DREADFUL SUFFERINGS OF AUSTRALIAN EXPLORERS

The Australian papers publish an account of the sufferings undergone by Trooper Lyons, and Macpherson, the soldier, in their endeavours to overtake Mr. Burke and the advanced portion of the exploring expedition.

"We two pushed on very hard for the water, and just as the sun got up we found ourselves in fearful pain; our tongues began to swell, and we could scarcely speak. We then opened our clothes, and allowed what little breeze there was to play about our bodies as we went along, and from this we found some little relief.

The theory of M. Veullot's pamphlet, entitled "Waterloo," is that Waterloo was a victory gained by the Protestant over the Catholic nations; that Louis Napoleon's expedition to Rome was the revenge of the Catholic nations; and that at the present moment the Protestants are meditating a second and more terrible Waterloo which shall result in the suppression of the temporal power.

GREAT BRITAIN.

The proceedings in the House of Lords on the 13th were unimportant. In the House of Commons, on the same evening, an animated debate took place on Mr. Gladstone's Revenue bill, the Opposition denouncing the expediency of annexing to a bill of supply, a bill for repealing the paper duties.

THE COMING CRASH.—We mention our readers, says the London Era Press, against the crash in its history, and one of the earliest results will be the smash of hundreds of Banks. The northern currency is generally well secured, but in the north the crash will be as general as elsewhere.

Toronto Correspondence.

Sir.—The celebration of the Queen's Birth-day in this city forms one of the chief events of the past week, worthy of particular notice.

More especially to the working and middle classes does this annual holiday afford an opportunity for real pleasure and recreation. The "pale mechanic" and the merchant, who seldom enjoy the luxury of inhaling the fresh air in the open fields, might have been seen at an early hour hurrying to the wharf or railroad depot, determined to forget for a day the cares, the turmoils, and labours of their various avocations, and seek a few hours of healthful recreation, removed from the din and bustle of the city.
