

Poetry.

MARY'S "NO."

She is fair, and very pretty,
With a sparkling, bright, blue eye;
And her cheeks with smiles are dimpled...

So, I let her meet my pleadings With her bright and saucy smile,
And I bow before the archness...

Love to see the graceful action
Of her foot upon the ground;
As its tiny sole she patters...

Thus, though still she "No" is saying,
I, at home, have named the day;
And her mother smiles while weeping...

But my ear is deaf to pleading, Vainly all excuses flow;
For my Mary listens blushing...

ODDS AND ENDS.

The death of Lord Wynford is announced.
A Royal decree abolishes slavery in all the Portuguese possessions.

EXCELLENT SPONGE CAKE.—Whites of twelve eggs, yolks of ten eggs, one pound of sugar, three-quarters of a pound of flour...

BOSTON CAKE.—One pound of sugar, and half a pound of butter stirred together, three eggs beat lightly, one glass of wine, half a pint of milk, mixed with the wine, and an even tea-spoonful of soda sifted with a pound of flour: bake in a rather quick oven.

To ROAST A DUCK.—Prepare it for the spit in the same way as a goose. Stuff with sage, onion, thyme, bread crumbs, and butter, and baste them well with salt and water and their own gravy. It will require an hour to cook. Serve with currant jelly or applesauce.

The mail from South Australia brings dates to the 31st of January. The harvest had nearly been completed. The average yield was 12 bushels to the acre, which, giving a total of 6,069,000 bushels, prices had further declined, and wheat was now 4s. per bushel, and flour £12 per ton.

Some members of a certain family, who live out West are in Washington seeking places. They ground their claims on the fact that when Mr. Grant was carting some wood for them he tore his coat and their mother darned it for him. This is said to be a "darned" fine reason for asking office.

POTATO POPE.—This is a favorite dish in the West Indian Islands. Wash, peel and grate two pounds of potatoes; add four ounces each of sugar and butter (or beef-dripping) melted, one teaspoonful each of salt and pepper; mix well together; place it in a baking dish, and put it into a brisk oven until it is done and becomes nicely browned.

The Queen has become a patroness of the Society for Promoting the Employment of Women, and a subscriber to its funds. The Crown Princess of Prussia and the Princess Louise have also become patronesses of the society, and have sent donations to its funds.
The Crown Princess has long bestowed much support and encouragement on a society with similar objects in Berlin.

THE PREACHER'S PARROT.—In a neighborhood there lived a very pious old preacher, who prided himself on the possession of a pet parrot. One of the mischievous boys of the place had taught the parrot to swear, much to the chagrin of the old gentleman. On entering the house one day he was grieved to hear his pet swearing with a will at the old cat. This was more than he could stand, and to punish her, took the blasphemous bird from her perch and repeatedly plunged her into a tub of water that was standing near. When the parrot was released from her master's grasp, she crawled under the stove to dry her feathers. Shortly after a female servant found a chicken nearly drowned in a slop-bucket, and taking it from the bucket, she put it under the stove to dry also. The parrot quietly surveyed the newcomer for a moment and then comi-cally turning up one eye sagely chattered the following words as plainly as she could: "You been saying dam, too, have you?" The preacher was so pleased by the quaintness of the parrot's remark that he never afterwards punished her for swearing.

ADVICE TO SMOKERS.—Avoid smoking on an empty stomach, unless you have one of those organisms which are eminently insensible; for not only does the absorption of Nicotine under such conditions take place more rapidly, whence the injurious accumulation results, but inasmuch as in most cases the salivary secretion is stimulated, this brings with it a stimulation of the gastric glands, and gastric juice is poured into the empty stomach, producing a feeling of nausea and constriction. Smoke slowly: the enjoyment is prolonged, and the danger of accumulation is lessened. Let your tobacco be dry. Nicotine is volatile at the temperature of combustion, and the greater part contained in a cigar evaporates in the air; but Nicotine is very soluble in water, and what is thus dissolved instead of evaporating enters the system. The practice of wetting the cigar all over before lighting it should therefore be avoided. Those who are susceptible should be careful in the choice of tobacco, the different kinds of which have widely different amounts of Nicotine.
In that of Turkey, Greece, and Hungary there is scarcely a trace of the poison.
In that of Brazil, Havana, and Paraguay the amount is 2 per cent. In that of Maryland, 2.29; of Alsace, 3.21; of Kentucky, 5; of Virginia, 6.87; and of France, 7.30 per cent.

It is one of 1,000 of the accidents to which we large proportion rendered no longer troublesome by a timely application of this justly celebrated medicine.

"Nothing I ever saw can touch it as a remedy."

any account if I can get hold of a bottle of Ja-
