Odds and Ends

THE truest proof of a man's religion is the quality of his companions.

A PART of the perfection of this life is to believe ourselves far from perfection. Ir is the diligent head alone that maketh rich in self-culture, growth in wisdom, and also in business.

MEN look at the faults of others with a telescope; at their own with the same in strument reversed.

A Wisconsin paper mentious a case where burglars broke into a store, but the goods were marked so high that they would not take any away.

It is vain to stick your finger in the water, and pulling it out, look for a hole; and it is equally vain to suppose that, however large a space you occupy, the world will greatly miss you when you die.

Exaggeration .- Exaggeration in strong ently to enlarge.—Lord Brougham.

JUST as well might you expect sentinents of justice from a gamester as look for noble principles in the man whose for noble principles in the man whose hopes and fears are all suspended on the present moment and who stakes his whole happiness in the events of this life. As the bosom of earth blooms again and again, having buried out of sight the dead leaves of Autumn, and loosed the frosty bands of Winter, so does the heart, in opite of all that melancholy poets write, feel many renewed Springs and Summers. BUSYBODIES .- Beware of busybodies. A man who meddles in other people's affairs is sure to make mischief. He generally meddles to serve himself, and consequently puts different constructions on the same things when said to different peoples, so that the most innocent words get distorted into applications which those who used them never intended they should bear. The following method for remedying smoky chimueys is recommended in the London Critic: "A revolving fan is placed vertically in the opening of a small, compact moving cowl, fixed on the chimney top. The gentlest current of air sets this fan in motion, creating an upward draught in the chimney, preventing the return of smoke, gaseous vapours, etc., into the aparment, and also the falling of soot and rain.

INDIVIDUAL INSIGNIFICANCE.—Self know ledge is not learned in solitude; Where none oppose, learn from suffering a wiser judgement of your powers Youth, presump tion, and inexperience fit you but ill to cope with man, much less with heaven. You will not find yourself the conqueror in every mortal struggle; you will learn that you

He who writes a book must do it sentence by sentence; he he learns a science must matter it fact improvement of the Werker Globe that have who learns a science must matter it fact by fact, and principle after principle. What is the happiness of our life made up of? Little courtesies; little kindness; pleasant words; genial smiles; a friendly letter; good wishes, and good deeds. One in a million, once in a life time. non. once in a life time, may do a heroic action. But the little things that make up our life come every day and every hour. If we make the little events of life beautiful and good, then this is the whole life full of beauty and goodness.

FELON ON FINGER.—Many persons are liable to extreme suffering from Felons on the finger. These afflictions are not only very painful but not unfrequently occasion permanent crippling of the member affected. The following simple prescription is recommended as a cure for the distressing ailment. The following simple prescription is recommended as a cure for the distressing ailment:

MR. C. CHAPMAN,
Dear Sir,—I had been informed by interested parties that the Wheeler & Wilson Sewing Machine was not to be depended upon, which for a time induced me to deter purchasing one. After your description of said machines, I purchased one, and Mrs. Fawcett, who is well acquainted with other machines, states that after a year's trial in various kinds of work, she can confidently recommend it as a useful family sewing machine, and as all that you stated it to be.

M. FAWCETT.

We sew heavy fulled cloth with coarse linen thread, stronger than can be done by hand; while all fine stitching on light fabrics gives the best satisfaction. We can with confidence recommend the Wheeler and Wilson Sewing Machine as the best for family use. SAMUEL REESOR.

TMPORTANT TO PARTIES USING MACHINERY.

This oil excells all others for Lubricating boat shafts.

The following are the points in which it excells all other oils:

It will not gum, hence machinery can be kept clean with but little trouble, and it will clean machinery that has been gummed by other oils. It will not congea or thicken in the coldest of weather—this is a quality of the highest importance, from the fact that an oil not having this quality will not lubricate a cold shaft it is congealed, and it will not begin to lubricate until the journal, by friction, acquires that temperature necessary to reduce it to a liquid state. In acquiring a higher temperature by friction, the journal expands, and the box is injured. It is as impossible to use oil that will chill on a cold shaft without this result, as it to mingle oil with water. Stockes' oil will lubricate the coldest machinery the moment it is as plied; it is now used in over two hundred each blightness and all naive in contents.

Now, as the public are aware that many worthless things are pased into notoriety, in order to prove that this is no humbug, and at the same time to secure ourselves against the operations of unscrupulous oil agents,; many the same time to secure ourselves against the operations of unserupulous oil agents,; many of whom will not hesitate to palm off the mere London cournal. offal of oil refineries, as being identical with Stocks extra machine oil; we prepose to those who are largely interested in the truth of those who are largely interested in 'he truth of those statements, to send to them on application by express, or otherwise free of charge, a sample of the oil that it may speak for itself, we will with the sample furnish applicants free of charge, with a few simple tests as effective, as those tests by which Gold is known from the base metals, and which will enable parties ordering to secure themselves against imposition, by enabling them to determine at once, whether the oil forwarded is as good as sample. All parties interested in the lubicat-
