

LATEST FROM EUROPE.

Vienna, January 13.—Despatches from the south indicate that a more liberal policy is to be pursued by the Sublime Porte in the matter of the Eastern question.

Caule, Trieste, January 12.—The Imperial frigate Novara, and her crew, arrived at Pola, in Austria, with the remains of Maximilian.

Queenstown, Jan. 13, evening.—The steaming ship Chicago ran ashore in a thick fog and the vessel will probably prove a total loss.

Paris, Jan. 13, evening.—Gen. Faily, the Commander of the Expeditionary Corps, has asked the Emperor to permit the return of the French troops to Rome, as their quarters at Civita Vecchia and Viterbo are overcrowded.

London, Jan. 13.—Telegrams from Aden announce that General Sir Robert Napier had arrived at Ankeley Bay, the depot of the expedition on the Abyssinian coast, and immediately set out for Senaf to place himself at the head of the British advance.

Warwick goal where the Fenian prisoners Burke, Casey, Shaw, and Mullahey are awaiting, is occupied and surrounded by regular troops, which were sent there by order of the Government to guard against any attempt at a rescue.

In the Queen's Bench today, a motion was made by the counsel for the defence, that the prisoners be returned to London for trial, on the ground that a bitter religious prejudice existing against the prisoners in Warwickshire would render it impossible for them to obtain an impartial jury, and a fair trial in that county.

The prisoners Desmond and Allen, implicated in the Clerkenwell explosion, were again brought on today for examination on the charge of murder. Many witnesses were present, but the evidence given by them contains no facts of importance.

Dublin, Jan. 13.—Patrols have been found upon the person of the prisoner L moon, which it is said expose the plan of the Fenian leaders for future operations in Ireland.

Queenstown, January 14, noon.—The steamer City of London has arrived.

London, Jan. 11, 1:23 p.m.—The Telegraph employees at Belfast, arrested on a charge of Fenianism, have been discharged as not guilty.

Vienna, Jan. 14.—Government is making preparations to reduce numbers and expenses of standing army. The position of Commander-in-chief is to be abolished, and employment of pension officers in service discontinued.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 14.—The Journal de St. Petersburg denies there is any truth in the statement that Lord Stanley has sent a note to the cabinet here, protesting against alleged intrigues of Russian agents in Romania.

Florence, Jan. 14.—Senior Scorsara, now Colonel General of Belgrade, has been appointed Minister of War to Mexico, and will leave at an early day for the Mexican capital.

Vienna, Jan. 14.—The Vienna Beobachter asserts that negotiations between France and Italy for a new treaty in regard to Rome, to replace the September Convention, have been rapidly progressing, and are now nearly concluded.

COUNTY OF YORK ASSIZES.

Hon. Justice HAGARTY presiding. QUEEN V. MICHAEL SEXTON.

An information of intrusion to obtain possession of that part of the Ontario Reserve between the G and T trunk and Great Western Railway tracks.

Verdict for the Queen. Adam C. Cook, Q.C., for the Queen; Dr. McMichael for the defendant.

ONTARIO BANK V. NEWTON.

Suit brought to recover the value of about 200 barrels of coal oil, on which plaintiff's claim to have a prior claim, which was assigned to defendant, and assignee for the County of Wellington.

Plaintiff's claim rests on endorsed warehouse receipts for the quantity of oil in question, on which receipts advances were made by the bank. The evidence, however, established the fact that the parties giving the receipts were not warehousemen nor acted as such.

In view of this, his Lordship ruled that the case, as it then stood, did not come under the Banking Act, and that the receipts in question were not warehouse receipts as contemplated by the Act of Parliament.

The plaintiff, having no other title, were accordingly nonsuited. Messrs. Patterson and Guthrie for plaintiffs; Mr. Hodgins for defendant.

Two or three unadvised cases were then disposed of and the court adjourned.

Hon. Mr. Justice HAGARTY presiding. MARTIN V. BACHELL.

This is an action brought for a balance of $100 with interest on an amount of $1,000, advanced by plaintiff to defendant, and for which the latter gave a bond endorsed by a former partner named Richardson, to whom he was indebted and who received from defendant the money advanced by plaintiff.

