

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

House to rent—James M. Lawrence. Parliamentary Notice—W. H. Beatty. Card—Woodburn & Styles.

The York Herald.

RICHMOND HILL, OCTOBER 13, 1871.

NORTH YORK FALL FAIR.—The balance of the prize list of this fair will be found on the fourth page.

J. L.—We have received a communication bearing on the school question, from the gentleman who writes over the above initials. As our columns are crowded with other matter, it will have to be reserved for another issue.

GRAND CONCERT.—The concert to be given by the Lodge of Orange Young Britons of this town, will come off this evening (Friday) in the Masonic Hall. All those who enjoy an entertainment of this description will do well to attend, as the committee have secured the services of a number of talented amateurs. The proceeds will be applied to the banner fund of the association.

"THE STEP AT THE GATE."—We have received Whitney's Musical Guest for October, and find among its many attractions the beautiful song and chorus under the above title, together with "Plant a Few Little Flowers," "Irving and The Bible says we may;" also a large amount of musical news, &c., combining in all, just such a musical journal as every family should have. The publisher now proposes to send the Guest three months on trial, for only twenty-five cents. When four dollars worth of music can be obtained for so small a sum, we think no one will fail to avail themselves of this liberal offer. Price $1.00 a year; specimen copy, 10 cents. Published monthly by W. W. Whitney, Toledo, O.

VAUGHAN COUNCIL.

The Municipal Council of the Township of Vaughan met at the Town Hall on Monday the 9th inst., at 10 A.M.

Members present: Messrs. Boyle, Reaman, and Webster. The minutes of last meeting read and approved.

A communication from the Secretary and Engineer of the Toronto, Grey and Bruce Railway, relative to the crossings in the township, was read.

Claims for loss of sheep killed by dogs were presented to the Council by James McWilliams, John Coombs, and Daniel S. Reaman.

Mr. Webster, seconded by Mr. Boyle, moved that the Treasurer be and is hereby authorized to pay the following claims for loss of sheep killed by dogs:

Table with 2 columns: Name and Amount. Includes James McWilliams ($3.32), John Coombs ($3.32), Daniel S. Reaman ($3.32).

Mr. Reaman, seconded by Mr. Boyle, moved that the Treasurer be and is hereby authorized to pay the following accounts as certified by the several Road Commissioners in their respective districts, viz:

Table with 2 columns: District and Amount. Includes In District No. 1, P. S. Gibson, P.L.S. ($12.00), W. Ludford, chipping on survey ($3.12), Robert Henry for lumber ($8.29), In Dist. No. 2, John Blund for lumber ($1.82), James Brown for timber ($14.30), In Dist. No. 3, Noble Watson ($39.00), David Murray ($12.81), John H. Ellis ($149.50).

SATURDAY, Oct. 21.—Credit Sale of farm stock, implements, &c. on lot No. 10, rear of 3rd Con. Whitechurch, belonging to Mr. James Leyd. Sale at 12 o'clock, noon. J. Gormley, Auctioneer.

*Parties having Sale Bills printed at this office, will have a notice similar to the above, free of charge.

Many valuable horses die from the effects of colic. The best thing to do in a case of this kind is to pour a bottle of Johnson's Anodyne Liniment into a long necked jug bottle, add half pint of molasses and water, then pour the whole down the horse's throat. In ten minutes the horse will begin to eat.

Parsons' Purgative Pills will greatly relieve, if not entirely cure, dyspepsia when everything else fails. They have been tried in some desperate cases, and have given more relief than any other medicine.

MARKHAM FAIR.

