LONDON, Aug. 15 .- The Scott centenary was celebrated to day by a banquet in the great hall of the Cannon Street Hotel. Hepworth Dixon occupied the chair as President, with the Duke of Manchester, Lord Lytton, and Dr. Ramsay as Vice Presidents. Some four hundred persons—all, or nearly all, distinguished in the world of letters—were present. The toasts were much the same as at the Edinburgh celebration on the 9th inst. The day was also colebrated at the Crystal Palace, Sydenham, and in various towns in Scotland.

London, Aug. 14.—The corporation of the city of Dublin has commenced an inves tigation into the unfortunate occurrences at Phœnix Park on Sunday, the 6th inst. The magistrates have granted summonses against the members of the police who took part in the affair. The friends of home rule in Ul ster have made arrangements for a formidable demonstration to morrow. They intend to march in procession from Newry to Dundalk, and a collision with the Orange men is apprehended.

The Nissouri Murder.

In addition to the brief telegram stating that John Mc Wain, the cousin of the murdered man's wife, had been released, the London Free Press gives the following incidents of the case:

On Saturday afternoon, shortly after 4 o'clock, the prisoner John McWain, who was arrested on the information of Phæbe Campbell for the murder of her husband on re night of the 14th of July, was released the jail on his recognizance to appear at art House here on Friday next. He accordingly went home that night. The evidence of the woman Campbell against him on Friday last was point blank, accusing am of being the person who murdered her husband. Notwithstanding the mass of positive testimony the a is scarcely one in the community who believe him guilty, and public opinion has found a fitting expression in the action of Mr. Brook Stevens on Satarday, who, acting with the advice and consent of the County Crown Attorney, liberated

Protection.

And now we have the pleasant fact to record that the Kingston Daily News is with the small army of newspapers doing battle a judiciously-framed protective tariff and patriotic national policy. The News of Friday contained the following:—"It has long been apparent in Canada that English dogmas regarding free trade were little applicable to the circumstances of a new and growing country like this, where, for obvious reasons, it becomes important to localize the more useful manufactures in order to provide a mutually serving and mutually dependent population. The American protectionists have a story to tell as well as the English free traders. At present it happens that a large bulk of machinery is being imported into Canada from the United States instead of what ought to be the cheaper market of England; and notably an American firm is able to underbid all competitors, English and Canadian, in tendering for a bridge on the Interconlonial Railway. The Great Western Railway Company likewise finds its advantage in having a steamboat built at Detroit instead of in Canada or Great Britain. Besides a long list of converts like the News, we could name numbers of our wes tern contemporaries who are scarching after ight, but at present are slightly bewildered as to the right direction to take. The following extract from an article in the People's Journal of Toronto depicts these honest-hearted wavering ones most truthfully. It says:—"We have received from a correspondent a letter, which we print, for the reason that it very well exemplifies the confusion of thought prevailing among people here, who imagine themselves to be free-traders while they are in reality protecbeen called to meet here on Jagust 24, to be composed of presidents of agricultural colleges, professors of agricultural trade, 'as decisive of the controversy at once. consulting and co-operating in the great work of advancing the cause of agricultural knowledge and education be to deserve the name. Or, again, whether it is wise for us to give our neighbors free access to our markets with their produce, while beavy toll, and they will answer 'no.' Or whether they do not believe that excise duties are a peculiarly tronblesome impost, The giving great annoyance and hindrance to domestic manufactures, and they will most ly answet 'yes.' We say, confidently, nine out of ten of these who, in this country, are led away by the mere sound of 'free trade,' and its supposed connection with Liberalism and Reform in politics, would answer these questions just as we have above. And a perusual of our correspondent's letter leaves no doubt in our minds that he would answer the same way. There are a few points in the letter which we propose to notice seriatism.

"It is not true that the protective sys tem is advocated only by a few manufac turers. It is advocated by the thousand of mechanics and laborers who, by means of get work that otherwise would be done abroad, and by the farmers to whom it secures a home market for their produce, We are prepared to count votes any day, and to have the question decided on which side are 'the many,' and on which side 'the few.'"—Montreal Star.
