

Juniors tempered with experienced

The Penetang junior rink had its baptism of fire at the Ontario Peps Championships in Kingston last week. Members are now tempered by that experience and will be better prepared for their next high level encounter. Jodi Robillard, skip, Alfredo Graziani, vice, Spencer Beaudoin, second and David Laverdiere, lead were disappointed with the results of their first foray into provincial competition. The foursome lost their first six games and had their lone victory in an extra end against Tam Heather on the last day of the event.

Bill Howard, who coaches the lads, thought they acquitted themselves very well. He remembered that his sons, Russ and Glen, did no better when they started to curl at that level.

The Robillard foursome lost all their games except one in the last end and were always in the hunt.

Penetang's lack of experience showed in eight hog-line infractions.

Bill Howard said, "They were good ambassadors for Penetang, they were the most popular rink there."

On Sunday, Sarnia played Kingston for the right to advance to the Canadian championships in Winnipeg representing Ontario. Results weren't available at press time.

Both the Penetang and Midland curling clubs have healthy senior mixed leagues with the emphasis on fun and socialability. Both clubs count more than 60 members. The Midland contingent is open to anyone who holds at least a social membership at the club and who is available to curl Tuesday afternoons.

Three years ago, Alvin Gropp and Norm Ranson hatched a plan for a home-and-home mixed bonspiel between the two clubs. It has been rumored that a spirit of rivalry has been known to exist between the two clubs in the past. It was agreed that each team would include members of each town.

Last Wednesday at Penetanguishene Curling Club, the 'spiel drew 72 curlers which obliged the drawmaster, Pop Gravelle, to go to two draws. The morning draw was won by Fred Hook of Midland with Jack Hanna (Penetang), Ed Pearson (Penetang) and Agnes Dupuis (Midland). They victimized their opponents by taking all eight ends.

The afternoon draw was won by Midlander Charlie Walton with Kay Lapere, Mike Babando and Irene Desrosier, all from Penetang taking six ends and 14 points.

Primo Foods rewarded the winners with food packs.

