Soccer begins soon

by Allison Dorion
Special Report

It's time for soccer registration at the Midland Civic Center for children from 5 to 12 years old.

April 3, 5 and 8 are the days for the youngsters to sign up. The cost is $15 and any family with more than four children need only pay $45.

Carol Coutts and Judy Thomas have been organizers of the soccer league since it formed five years ago. Last year 150 children registered. Coutts says if there is enough interest they will form a 13-15 age division this season.

On April 24 and 25, two skill nights will be held at Midland Secondary School. Regular competition begins May 2 and lasts until the end of June. They will continue to utilize both of the MSS fields. The smaller children in the 5-6 age group are coached by parents and they play mini-soccer (seven players a side).

The favorite part for the children is getting oranges after the game, according to Coutts. She says they could distribute oranges during half-time, but the players love them so much they would probably lose their concentration for the second half.

For further information on Midland Minor Soccer, contact Coutts, Thomas or the Midland Recreation Department at 526-4770.

Special Olympics in the swim

Midland Special Olympic athletes were in the swim of things last Sunday.

The Midland YMCA was the scene of the Huronia Invitational Special Olympics swim meet. Richmond Hill topped the standings with 13 firsts, 16 seconds and seven thirds. Orillia finished second with a dozen gold medals, five silver and three bronze while Midland wasn't far off with 11 firsts, five seconds and a third.

Kevin Little led the Midland contingent with two firsts and a pair of seconds while Eric Swales and Kim Penna each registered two first place finishes. Allison Craig also placed first in two events and added a second and a third. Wendy Argue and Cyril Langevin each collected a first and a second.

In the female 25 meter freestyle, Argue finished fourth just 26 one-hundredths of a second out of third place.

The next meet will be the regional in Newmarket April 15 with qualifiers advancing to the Provincial games at York University in August.