This bond made no mention of interest, but at the request of plaintiff, the defendant gave him a separate bond for interest on the amount at 15 per cent. Defendant made his payments up to May last, when he became insolvent. A verdict of $134 was given for the plaintiff.

Mr. Hector Cameron for plaintiff; Dr. McMichael for defendant. HACKETT V. M'MASTER.

Action for damages for slander. Plaintiff is a doctor, and defendant a merchant of Newmarket. During the elections last summer, when party feeling ran high, the defendant made excited appeals some rather harsh epithets to the doctor, and impugned his professional ability on three different occasions. Two of these, however, were at defendant's own house, and the third at the Town Hall, on election day. Three witnesses were sworn to hearing these remarks.

to be due on a large amount of brick delivered by him to defendant, in Yorkville, last summer.

On comparing accounts, however, it was found that, even by plaintiff's statement of prices and quantities delivered, he was only entitled to a balance of $9; while by defendant's statement, plaintiff would be in his debt. A verdict was accordingly given for defendant.

The court then adjourned. QUEEN V. WALSH.

Prisoner was charged with receiving a box of lemon peel, soap and other goods, the property of John Griffith, grocer, knowing them to be stolen.

Mr. Griffith testified to the loss of the articles a few days before Christmas, but could not identify the box of lemon peel produced.

Timothy Tierney, a little boy of about 8 or 9 years of age, one of the thieves, was called, but being found too young to understand the nature of an oath, his evidence was dispensed with.

Charles Brown, live in Doyle's on Stanley street, prisoner lives on Stanley street; don't know the box, but he knows the Italian, Tierney, and Arthur Buggy took the goods to his house. We took one box orange peel, 1 box lemon peel, and three bars of soap, prisoner paid 25 cents for the orange peel, 30 cents for the soap, and 10 cents for the three bars of soap. It was a little before Christmas. We went over to prisoner's house because Italian said we could sell them there. We got the two boxes about half past six.

By judge from Mr. Griffith—the retail value is $3 49; they had not been opened, and as soon as we took them we ran down to his house; one fell and we broke. He opened the other before we left.

Cross-examined by Dr. McMichael—There were four of us, Arthur Buggy, Italian, Tierney and myself. The first got off at the Police Court, Italian they couldn't catch. I was arrested on Monday night—Italian and I went into prisoner's house. I received the soap.

By the judge—We asked prisoner if he wanted to buy them, he said "how much do you want" and we told him we wanted $1 for each. He would give me more than 25c, which we took. We had eaten a little during the last 12 months. Saw a box like the one produced on the shelf over a month ago. I took a box of soap from Lambart's, a prisoner's house. I work for Lambart. This was something in the box, but could not tell what it was.

Counsel for defence held that no conviction should be made on the evidence of the thief without corroborative evidence, both as to circumstances of the crime and identity of the prisoner.

His Lordship said that it was not a rule of law to convict by the unsupported evidence of an accomplice. In this case, however, he was not an accomplice, as there were two separate crimes.

He thought it was a sad sight to see two such smart intelligent boys leading such a life, with nobody to do anything for them. The fact of a box worth $3.50 being sold for 25c, was in itself suspicious, and might have suggested to the prisoner, as a reasonable man, that there was something wrong about it.

Verdict—"Not guilty." The Crown Counsel then said that hearing this verdict, he would not prosecute on the charges of receiving the other articles, as the evidence and the cases were substantially the same.

His Lordship, addressing the prisoner, said—"You have had a narrow escape. Let this be a lesson to you. You are discharged." Mr. John McMichael, County Attorney, for Queen; Dr. McMichael for the defence.

The Court then adjourned at 6 p.m. COUNTY COURTS.

From the Globe of Wednesday. We have before us a return, made to the House of Commons on motion of Mr. Blake, showing the salaries and length of service of all county judges, junior judges, deputy judges, and recorder in the Province of Ontario.