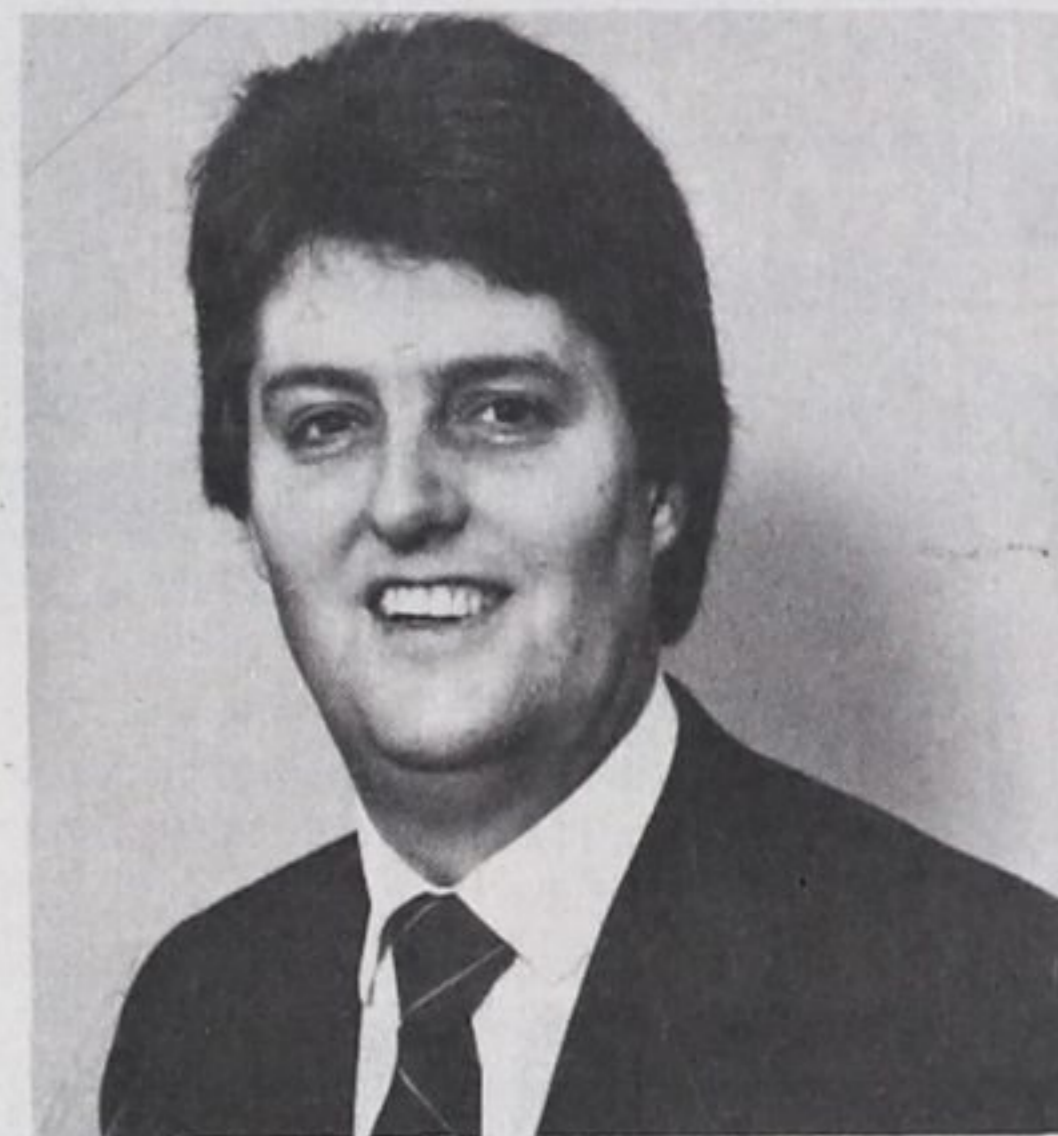

Who's eating Italian?

Paulie Babando, Irene Desrosier, Kay LaPere and skipper Charlie Walton have a tight grip on the first prizes donated by Primo Foods to the Penetang Midland Senior Mixed Bonspiel last Wednesday. Walton is from the Midland Club, the ladies are members of the Penetang Club.

Get ready for Winterfest 1990

First of all, a quick reminder of the Winterfest meeting Feb. 9, 7:15 p.m. at the Civic Center. All groups involved in the past in addition to new groups and individuals with ideas are welcome at this important meeting.

The North Simcoe Arts Council is offering a marketing workshop for area artists. It will be held Feb. 11 from 9 a.m.-4 p.m. at the Georgian College Midland campus. The fee is $20 and you can register at Georgian College or call the NSAC office at 549-1070. Workshop leader, Tim Laurin, will explore ways to build and present a portfolio, examine ways of direct retailing, determine ways to gain visibility and continue to grow in crafts.

ing to ski, or if you have been skiing for a few seasons and wish to brush up on your technique, the place to be is the Wye Marsh during weekends.

Each Saturday and Sunday a beginners ski lesson will be offered at the ski hut from 1-2 p.m. There are two-hour sessions for $6 per session. A CANSI instructor will be on hand to help make skiing easier and more enjoyable. It starts with putting the proper equipment on correctly and warming up the muscles through falling down, getting up, turning, strides, kick and glide and using the herring bone technique to master the hills on the ascent. Call the Wye Marsh at 526-7809 for more information.

Museum continues to show the art of Dorothy Kolev, Anne Proulx and Gary King. Their works are of a varied discipline that, while different in style, compliment each other. The Simcoe County Museum is opposite the Midhurst county offices.

Midland Minor Soccer is getting ready for the 1989 season with an organizational meeting at the Civic Center starting at 7:30 p.m. March 2. Organizers invite all interested parents and individuals to attend. The purpose of the meeting is to plan for the season and for the International Friendship Games. Volunteers are required to coach, referee and for various other tasks associated with operating a successful minor soccer league.
