Rotary luncheon overwhelming success

Every cent of the $2,063 taken in for the buffet at the Penetang Rotary luncheon at the Inn at Bay Moorings Sunday morning will go to the Penetanguishene General Hospital, according to Rotarian Ray Marchand.

And the response - 250 people showed up - was nearly twice the number either Rotary or the Inn expected.

Marchand said owner Terry Butler approached Rotary to sponsor a function. He offered to pay for the food, the staff, everything.

"All we (Rotarians) are doing is helping out," he insisted.

For his part, Butler said credit goes to the Rotary. "It's strictly a Rotary function, that's the way I look at it," said Butler.

This is a project he has seen the Rotary do previously, Butler explained, and he added, "these guys today, we couldn't have handled it without them."

Greetings

Peter Deacon was maitre d'hotel at the Rotary luncheon at the Inn at Bay Moorings in Penetanguishene on Sunday morning. Here he greets guest Marlene Jackson. With her are Gilbert and Eleanor Robillard, George Jackson and Doug Jackson.

It's time to do something constructive about affordable housing.

There is only one way to create affordable housing in this province—through constructive action.

The Ministry of Housing is taking constructive action through various programs, including our latest initiative, HOMES NOW.

This is the largest single non-profit housing initiative undertaken by the province.

HOMES NOW will provide the resources for non-profit corporations and cooperatives to develop appropriate housing for their communities.

This housing will be created through new construction, and through the purchase or lease of existing buildings.

For local organizations, including churches, service clubs and other associations who wish to form non-profit corporations, HOMES NOW provides grants for incorporation, and loans to help finance housing proposals.

Community action, in concert with the Ministry of Housing, will help meet the housing needs of Ontarians. Today and tomorrow.

All we need now is the involvement of your group.

Community action speaks louder than words.

Maitre d' for the day was Rotary president Peter Deacon with assistance from Henry Bishop and George Varney. Varney was reduced to less exalted status after the last guests arrived.

"I started out as maitre d' but I've been demoted to table cleaner," he mused.

Robert Cummings was a waiter and busboy.

"We've put a lot of people through. It's a real experience going from a police chief to a waiter," he said.

The star performer among the waiters for a day was Ray Marchand, who had experience. Years ago, as a student, Marchand worked on the Assinaboine, a ship that used to sail between Port McNicoll and Thunder Bay.

"This turned out to be a lot of fun. It's nice being busy. You hardly notice you are working," he said.

And busy they were. Marchand remarked that there were a lot of near collisions. At the peak of the action, things became hectic. At one point glasses skidded off a tray and crashed to the floor. Just after that the clatter of falling cutlery and breaking china rang out from behind the kitchen door. But little damage was done.

Butler explained that it was the Rotary who chose the hospital to receive the proceeds of his offer. But he couldn't have been happier with their choice.

"It was very friendly and efficient, the time my wife was there. Very efficient. There's absolutely no question about it especially in my mind," he said.

Special visitor

Midland's Little Lake Park hosted a special visitor this fall.

A snow goose, which found a place among the Canada Geese, was first reported there in mid-October. Its black wing tips and small size distinguishes it from its relatives, the swans.

Snow geese are uncommon in this area, even during migration and are seen only in small numbers, often with Canada geese. This year has shown an increase in sightings in the Collingwood and Midland areas. This may be because of drought conditions or storms out West causing a split in the migration route.

Correction

An article about Tiny Reeve Anthony Lancia incorrectly stated there would be a specific time limit on deputations made to Tiny Council.

Mr. Lancia stressed that he would allow lengthy deputations, within reason, but not that he would enforce a specific time limit.

The Citizen regrets the error.