The highest salary paid to any judge is $2,600, with $200 for travelling expenses—an allowance which is made to every judge. Junior judges receive $2,600 per year. They are the judges of Brant, Carleton, Elgin, Hastings, Leeds & Grenville, Middlesex, Northumberland, Ontario, Oxford, Simcoe, Stormont, &c., Waterloo, Wellington, Westwood and York. With one exception these judges are men who have been long in office—who have served for terms ranging from thirteen to twenty six years.

The deviation from this principle of giving the highest salary to judges who have been long in the service, is found in the case of Judge Sheppard, of the county of Hastings, who has been two years in office. His salary is a curious illustration of the advantage of having strong claims upon one's political friends. He, as the new judge of Hastings gets $2,600, while the new judge of Huron, quite as large and important a county, gets only $1,800. Recorder Duggan gets even a larger salary than the judges to whom he is inferior. He is paid down for $1,600 as recorder and $1,200 as judge of the District Court.

The next class of judges—those who receive a salary of $2,200—includes the judges of Kent, Lanark, Lincoln, and Peterborough. The judge of Prescott and Russell is the only one who is down for an even $2,000. The judges of Bruce, Essex, Frontenac, Grey, Haldimand, Halton, Huron, Lambton, No. 10, Peel, Perth, Prince Edward, Victoria and Welland, and the junior judges of Northumberland, Stormont, &c., and York, receive $1,800 per year. The judge of Lennox and Addington receives $1,600—the lowest salary paid to any county judge.

The recorder of London, Hamilton, Kingston, and Ottawa receive $1,000 each. The total payments to county judges, junior judges, deputy judges and recorders, reaches the sum of $90,600 annually, exclusive of the travelling expenses of the judges. The salary of the judges of Renfrew is omitted in the return though it would seem to be included in the footing at $1,800.

PARLIAMENTARY BORES.

The most expensive things we are likely to be inflicted with, in connection with our local representation, are some three or four bores that appear to be everlastingly moving for this and that return, and putting on all manner of airs, linking they are impressing the country with an idea of the extent of their parliamentary knowledge, when it is clear to all observers they are making themselves ridiculous, and at the same time obstructing the progress of the public business, and creating extra work, that will entail enormous expense upon the executive, by asking for returns, in which no one, but the party moving for them, takes the slightest interest.

The members for Prescott, (J. Boyd) South Bruce, (E. Blake) and Frontenac, (Sir Henry Smith) are constantly upon their legs, and appear to take up more valuable time than all the other members in the Legislative Assembly. We think their constituents would be much better served, and the country would be benefitted, if these three loquacious gentlemen would reserve their ammunition, and wait until the ministry brought forward their measures.

The King of Abyssinia is a great linguist. He speaks several African dialects fluently, and is now endeavouring to master English. It is anticipated that the first use he will make of this vernacular will be the correct pronunciation of the expressive sentence, "I care!"

The New Wire Bridge at Niagara Falls.—The Niagara Journal says:—The progress of the new wire bridge at Niagara Falls is waiting the action of the weather. The wooden towers are erected on each bank preparatory to stretching the wire. It is expected the permanent towers will be made of iron. The span is 1,300 feet.

A FEARFUL EXAMINATION.—At the inquest into the cause of the Ferracute Colliery explosion, Richard Wise, a police sergeant, proved the occurrence of the explosion, and that 178 persons were missing, of whom 175 had been recovered dead. Mr. Roberts, surgeon, said that he had examined 25 of the deceased, and found that 14 died from burning bruises, and suffocation, 25 from suffocation only, and five from bruises.

FIRE.—About half-past three this morning a fire broke out in the Messrs. Parson Bros coal refinery, on River street, near the Dock. The fire originated in a still lately erected, the man-hole of which flew off, and the contents escaping to the fire beneath, an explosion took place, bursting the still, and blowing the roof of the building into the air. An immense blaze immediately shot out, lighting up the whole city. The accident occurred in a building near three or four others, on the south side of the yard, in which 150 barrels of refined oil were stored, which, with the building, were insured.

