

Ladies bell hockey

Last Thursday in Penetang-Midland Ladies Bell Hockey action, saw a couple of close games which were decided by one goal.

Game one of the evening saw G. Wilicers go up against Midland Canvas. Going into the match, G. Wilicers was one point ahead of Midland Canvas for third place.

The match remained scoreless until the second period, when G. Wilicer's Natalie King put one home at 3:48. G. Wilicers held this lead going into the final period.

At 1:51 of the third, Midland Canvas member Jennifer Dunn tied the game at one. Assists on the play went to Britt McKerron and Jennifer Currie. Both sides led rushed which looked like they were going to score and give them the lead. However, it wasn't until 11:02 the tie was broken. Midland Canvas took the lead, when Jennifer Dunn scored an unassisted goal to give them a slim 2-1 lead.

The slim one goal edge held up and Midland Canvas took the two points to move into third place.

Second game of the evening saw the league leading Roadrunners take on the second place Beacon Bay squad. In their two previous meetings, Beacon Bay was outscored by only three goals, which was evidence that game number three should be just as close.

It took only 46 seconds for Beacon Bay to penetrate the Roadrunner defence and get one in, to give them a 1-0 lead. Michelle Piitz scored her third of the season, while teammates Lise Gagne and Maggie Staathof assisted on the play. By the time the Roadrunners got going again, Beacon Bay centre Luanne Hook scored her eleventh of the season, to give the Brewers a 2-0 lead.

Just when it looked like the Roadrunners were down, Cathy King put them back in the game at 9:11 of the second period. Assisting on the play was Lisa Merkley, giving her six on the season.

However, it was a matter of a little too late, as both Brewer goalie Cathy Dupuis and the goalposts were against the Roadrunners this night.

The win moves Beacon Bay two points closed to the Roadrunners, who are now only three points ahead of the Brewers.

Out Of Reach

Jeff Bell of Midland reaches for the ball but was able to come up with it as he tripped during Midland Huronia Volleyball Club's beach volleyball action

Saturday at Little Lake Park. The weather was great for the sport as several teams engage in fun play each weekend.

Bridge Club news

The Midland Bridge Club seems to have established itself on the local scene. The number of new players who drop in for a game is increasing. And the new players do well in play. Dorothy Manton, just beginning as a duplicate player, and without, as yet, a regular partner, dropped in on June 10, hoping to find someone in a like situation with whom she could play.

She found Peter Shaw, who was there to fill in, in case of an odd number of players attending. Playing bridge with a strange partner with whom you have not had any chance for discussion before the game starts is not easy, but Dorothy played an outstanding game resulting in an excellent 65 per cent win. Beatrice and Romeo Quesnelle are also among the club's newer players. They received a good score in the Epson World-wide Pairs Championships, and this Wednesday came into the winners circle, tying Bill and Mary Tucker, the local Epson winners for third place with 54 per cent.

Veteran players Bernie Asselin, Jim Hughes, were second with 57 per cent. Dorothy Pheasant, Friedel Shaw; Frances Whale, Ed Hill (who tied for the club Pairs Championship the previous week); and Rick Wolkowski, Jim Walsh all received good scores.

The Bridge Club is open for bridge at the Midland YMCA every Wednesday evening, play starting at 7 p.m. and new members are more than welcome.

Coldwater Bridge

The winners at the afternoon contract bridge earlier this month at the Coldwater Bridge Club, were Friedel and Peter Shaw with 61 VPs, Iris Dolvea/Marj Smith 51, and Dave Parker/Verna Williams third with 33VP.

At the evening duplicate, Friedel Shaw and Jim Hughes obtained a good win with 61 per cent, George and Rae Kingsborough were second with 58; followed by Helen Medveckis, Gus Salcevkis 53; Dorothy Pheasant, Brad Osborne with 52 per cent; Errol and Muriel Swackhammer 51; Bill and Mary Tucker 48; Dot and Dac harris 46; Joyce Hall, Iris Bolyea 42; Mary Bell, Marie Kinnear 39 per cent; Peter Shaw was the non-playing director.

The Coldwater Club plays at 1 p.m. and again at 7:30 p.m. every Monday. The evening game on June 15 will be the Coldwater Club's Open Pairs Charity Championship with 70 per cent of Sectional Championship rating points to the winners. A good low-cost way of contributing to a Canadian major registered charity and enjoying an evening's bridge. On the evening of July 6 a qualifying round for the North American Open Championships will be held. All bridge players welcome.

Next match Thursday

went two for four, knocking in three runs.

Bridgett Brickles, Kim Widdes and Mary Holden checked in with two for three for Vasey.

Donna Asselin picked up the win for Penetang allowing one run and one hit, walked six and struck out two. Kim Widdes was saddled with the loss. Widdes surrendered 14 runs on 13 base hits, walked six and fanned one. Vasey committed two errors and left seven on base while R&R committed a pair of miscues and stranded five runners.

Next contest for Penetang will be Thursday night at Little Lake Park to face Midland at 6:45 p.m.
