Walrus Sighting

Scientists met in Wasaga Beach last week to investigate reports of a walrus in the area. The specimen belongs to the group Walrus Hallus, commonly known as "the Grey Ghost", and is thought to be at least 50 years old. Its permanent habitat is southern Ontario, but it has been seen recently lumbering along the shores of Georgian Bay. This walrus type is the largest of the species and is characterized by its grey hair, large mouth with dominant tooth structure, disagreeable social habits and voracious appetite.

Happy Birthday Walrus! 48
