A gentleman by the name of McMur- DAILIFF Second and Third DIVISION ran was riding through C---- where his | Court. Office, Richmond Hill, horse last a shoe. For replacing it, the June, 1857. blacksmith whose name was Enos Bildo, charged the cool sum of an eagle-or rather two sovereigns. Naturally indignant, our traveller refused to pay such an exorbitant demand, and he was arrested Paints, &c., &c. at the suit of the son of Vulcan.

There being no other resource, Mr. Mc Murran was escorted to the magistrate's office, back of the bar.

After being introduced into the most august presence of the Squun, and the charge stated, the following dialogue orgurred?

"Well, sir, what is your name ?"

" Mc Murran, sir." " Humph, Me Murran ' no other name ?"

" John Me Murran, sir." " No, Mr. Mc Murran-no alias?"

"Of course I have not, sir-I have no need of one." " Where do you live, Mr. Carrion?"

" My name isn't Carrion-I told you is it Mc Murran."

"Well, Mr. Merton, did you make any bargain for shooing your horse ?"

M No, sh." "Then, Mr. Burton, you acted, sirexcuse me-like a fool !"

Fully satisfied with this verdict, and highly amsused with his adventure, Mac went on bis way rejcicing.

A Prussian Journal relates a singular fact. In an Israclite community, there exists a Rabbi, esteemed and loved by all. To prove their gratitude for services rendered, the community decided (upon the suggestion of a treb merchant) to offer the Rabbi a present of a tun of wine, and in order that all saight contribute to it, it was agreed that all should bring a bottle of wine, and pour it into the receptacle. The Rabbi received the offering, and with much precaution deposited the precious liquid in his cellar. But, oh ! grief, when he wished to taste it, a miracle had CHIARON. Attentive Hostlers always in operated; instead of wine he found only water. His honest friends had all indivdually thought a bottle of water would pass unperceived into the quantity of wine. Unhappily each had the same idea.
