PERRIBLE BOWIE-KNIFE WORK.

After the battle had been raging for some hours, according to the account of this Zouavian hero, he saw an inner sus body of Mississprians, accompanied by some fuelicived to be] Battimoreans, rash futrons) over the Confederate rankparts. They at once saw the conspicuous uniforms of the Zinaves, and made at them. The Mississippians, after appreaching near enough, sent a torrible volley from their rifles into the Zouaves ranks. This done, they threw their guns aside and charged onward unfil each centending enemy met face to face and hand to hand in terrible combat. The Mississippians, having discarded their rifles after the first fire, fell back upon their ribs after the first fire, fell back upon their bowie-knives. These were of inge dimensions, englished to twenty inches long, heavy in proportion and share, or two-edged at the point. Attached to the handle was a lasso, some eight to tenfect in length, with one end securely wound round the wrist. My informant says when these terrific warriors approached to within reach of their lasso, not waiting to come in bayonet range, they throw forward their bowie-knives at the Zouaves after the fashion of experienced harpooners striking at a while, Frequently they plunged in, and ponetrated through a solider's bedy, and were jorked out, ready to suike again while the first vectim sauk into death. On several occasions the terrible bowie-knife was transfixed in a Zouave, and the Zouave's house tin a Mississippian both, in-paled and fulling together. So skiiffully we stisk deathy instrument handled by the Al ssissippian that he could project it to the full lasso length, kill his victim, withdrawit again with a sudden impulse, and catch the handle unerringly. If by any mischance the howie-faife mesed its aim broke the cord distinction to the term, or fell to the cart, revolvers were next reserved to and used with similar destoring—The hand to hand closing in with both justing and shootic aboust in the tree mental to the cord of arm, or fell to the carth, revolvers were next resorted to and used with similar dextority.—
The hand to hand closing in with both pixth and bowie-knife, cutting, slashing, curving and should be successful to the same moment, was swful beyond description. Blood gushed from hundeeds of wounds until, amid death, pitful groine and appaling sights, it statched the very earth. My Zouxe champion says hinseff and comrades did hard lighting, sood up manfully to the murderous coullet, but never before knew what undainted bravery and courage meant. He felt no further ambition to engage in such encounters. Having been shot through the wrist by a revolver, after escaping the fearful hississippi wearons, and distile 6, from further active particulation in haffaggie, i.e willingly ratical to recup the glory won, conviced that to 1ght against Mississippinas with bowie knives and pesios, after receiving a velley of their sharp-encking rifies, as no ordinary fun.

A BRAVE OFFICER.

Colonel W. R. Monigomery, for thirty years an efficient officer of the United States Arm., who has seen service wherever during that time it was to be seen, was in command of the First New Jersey Regiment. In the midst of the toricat of the reticut, he stemmed its tide, toreid his regiment in good order though its surge of mon and houses and wagons, but carried back with time his associate regiment, the Second New Jorsey, Col. McLean, but had no effect of the regiment of the regiment, the Second New Jorsey, Col. McLean, but had no effect of the regiment, the Second New Jorsey, Col. McLean, but had not stop the danstrous flight. Abandaned by Colonel MicLean and the Second, he pressed on atoms, and stone his regiment reached the field, and had the post which his orders indented, formed in square to receive the enemy's cavally, and state five hours on the battle-field waiting for orders, and numble-ted by an occury. At one time, hearing on all sides that a retreat had been a dered, he sent to General McDowel's head-quarters for information, but not indust the post of the two o'clock, Monday morning, he marched back his regiment in good order, and I am informed was the last to leave the field. His men are much attached to him, and endusiastic in his praise.

A ZOUAYE IN THE ENERY'S CAMP. When the First States and were forced to fall back by the grapeshot and cavalry change, on the back by the grapeshot and cavalry change, one of them was sanned by a blow from a sabre, and fell almost under one of the enemy's guns-and fell almost under one of the enemy's guns-flee secosionists swarmed around thin like, bees, but feigning death in the excitement he was unnoticed, and when a sally was made, managed to crash back into the shifted in life the Confederate likes. Here we wished for some thing for an opportunity to except, but conneges to crawl back not the thicket in idethe Confederate lises. Here we waited for some time for an opportunity to exceed but finding none, concluded we would make the best of a lad bargain, and if he was last would have a little revenge beforeland. Itself stripping the body of a Confederate near by, he donned his uniform, and seizing a ritle made his way to the intendelments, where he joined the Secessionists, and, watching his opportunities, succeeded in picking off several of their most promunent officers whenever, they advanced out upon the troops. Here he remained some time, until, thinking it best to leave before his disguise should be discovered, he joined a party who we'd shout to charge upon our forces, and was, to his gratification, again captured, but this time by his own men.

THE WAR IN SAN DOMINGO .- By the way of Jamacia we have intelligence that the people of San Domingo are raising en masse against the Spaniards, to whom the had been transferred by the treachery of Sant Arn. Already a reign of te ror is wid to exist in some of the provinces, so violent is the opposition, while the new police are dragging forth suspected per-sons, without ceremony to be tried by the Spanish authorities. The report of an in-surrection in the province of Cibao is confirmed; and we learn that the people of Moca, another province, have tisen in arms against their foreign eppressors. A bloody engagement is said to have been fought, but the result is not mention d. Spaniards find their situation very The Spaniards find their situation very perplexing, as their present force (t.m. thousand) is too small to effect the subjugation of the island; while disease is breaking out among their troops. The President of Hayti, and the people of that President of Hayti, and the people of that republic are making active preparations to carry on the war. A memorial to Queen Victoria, adopted by a public meeting at Kingston, Jamacia, expressing opposition to the anenxation of San Domingo to Spain, received three thousand five hund. Ted signatures in a few days.
