

HOW IT WAS

THE creation of a great Motion Picture is a work of a magnitude that possibly few people realize. Underlying the enormous amount of creative and artistic work which is ultimately registered by the picture on the screen there has to be an organization of a most capable nature. The whole enterprise then again rests on those who make the gigantic task financially possible. ¶ Through the optimism, courage and ample support of a large group of Canadian gentlemen who, in spite of their

