THE WEALTH I'VE GOT.

BY HENRY MORFORD.

Nor houses or lots in a principal street,
Nor rich fields waving with golden wheat,
Nor darksome mines deep stored with gold,
Nor piles of ingots in coffers old;—
Not these, though they fill so many a lot—
These form no part of the wealth I've got.

I'm poorer to-day than a year ago—
I was poorer then than I cared to know;
The future has nothing but struggle and care,
For the bread to eat and the miment to wear;
Yet I still look onward and murmur not,
For I'm very rich in the wealth I've got.

I've kind ones to love me, rich or poor—
I've friends whom I hold with a friendship sure;
I've pleasures and duties day by day,
And work for each hour that passes away;
I've a home with its pleasures—earth's dearest spot!

Where I heard like a miser the wealth I've got,
I've a heart, thank God! that loves mankind;
I've a spirit, thank God! that can be resigned;
I've a hope to finish some trifling good,
Before I lie down for the grave-worm's food;
I've a hope that neither stain nor blot
Will cling, when I'm gone, to the wealth I've got.

I've a trust in the Master, whose tender care
Giveth bread to eat and raiment to wear;
I've a firm, stout heart, that he giveth me,
To bear whatever my fortune may be;
So earth can be never a sorrowful spot,
While kind Heaven leaves me the wealth I've got.

Miscellaneous.

The woman who neglects her husband's shirt front is not the wife of his bosom.

Absence destroys small passions and increases great ones, as the wind extinguishes tapers increases conflagrations.

An auctioneer, vexed with his audience,
said, "I am a mean fellow—mean as dirt
—and I feel at home in this company."

A printer in Chicago, recently married a young lady who weighs 228 pounds.
Rather a heavy gal-ley.

The following toast was recently given:
"The ladies—may we kiss all the girls
we please, and please all the girls we kiss."

A village girl, after giving her lover a hearty smack, exclaimed:—Dog my cat,
if you hadn't been takin' some rye, old hoss."

The first swollen tailed-cut that old Sourby got, so displeased him that he starched the tails and used it for a boot
jack.

Paradise Regained.—Hugging a black
eyed girl on a pile of freshly-cut clover.
Go away, strawberries, you have lost your taste.

A pedant being called upon define the two gases, hydrogen and oxygen, replied:
"Oxygen is pure gin, and hydrogen is gin and water."

The manner in which they weigh a hog out west, it is said, is to put the hog in one scale and some stones in the other and then guess at the weight of the stones.

A wife in this part has shown how wires may run away without rendering themselves liable to be advertised as having left her husband's bed and board—
She took her bed with her.

A Dutchman on being called upon to help pay for a lightning rod for the village church, toward the building of which he had liberally subscribed exclaimed:
"I have helped to build a house for de Lort and if he chooses to dunder on it and knock it down, he must do it at his own risk."

"Grandpa, did you know that the United States have been in the habit of encouraging Tories?"
"Certainly not, Simeon; what kind of tories?" "Terry-tories. Now give me some pea-nuts, or I'll catch the measles,
and make you pay for 'em."

Here is a nice little puzzle for our lady readers. We wish some of them would straighten it out and send it to us.

Oh may United, and mingled into Fondly so vows these keep still one,
Pledged, and dream of them alone,
Ever for on shine love our may and Like hope's undying ray, which Misfortune dark or grief
N'er bath power
Chase to Away.

May I B 1 of the lovers of U, as the Miss of 6 teen said 2 a 10 der leg of mutton, B 4 she 8 a piece of it.

The DEACON FOR ME.—"Papa," said
one of his boys to the deacon, "I had a funny dream last night."

"Well, Tommy what was your funny dream?"

"Why, I dreamed that the devil came into your store."

"The devil?"

"Yes Pa, the devil, that he found you drawing a glass of gin for Ambo James,
who has fits, and who broke a little baby's arm the other day, because she cried, when he came home drunk. And I thought the devil came up to the counter and laid the end of his long tail on the chain, and leaned over towards the barrel where you were stopping to draw it out, and asked if you wasn't a deacon. And I thought you didn't look up, but said you was, and then he grinned and shook his tail
like a cat that has a mouse, and says to me
"That ere's the deacon for me!" and ran out of the shop laughing so loud that I put my fingers in my ears and woke up."

This dream was more than the father could stand, it put an end to his delusion and to his trade in ardent spirits. Of course the pig had not entirely eaten up his conscience.—Striped Pig.
