GREAT BEITAIN.

The President's message to Congress is mainly discussed in relation to his scheme to liberate the slaves, and the Benjain F. Buller be declared not en-titled to be considered as soldiers engaged in honourable warfare, but as robbers and ariminals deserving death, but they and each of them be, whenever captured, re-served for execution. Second—that the private soldiers and non-con missioned of ficers in the army of the said Butler be empidered as only the instruments for the Laglish papers almost unminously be-lieve his scheme to be improcticable. The Herald's city article says :- President Lincoln's message was regarded on the Stock Exchange as of a specific char-acter, and led to predictions that hostili-ties between the North and South would speedily be brought to an end.

commission of crimes perpetrated by his orders, and not as free agents, and that they therefore be treated when captured The London Times says that it is sufficient that Mr. Lincoln expressed res-pect for the rights of neutrals, and a rea-diness to establish mutual conventions to adjust complaints. Words of offence are as prisoners of war with kindness and hu left to the Secretary of the Navy, and experience has shown how little they need during the continuance of this war, unless during the continuance of the during the continuance of the during dury exchanged. Third-that all negro be heeded.

When it looks towards the South, the the Times says, the message of Mr. Lincoln is less a threat of extermination than a bid for peace. In another article the Times says the the emancipation scheme of Mr. Lincoln is a laboured substitute for his edict of september, and the dream of a very weak man.

The London Herald finds the message Confederates were not allowed belligerent rights, the blockade of the Southern ports id the search of British ships would not be tolerated. The London Daily News says that

The London Daily Netes says that Mr. Lincoh's enancipation scheme does his humanty credit, but it has no faith in it, and believes that the liberation of the slaves can only be accomplished by war. well be excused if they were en tirely ignorant of the fact, that there exists in the city of Toronto an organization called the 'Board of Trade.' They might indeed be quite unconscious of the fact, were t not for certain periodical disturbances in the currency brough about by their unnecessary intermeddling. A few years since the Solens of this august body took it into their heads to reduce the current value of the English shilling from 25cts, to 24cts. The change was the cause of serious inconvenience to business men at the time, and also acted very injuriously on the interests of Foronto itself.-The depreciated coin continued to pass at its par value in other places. and, as a matter of course, it found its way taither, and 'change' be
