No matter whether she's pretty or not. How much or how little money she's got, Whether she live in a mansion or cot, Tis a fact, depend upon it; The woman to make a man happy thro' life, To make a model mother and wife, Is one who, scorning this milliner str.fe, Wears a plain and tasteful bonnet.

Now a bonnet of genuine beauty and grace, Worn on the head in its proper place, Shadowing faintly the wearer's face, Is a thing for a song or a sonnet; But one of these gay and gaudy things, Made up of rainbow and butterfly wings, A mixture of flowers, ribbons, and stings, Is dreadful, depend upon it.

A dreadful mess of " fass and feather," A little of everything thrown together, As if by a touch of windy weather, A wretched conglomeration-A sort of cup to catch the hair, Leaving the head to " go it bare," A striking example of " Nothing to Wear," Is this bonnet abomination.

It makes a woman look brazen and bold, Assists her in catching nothing but cold, Is bad on the young, absurd on the old, And deforms what it ought to deck; For look at her face, no bonnet is there, See at the side, it hangs by a hair; View it behind and you're ready to swear That the creature has broken her neck.

No matter where you may chance to be, No matter how many women you see, A promiscuous crowd or a certain she, You may fully depend upon it-That a gem of the very rare-t kind, A thing most difficult to find, A pet for which we long have pined, " Is a perfect love of a bonnet "