Up to Dec. 16th there had been four deaths in all resulting from the dysterly outbreaks in Clerkenwell. Several seem still in a most dangerous condition, and thirty or forty others, including the youngest children, as well as old men and women, lie suffering from all forms of mutilation. The scene of the explosion presents a picture of indescribable desolation. On Dec. 20th the Coroner's inquest on the bodies of the victims of the Clerkenwell outrage was concluded at St. Bartholomew's Hospital, when the jury returned a verdict of willful murder against Timothy Desmond, Jeremiah Allen, and Ann Justice.

A PETERSBURG JOURNAL—the Russian Invalid—in an article reviewing the general policy of the European Powers, dwells specially on the policy of France and Austria. The French Government it says has completely adopted the policy of Austria in the Eastern question and in regard to the question of Germany and Italy. This alliance it is contended, will have an unfavorable effect on the condition of the Christians in Turkey, and is intended to prevent the development of the North German confederation, the unity of Italy, and the independent development of the Slavonian populations. Should the present policy be persisted in, it is added, the armed peace now existing will be converted into a serious war.

Sir John Franklin's grave is very probably discovered, Captain Hall, it seems, learned from some Esquimaux whom he met on a sledging tour, that at about the time Franklin's vessel was lost, the crew built a brick vault on shore, buried a body, and built up the tomb. Captain Hall organized an expeditionary force from the whaling vessels, promising $500 to each man to make a visit to the indicated spot. The vessel which brought these meagre details is probably the Arctic fishing grounds, and since there will of course be none during the winter or spring it is not likely that we shall have definite information before next summer.

RE-UNION. On Tuesday evening last, the members of the Richmond Hill Mechanics' Institute held their second Re-union, in the Temperance Hall. The programme was good, and was well received by an intelligent and appreciative audience.

The house was not as densely crowded as on the previous occasion, owing to the want of sufficient publicity; we trust that, in future, more pains will be taken to give ample notice to the public, as it is desirable and encouraging to see the house crammed to overflowing.

A meeting of the members of the Institute, will be held on Friday evening next, at 6:30 p.m., at Mr. Law's residence; we trust there will be a good attendance.

TOWNSHIP COUNCILS.—Monday next, the 25th inst.—being the third Monday in the month of January—is the day upon which all Township Councils hold their first meeting for the current year, at noon.

The County Council of York will meet on Tuesday, the 28th inst.

CLEARING SALE.—We have pleasure in directing attention to the advertisement of Mr. Wm. Atkinson, who announces a clearing sale of the balance of his Winter Stock of Dry Goods. As his stock is all first-class, and he sells at first cost, the public may confidently rely on making purchases at greatly reduced prices.

AMERICAN NEWS.

WEST INDIES. By the Herald's telegrams we have news from Mexico, St. Thomas, St. Domingo, Porto Rico, Hayti, Jamaica, Martinique, Venezuela and Beliz' 24,000 troops were embarking at Vera Cruz for Yucatan.

Cholera had broken out in Beliz some cases were prevalent in St. Thomas creating quite a panic.

Another revolution was imminent at Hayti; this time in favour of Gen. Salomon, the envoy extraordinary to England and France.

Shocks of earthquakes are still active at Porto Rico. A plot for the assassination of President Falcon of Venezuela had been discovered.

BORN TO BE DROWNED.—An English paper states that Mr. Stephen Britt, for many years harbour master of the port of Rye, was drowned recently by the upsetting of his boat in the harbour. He was the last survivor of a family of sons, every one of whom had died by drowning, three at sea, one in Rotterdam harbour, and one, 8 years old, in a well. This strange fatality so powerfully impressed the mind of the last remaining Stephen, that he abandoned going to sea, and relinquished even the command of the harbour steam tug, which he latterly had charge of.

MELANCHOLY ACCIDENT.—An inquest was held yesterday forenoon on the body of a young woman, named Mary Ann Gilding, who was found, about seven o'clock in the morning, drowned in a well, at the rear of her parents' residence, Queen street, opposite Cooke's Church. The young woman was missed about nine o'clock on the preceding evening, and an energetic search instituted, but without success, and her fate was not ascertained until her body was discovered by her brother yesterday morning. She was known to have gone out to the well about nine o'clock, and it is supposed, being subject to fits, she was in one of these when the fatal accident occurred. The jury returned a verdict of death by drowning.

