Bail hearing set for accused teen

A 16-year-old Midland youth charged with the attempted murder of Constable Clement (Clem) Quesnelle and three others appeared in court for the second time yesterday (Tuesday).

The youth first appeared in provincial court in Barrie Feb. 21, two days after Quesnelle was fired at and wounded by pellets from a sawed-off shotgun. Both appearances were for a bail hearing.

Since his arrest, the youth has been in custody in the Metro West Detention Centre.

Other upcoming court dates:

•The preliminary hearing of the attempted murder charge laid against William James Smith, 35, will be held March 8.

He is charged with setting a fire in the Driftwood Restaurant in Midland Dec. 3, with the aim of killing the owner.

Smith is a prisoner at the Guelph Correctional Centre. He was absent from jail on a weekend pass at the time of the fire.

•The accused killers of Krista Sepp will appear in Midland Provincial Court March 20.

On March 20 three days are to be reserved for argument as to whether the 16-year-old co-accused should be tried as an adult on a charge of first degree murder.

The other accused, facing the same charge, is an 18-year-old Midland man, James Tobin.

Library to ask for money to meet demand

If the Midland Public Library was a stock on the stock exchange, it would be rated a "blue chip."

Since 1984 the number of library materials circulated has risen to 128,000 from 97,000.

"This increase in the use of the library has clearly demonstrated that the state of library service is quickly reaching a critical level," the members of the library board say.

The board identifies as problems, too few staff; a book and materials collection which has no room to expand to meet increasing demand; a building too small for current and future needs; inadequate public seating and study space; no access for the physically challenged; inadequate space for programs which attract in excess of 5,000 people per year.

Similar size libraries in Ontario have computer systems.

"The Midland Public Library must begin the process of replacing our 19th Century manual system with an automated system," the board says.

The 1989 budget submitted by the library board to the town asks for money for a reserve fund and money to hire staff.

The library operated on a budget of $280,000 in 1988. The library staff consisted of four full-time and five part-time staff.

The Town of Midland contributes two-thirds of the library budget. The provincial government is a source of 15 per cent. Another 15 per cent comes from contracts with the townships of Tiny and Medonte.

The remaining income is photocopy fees, library memberships purchased by non-residents and equipment rental income.

The board suggests reasons for the increase in library use:

Publicity about the building's renovation in 1986 and 1987 made more people aware of the library;

An aging population has more leisure time;

New services, including talking books, multilingual books, and videocassettes;

An increase in the number of people educating themselves informally or through extension courses;

The move into the "age of information," when more people need information in their jobs;

The closing of the Contact Information Centre has meant greater demand for community information.

Fitzpatrick does well at contest

St. Pat's held its annual CWL public speaking contest Feb. 16.

The K-4 students recited poetry and the grades 5 and 6 students presented prepared speeches.

Awards were presented for the prepared speeches. Kim Fitzpatrick finished in first place. Marsha Belcourt was second and Joanne Van Laarhoven third.

Thank you to the CWL convenor, Maria Tuttle and to the judges for volunteering in hosting this event.

On Feb. 21, Kim Fitzpatrick did very well, placing third in the Lion's Club public speaking contest held at Our Lady of Lourdes.

Mr. Ryther's class is working on mystery powders in science. We are also doing a project on Canada in social studies.

The junior and senior kindergarten classes are enjoying their time on the climbing apparatus. Everyone is learning how to do flips.

We wish Mrs. Mathieson good luck as she leaves us to have her baby. A special welcome is extended to Mrs. Chenier, who will be replacing her.

The grade 4, 5 and 6 class has enjoyed their winter skating program at the rink. Thank you Leo for preparing the rink for us.

Q. Is there a direct link between smoking and heart disease?

A. Yes! Smokers have a much higher risk of dying from heart disease and stroke than non-smokers. Smoking accounts for thousands of deaths in Canada each year.

'Working with wool'

Thirteen Wyevalle 4-H members and leaders Bev Leonard and Mac MacDonald met Feb. 7 to take up the 'Working with Wool' project.

Guest Judy Barker brought along a fleece and showed members how it should be cleaned and carded before the fibres can be spun and knitted. She brought her spinning wheel which she demonstrated.

On Feb. 14, the club met again, at Wyevalle United Church and guests Greta Hall, Ethel Hales, Winnifred Reynolds and Fran Marshall taught two different ways of casting stitches onto knitting needles. After these had been mastered and some knitting practice, the leaders adjourned the meeting.

Officers of the Wyevalle 4-H "Knit-pickers" are: Myka Reynolds, president; Leanne Lambie, vice-president; secretary, Katya Jensen, secretary; Donna Moreau and Michelle MacDonald, press reporters.
