

Legion sundeck opened

The sundeck added to the Legion building in Victoria Harbour was opened last Saturday afternoon. From left are Bernie Leveque, Deputy District Commander, Bill Smith, Ontario Command Provincial President, Frank Murphy, President of Branch 523, Victoria Harbour, and Rae McFadden, District Commander. The Legion in the village is marking its 35th anniversary.

It's a mystery

Who is the guest speaker on Aug. 13 at the Wye Marsh Wildlife Centre? The Centre isn't saying. "On Aug. 13 we'll present a Mystery Guest - check with the Centre for further details."

On Aug. 6 at 7:30 p.m. Dr. Paul Bell will speak about current forest pest insects. The co-ordinator of forestry programs at Sir Sandford Fleming College will include reference to the Gypsy moth and its potential threat to forests.

At the same time on Aug. 20, Dr. James Ross of the Royal Ontario Museum will talk about Ontario's birds. The assistant curator of ornithology of the ROM will talk about habitats, rare species and other fascinating facts.

New Legion policy benefits

The sundeck of the Royal Canadian Legion in Victoria Harbour is an example of Legion members spending some money on themselves.

Legion branches have always supported groups in their community, and will continue to do so, but current thinking is that some of the money Legion branches raise should be spent to benefit Legion members, Ontario Command Provincial President

Bill Smith said on Saturday.

Smith was in Victoria Harbour Friday evening and Saturday to help Branch 523 mark its 35th anniversary. This year is also the Royal Canadian Legion's 60th anniversary. Branches across the country were encouraged to think of a project in the community.

The national organization has begun to pay for the training each year of three doctors and five nurses in gerontology. This decision is somewhat selfish, Smith said, since the average age of a Second World War veteran is age 67. But all senior citizens will benefit, he said.

Street dance

Money raised from the fourth annual Waubashene Street Dance will be spent on community projects.

The Waubashene Parks and Recreation

Committee-sponsored dance will be held Aug. 2, in Pine Street Park, Waubashene. The organizers ask people to bring a lawn chair.
