Library expansion is eagerly awaited

Expansion of the Le Caron library this year is one both the students and staff are looking forward to.

The present library accommodates only one class at a time and not all the material is readily available.

Librarian Raymond Marchand notes that under ministry of education guidelines there is much more emphasis in all subject areas for students to undertake major independent work assignments lasting from one to two weeks to full semester assignments.

"At present we have a great quantity of material we cannot put out because of space limitations."

The new resource centre will have 2,800 square feet of floor space, including two seminar rooms, one audio visual room, an enlarged study area and a librarian work room.

"We will now be able to accommodate two full classes in the open library area as well as others in the seminar and A.V. areas," said Marchand.

One feature of the A.V. viewing room is that its design will allow it to be used as a darkroom for the yearbook staff.

Marchand said the bigger and dynamic space will facilitate the research and study skills of the students, which is needed to prepare them for college and university.

The old gymnasium is also undergoing renovations, expected to be completed by September.
