

Good, but cheap, coffee

Elmvalle resident Joe Rowntree has started a new business he hopes will bring a good cup of coffee into Huronia's places of business. In October Rowntree took the plunge and decided to go into business for himself. He now installs and services coffee machines, at no buying or leasing cost, in area offices and plants.

"It's a good time to get into your own business," he says. "The economy in Ontario is good and if you want to borrow money, interest rates are the best they have been in a long time."

Rowntree says there are two things that make the coffee machine he installs popular—the size and women's lib. "The machine will fit into most office decor nicely and it's not too big or bulky," he says. "And with women's lib, the women in the office don't want to make coffee anymore."

With Rowntree's machine, no one has to make the coffee—you just push a button and out it comes. But Rowntree says the major selling point is that it's good coffee at a good price.

"I'm surprised and happy with the response I'm getting," he says. "Going into business for yourself is a big decision to make and if you don't get any feedback it's not long until you get disenchanted."

Bridge

The results of the Nov. 12 Bridge Evening saw the players out of the Coldwater Club try to take first place from Bernie Asselin and Gord Stokes, Midland's reigning pair. The outcome was a tie with the Midland pair for first and second place at 27.5 points by the team of Ross Hawkins and John Dowling.

Dave Vinegar and Wendy Harris skillfully maintained third place with a score of 20.5. The fourth and fifth spots resulted in a 15.5 point tie by Ed Hill and Frances Whale with Jim Walsh and Peter Shaw. Mary and Bill Tucker came in with 13.5. Talents improve as results tighten.

You're invited to the Novice Duplicate Pairs Club Championship on Nov. 19. See you at the Y.M.C.A. 7:15 p.m. sharp.

ACLD represented

Maureen Bissett is the Midland representative of the Association for Children and Adults with Learning Disabilities (ACLD). The ACLD was one of the local service groups which mounted a display and which was represented in Mountainview Mall last Friday and Saturday.

Good to the last drop

Elmvalle resident Joe Rowntree has gone into business for himself supplying offices and plants in Huronia with coffee machines. He says it makes a good cup of the brew, is neat and inexpensive.

Beacon Bay marina to expand

Paper work for the expansion of Beacon Bay Marina is heading into the approval stages at both Penetanguishene and Tiny Township councils.

The marina owners would like to build a motel and expand existing buildings. In order to do so, they need to obtain building permits, which, in this case, implies rezoning in both municipalities.

The proposal before the PAC also calls for the dredging of two basins and a channel to connect them to the bay. The basins and channel would provide an additional 255 boat slips bringing the total to 455.

The first stage, which is heading into completion in the next few weeks, would change the zoning from Hazard to Marine Commercial in Penetanguishene and from Environmental to Marine Commercial in Tiny Township.

Penetanguishene's Planning Advisory Committee is recommending council make the zoning change before the end of the year.

In Tiny Township, the issue involves more than rezoning. The marina owners would like their lands to be contained in Penetanguishene. The new and expanded buildings would be built on the land inside Penetanguishene's boundaries, and as well, the owner would like to hook up to Penetanguishene's municipal services. This implies Tiny surrendering a small area of land to the town, so that zoning bylaws and building permits could be issued simply, without having to appeal to the two councils.

Hospital births

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Laurin, RR 1, Wyevalle, are pleased to announce the birth of a baby girl, November 15, weighing 6 lbs. 10 oz.

Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Broadfoot, 65 Yonge Street, Midland, are pleased to announce the birth of a baby boy, November 14, weighing 7 lbs. 11 oz.

Moonlight madness

This upcoming Friday, Dial-a-Movie and the BiWay located in the Huronia Mall in Midland are hosting a Moonlight Madness sale, by staying open until 11 p.m.

It is a pre-Christmas sale prior to the annual Huronia Mall Sidewalk

Sale which takes place the following weekend.

Rob Howell, owner of three Dial-a-Movie shops and 11 satellites (set-ups in other stores) says that this sale is also to "find out whether or not I should stay open until 11 o'clock on Friday nights."

Directors

A RR 1, Cookstown farmer, Paul Wardlaw, is the new president of the Simcoe County Federation of Agriculture.

SCFoA director for Tiny Township is Paul Turner, RR 3, Elmvalle; for Tay Township, John Isaac of RR 1, Midland; for Medonte Township, Bauke Mendel of RR 4, Coldwater; for Flos Township, Grayden Giffen of RR 1, Minesing.

Fraser MacDonald of RR 6, Orillia is first vice-president, Eric Carter of RR 4, Orillia, second vice-president.

Designed the

PSR-21 for those who want a synthesizer...but think they can't afford one

Now they can. Because the PSR-21, a genuine digital synthesizer, is more than all else affordable. It's also a full-featured electronic keyboard. It's a smart introduction to the best of all possible keyboard worlds.

Visit JOHNSTONE'S MUSICLAND MIDLAND TOWN CENTRE

SINCE 1887 YAMAHA Keyboards at Competitive Prices....

...as low as $149⁰⁰

Midland Town Centre

HOS

1/2

Price

on ALL CHRISTMAS GIFT WRAP
Tues. - Wed. - Thurs. ONLY

HURONIA OFFICE SERVICES
MIDLAND TOWN CENTRE

Tuesday, November 25, 1986, Page 13