

Junior Achievers really trying to rack up sales

Eurocan International went public with its $9.95 multi-purpose storage rack last Saturday. The company is one of four Junior Achievement companies in Midland and Penetanguishene and sponsored by Techform Products.

The Waltec-sponsored Brassworks company is making and selling brass coaster sets. Leitz-sponsored Wick Enterprises is making and selling Wacky Wick Enders (candlestick holders). TRW-sponsored Innovisions is making and selling the Jack Rac (a multi-purpose rack). Three of the four had sale tables at Mountainview Mall on the weekend.

Sixty-two high school students, divided among the companies, have 20 adult advisors to help.

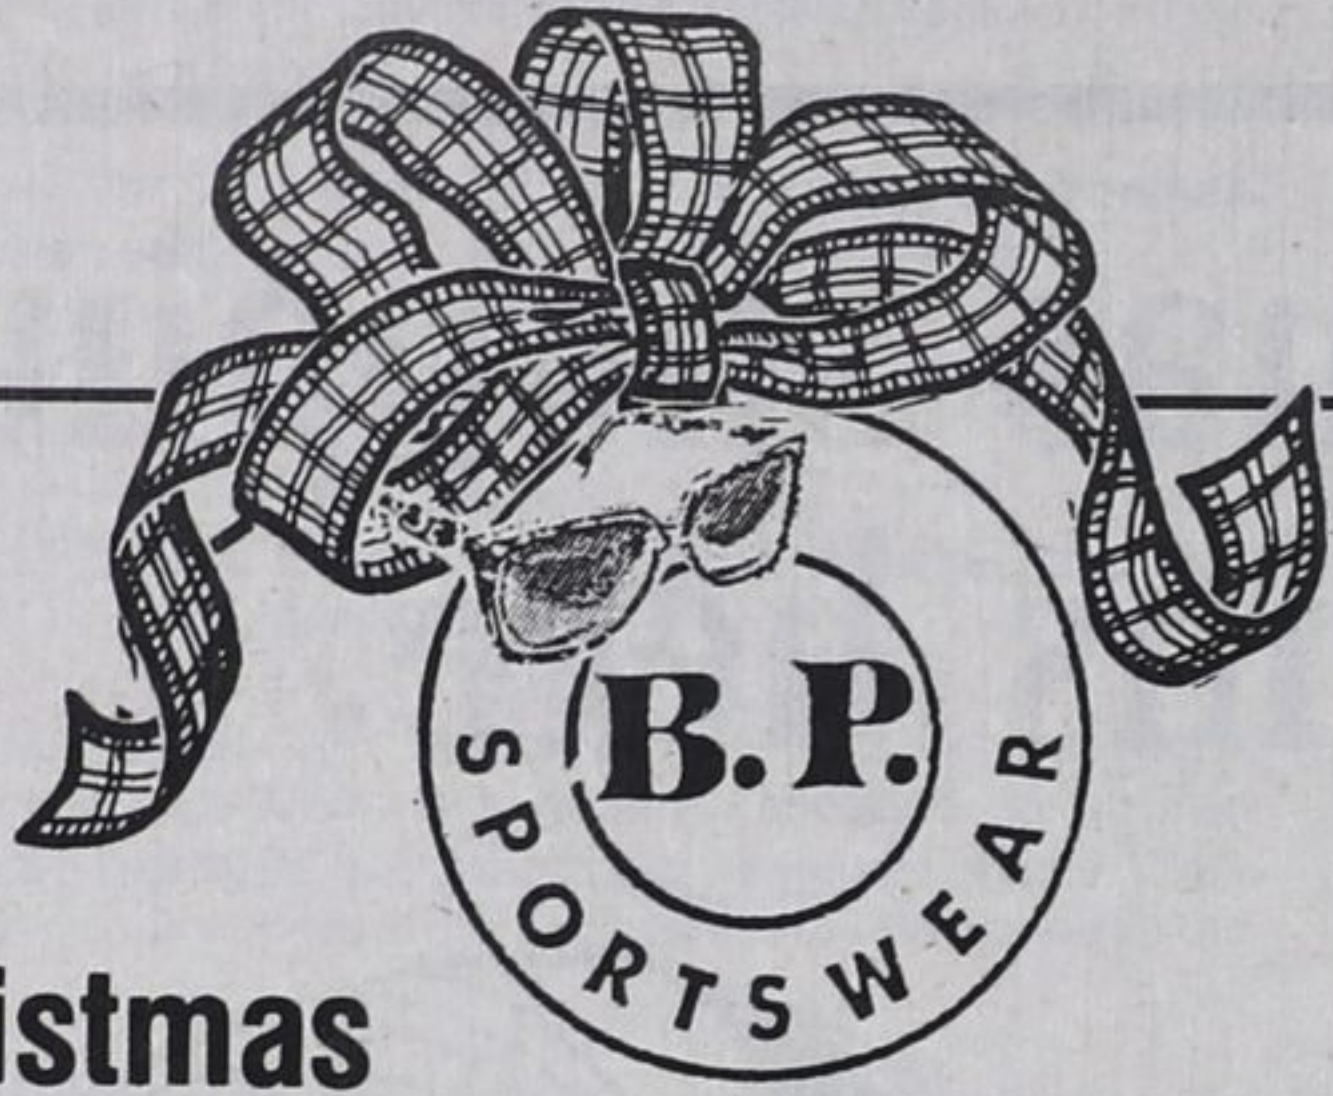

The name Eurocan International recognized three members of the company, who were exchange students from Europe.

They returned to their homes at the beginning of December. Italy (Paola Rozzoni), Germany (Silke Schmidt), and Spain (Ramiro Merello), were represented.
