

and surprises for young and old

Gidee-up, gidee-up

Three year-old Stacey Hirlehey was thrilled at the chance to ride a beautiful pony at this year's fall fair. Even though the pony is really only make-believe, the joy of carousels have always been a favorite at county fairs for Stacey as they have been for most other people of all ages for many years.

Beat the Bananas

Would you like a four foot tall banana? Although it is not the kind you can make a banana split from, this prize was marvelled at by all who walked past the ever-popular dart game. One dart in the very centre would win the giant banana, still very few people seemed to try.

Umbrella parade

As parade watchers peered through their store windows at the wet children at Friday's parade, the children guarded themselves against the afternoon sprinkle. From a distance it appeared the parade was covered by a blanket of umbrellas. We all hope for better weather next year.