IS HE A FENIAN?—On the 10th ult., a farmer named John Marshall, on his way north, stopped at a hotel in the Village of Markham. While there, in the bar-room, the news of the Clerkenwell affair arrived, and caused some excitement among the occupants. It is stated that at this juncture, Mr. Marshall got up and said, "If there is a Fenian present, I'd like to have a slap at him," whereupon a man named J. Cummins, replied that he was a Fenian. Marshall then struck at him, and the latter retaliated by throwing a heavy glass tumbler at his assailant, which struck him on the face, cutting up his cheek and jaw frightfully. The wounds are now healed, and the ministrations of that section refused to take up the case. Detective Lambert was despatched, and succeeded in arresting Cummins, and bringing him to the city a day or two ago.

THE ALLEGED FENIAN.—James Cummings, the alleged Fenian, was tried before the police magistrate of the county of York, yesterday afternoon. From the evidence of Marshall, the prosecutor, it appears that the parties met at Inglis' Tavern, in the village of Markham, on the night of the 14th December, and while there, the topic of conversation among all present was the Clerkenwell prison explosion. Marshall, in the course of conversation, remarked, "If I knew any one here to be a Fenian I would knock him down," upon this, Cummings, who had been a quiet listener, remarked—"I am a Fenian, or a 'Finigan,' as Marshall said." "Are you?" Cummings said—"Yes." Then Marshall hit him a blow on the temple with his fist. Cummings immediately seized a tumbler and hit Marshall on the cheek bone with the missile, inflicting a frightful gash, from which he laid profusely, and lay some time in a dangerous state. Cummings was committed for trial on a charge of aggravated assault.

Scottish Prudence.—When the late Mr. Telford the engineer, made his last visit to his native valley of Eskdale where he had in early life worked as a mason, he called upon his former friends to recount with them the incidents of his youth. He was declared to be the same "ganly" fellow as ever, and, though he was great in the world, he was "not to be so." He found one of his old fellow-workmen, Frank Beattie, had become the principal mason of the place. "What have you made of your mull and chisels?" asked Telford. "Oh," replied Beattie, "they are all dispersed—perhaps lost." "I have taken better care of mine," said Telford. "I have them all locked up in a room at Shrewsbury, as well as my old working clothes and a leather apron; you know one can never tell what may happen."

SMITH'S LIFE OF TELFORD. Good News From Ayrshire.—New York, January 14.—The Herald's Special, Extraordinary, of the 13th instant says:—Despatches received here from the British expeditionary force in Abyssinia, contain advices of a reassuring and more cheerful character. The native chief of Tigis, who had mustered a large force, the movements of which produced an alarm in the English camp at Senafe, and caused a forward movement along the line of march, is now reported friendly; indeed, this powerful African warrior has tendered hospitality to the invaders, and offers to feed the English troops. As a commencement in the commercial line, and evidence of his good faith, he has already sent in 2,000 head of cattle for the use of the army, so that it is inferred with good reason here that Her Majesty's forces are beginning to feel comfortable and in much better spirits. More important still, I have to announce that fresh water has been found in plenty around the land, in places at Annesly Bay.

In all probability, Virginia City, Nevada, will soon be swallowed up by the settling of the houses into the worked-out drifts. The mines in the upper part of Comstock vein, which almost form an underground city, having become exhausted, are now deserted; and the miners having neither property timbered the roofs nor filled in the chambers with waste material, have left the dwellings on the surface, either to protect their own foundations or to submit to their fate. Long cut-outs are exposed in the streets, frame houses are trusted about in every direction, and brick buildings are toppling over. With that humorous style of exaggeration peculiar to the West, the Virginia Enterprise affirms that in one building the bricks, now standing in a perpendicular position, were originally laid horizontally. Under these circumstances it would be cheaper to remove the whole town to some other locality where such casualties as tumbling into mine holes could be guarded against.
