President's Lincoln's commonipation message attracted much attention in England. There is little time yet for newspaper comment:

comment.

The Liverpool Post says there can be no doubt that it will have an incalculable effect in Europe, and that effect will be most favourable to the Northern cause.

The London Times in an editorial on the subject, says it is the most important news since the split.

The President's avowed object is to recover the Union and the Border States. The proposition is important, not for its intrinsic likelihood of acceptance, but mply because it is a proposition, and is e first bid made towards putting an end to the war,

We may hone that others may follow and that the North may gradually rise in its efforts until something acceptable has been put forth.

The only reply of the South to Presi-The only reply of the South to President Lincoln has been a resolution of the Confederate House of Representatives—to burn all the cotton and tobacco that may be in danger of falling into the hands of the invaders.

In every point of view the proposal of the President gives great soon. the President gives great scope for speculation, and perhaps some glimpse of hope—but it is for what it may herald, and not for what it is.

THE GREAT EASTERN.- We may soon expect to see this steamer again in the port of New York, the comparatively slight loss on the last year's most unfavorable trials of the mouster not having deterred the directors from placing her once more upon this station. They are still confident the Great Eastern will become the leading passanger vessel between Britain and America. Her late commander, Cantain WALKER, has recently given an account of the last unfortunate voyage of the big ship, which is remarkable chiefly for its contradiction of the assertions of an American gentleman named Towle, to the effect that the ship was saved by his exer Cairo crippled, for repairs.
