

THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION.

General Halleck has just telegraphed to the War Department that Island No. 19 was abandoned by the enemy last night...

General Pope will capture all that remains on the high lands to-day. The movement on the rear has done this work.

Mr. Stephens, Chairman of the committee on Ways and Means, stated in the House that the Government was spending $3,000,000 daily...

General Pope has captured three Generals, 6,000 prisoners of war, 100 siege pieces, several field batteries...

A private despatch received in this city, brought from one of General Grant's staff, says that we have fought and won the hardest battle ever fought on this continent.

The despatches, dated Pittsburgh Landing, April 6. War news. To Editors and Printers. The War Department requests that the following be placed in the order in which they are received.

The Secretary of War received a letter this p.m., from General Wood stating that at two o'clock, yesterday, p.m., nothing was doing at Yorktown, except preparations for attacking the fortifications...

On the 6th instant, the rebels in overwhelming force attacked our forces at Pittsburgh Landing. The battle lasted from the morning till late in the afternoon...

General Buell has arrived on the Tennessee. Two divisions of his army were in the battle.

General Pope is scouring the country around Island No. 10, and so far has captured General Makall and staff, and 2,000 men.

Information was received here to-night that on the 6th, the rebel forces under Beauregard attacked our forces under General Grant.

The battle raged all day. Our lines were driven in by the attack; but as our reserves were brought into action the lost ground was regained...

Further advices from New Madrid report that Gen. Pope has taken 3,000 prisoners at Tipton.

Boats commenced running to New Madrid to-day. Reliable reports received from Jeff. Thompson a week ago, placed him in the swamps some 80 miles west of here...

The rebels fled towards Tipton, sinking several of their transports and gunboats. The Greenups, their floating battery mounting ten guns, drifted down the river last night...

The Ohio Belle will also be recovered. Gen. Pope took the Pittsburg and Carondelet yesterday and silenced the batteries on the opposite shore...

Four hundred and eighty prisoners, including 17 officers, 70 pieces of artillery and a large quantity of ammunition, muskets and small arms captured on the island.

It is said that the Confederates had become perfectly demoralized, and in many cases whole regiments refused to obey orders.

One of the greatest and bloodiest battles of modern days has just closed, resulting in the complete rout of the enemy who attacked us at daybreak Sunday.

The slaughter on both sides is immense. We have lost in killed, and wounded, and missing, from 18,000 to 20,000; that of the enemy is estimated at from 33,000 to 45,000.

It is impossible in the present confused state of affairs to ascertain any details, and therefore give you the best account possible through the stores of action during the two days that it raged.

The rebels immediately advanced on Gen. Prentiss' division on the left wing, pouring volley after volley of musketry, and riddling our camps with grape, canister and shell.

Why, sir, is that really possible? Have you it on good authority? No doubt great patience has been exercised in searching the statistics...

The Hon. gentleman had a vague idea that he must necessarily go up stairs, in order to reach the Upper House. He appears to have felt quite certain that it must be left up in the 'etherial element'.

He is only a little longer than a policeman's baton. He had evidently imagined that it must be the length of a fishing rod at least, and that it was used to tickle the ears of sleepy Gents, when required to vote nay.

Lord Monk, he tells us, does not shave, but wears a beard. Startling fact! What a wonderful phenomenon that a man who never shaves should have a beard.

He further avers that he detected Lord Monk, while seated on the throne, giving a familiar wink and a corresponding nod to a friend in the crowd...

Now in order to do justice to the brilliant talents of this clever writer, he should endeavor to procure an introduction to the managers of the London Times; as we have no doubt they would be delighted to secure such a valuable addition to their staff.

Our New York Letter.

The several victories obtained by the North at Mill Springs, Fort Donaldson, Rains Island, and Winchester, and the long-looked for advance of the army to Manassas all tended to inspire the Northerners with the hope that the rebellion would be speedily crushed...
