houses out of boxes, homes and make shift offices, the Descendants of the Establishments, the Establishments Heritage Association (EHA) and Bee Brigade now have their own offices.

According to Descendants President Gwen Patterson, the three organizations will soon be opening

Stewart up until last November.

Patterson said a definite date has not been set when the offices will be filled by the organizations with the building presently under renovations.

The White House, the second from the north end of Church Street, once refurbished will be filled with the files, documents, library and materials of all

Patterson added not only will the move make the operations easier for the Descendants, EHA and Bee Brigade, but make the groups and their resource materials more accessible to their members and the public.

Although final plans on how the offices will be manned have not been completed Patterson said the groups are looking to the government for a possible grant to hire a full-time employee in the office for the summer months.

If the groups are unsuccessful in getting the government assistance, they will then have to set up a schedule for all the members to be on hand at the offices to greet visitors.

Until all the details are ironed out, Patterson said hours the office will be open have not been set.

Lafontaine parks seeks help

With the help of Tiny Township council and the Ontario Ministry of Recreation and Tourism, Lafontaine's Park and Recreation Association is working towards having the gravel floor of the Lafontaine Pavilion properly covered.

According to Tiny's Recreation Co-ordinator Stephen St. Amant, the organization is applying to the Recreation Ministry for a capital grant of just over $11,000.

The project, which will cost a total of $33,206, would involve the ground surface in the pavilion being covered with cement.

St. Amant said under a capital grant the association can apply for up to one-third of the total expense involved in the upgrading of the facility.

Tiny council has already agreed to help out the group with a $5,000 grant to go towards the completion of the project. The balance of the estimated cost will come from the association's funds.

If the Lafontaine Parks and Recreation Association are given approval for the money by the Ministry, the work should be completed by the fall.

The pavilion, located behind the Credit Union in Lafontaine, is used in the winter as an ice arena and for various summertime activities.

The co-ordinator added, if the government does not come up with the grant, the project will be put on the back burner, indefinitely, until all the money for the project can be raised.

ESPSS bands take to Scott Street park

A performance by Ecole Secondaire Penetanguishene Secondary School's (ESPSS) Stange and Dance bands slated for June 1 and was cancelled due to poor weather conditions has now been rescheduled.

The concert, in the Waterfront Park, in the foot of Scott Street, will now be held on June 29 at 6:30 p.m.

All anyone needs to bring along is a lawn chair, and they can get in on the fun with the two local bands.

The concert is being held by the students in co-operation with the Penetanguishene Recreation Department.

A silver collection will be taken up to aid the group in raising money for a trip the two orchestras will be taking to Harrogate England next spring to participate in the annual International Youth Music Festival.

Bargains galore

This was the scene in front of the Presbyterian Church in Penetang on Saturday as the ladies held their annual yard sale. After a dismal week Mother Nature couldn't have been more agreeable and kept the rainclouds away until later in the day.