The East Riding of York and township of Markham Agricultural Societies held their annual Fall Fair in Markham village, on Thursday and Friday, October 5 and 6. The weather was comparatively fine for the season; the morning of the second day, by its cloudy appearance, threatened rain—but before Old Sol had ascended many degrees from the horizon, his benign influences dispersed all apprehensions of an unpleasant day. The attendance, on the first day was small, but from all hours of the morning of the second day till noon, the roads, which were good, were thronged with intending visitors en route to the show. For a distance of over twenty miles in every direction from Markham village, vehicles of every description might have been seen conveying their contents toward the day's centre of attraction. The demand for horse flesh was in excess of the supply, and as a consequence numbers were deprived of enjoying an anticipated day's pleasure. The gathering might be said to have been the opportunity of the student of human nature. Here might have been seen entering the village the sturdy yeoman with his family in the farm wagon; this vehicle of all uses being quite in keeping with the appearance of the occupants, both impressed on our mind an idea of the practical, only to be effaced by the sprightly dash of the next "rig," being a spirited blood in a turnout of the latest style; then came a group of blooming rosy-cheeked lasses, closely followed by a band of ardent admirers in their Sunday best, who, ever and anon, would greet our ears with an outburst of their high spirits; next an old grey-headed couple came lumbering along in an equally antiquated conveyance, which, like Horace Greeley's white hat, had seen better days; in their wake was a motley crowd of both sexes and all ages, and these, together with the herds of cattle and loads of sheep and swine which kept coming in, gave an exceedingly lively appearance to the streets of Markham; and thus the throng kept increasing until a number estimated by some at ten or twelve thousand had congregated. The streets and by-ways near the hotels were almost impassable, owing to the great number of vehicles judiciously crowded together in the least possible space, while the Toronto and Nippissing Railway; not only every available passenger car, but also gravel and freight cars were utilized in conveying people from north and south to the village. The trains were crowded to suffocation, and many rode upon the roofs of the carriages.

Upon entering the agricultural grounds the first object that attracted our attention was "The flag that braved a thousand years The battle and the breeze." Proudly waving over the hall, as if to assure the eager competitors that they should receive "British fair play." The Societies' grounds are roomy, and the stables and sheds for the accommodation of the horses, cattle, sheep, swine, &c., are both commodious and convenient. From the entrance we proceeded directly to the palace, once inside of which the first thing to be observed was a nice lot of stoves, then a number of bells, which, though having a fine appearance, needed to be taught a few lessons in manners in order to become aware that their occasional loud peels jarred upon the sensitive nerves of the folks of the gentler sex who had the misfortune to come too near; but we should say if they had been somewhat raised above the throng, they would, no doubt, have produced a more pleasing effect. The horticultural produce was the next in order, of which there was a good display both in quantity and quality, being cabbage, cauliflower, beets, onions, melons, &c., and fruits in great profusion. The photographs, tissue work, leather work, and farmers' wreaths presented a beautiful appearance. There were some delightful lots of bread, butter and cheese, backed up with strained and unstrained honey, preserves, pickles, &c., to match. With regard to the ladies' work, the most limited stretch of our obtuse imagination could not form the least idea of the patience required to produce some of the complicated specimens on exhibition; the infinitesimal pieces sewed together in such beautiful order in the patchwork quilt; the complexity of the hand-worked counterpanes, carpets, rugs, blankets, hose, mitts, &c.; the tastefulness of the embroidered silk, Berlin wool work, worsted work, shell work, bead work, &c.; all conveyed to our minds only a faint idea of the higher beauty and refinement of the inmost mind of our mothers and sisters, in comparison with the sterner qualities of our sex. In wax work there were some rare samples. In the fine arts department there was a creditable display, a number of beautiful paintings and drawings being exhibited. The musical implements shown were Mason & Hamlin's and Taylor & Farley's melodeons, Heintzman's piano, and T. J. Dale's organ and melodeon; all of excellent tone and finish. The show of furniture was meagre. Mr. Digby, of Markham, was the successful competitor in trunks and harness, having received the first prize for single, double, carriage and cart harness. In sewing machines there were the Lockman, the Florence, the Singer, the Howe, and the Wheeler & Wilson; the last named gained the first prize, which, without doubt, is justly merited, as its triumph at the Paris Exposition in 1867 proves. There was also Lamb's knitting machine, which does its work well; it was entered by Mr. C. Chapman. There was a fine display of ready-made clothing from the firm of G. & J. W. Cox & Co., of Toronto. With regard to the grain and field culture, we were unable to obtain any particulars, owing to the dense crowd in the shed where they were shown; but we understand that the wheat was the most excellent and more of it than at any preceding fair, and, owing to the unfavorable season the roots were somewhat inferior. The implements, buggies, cutters, &c., occupied the western part of the grounds. A Johnston self-rake reaper and a cutting box, manufactured by Messrs. Patterson & Bro., gained first prizes. Mr. J. Fleury, of Aurora, also showed a Johnston reaper with improvements. Mr. A. Fleury gained the first prize for a grain crusher. Messrs. A. & W. Wilson, of this place, were again successful with their improved double-action fanning mill, with perforated zinc grain separator. For cast beam plows, the first prize was awarded to Mr. Johnston Gibney, of Stouffville, and for wrought iron beams, to Mr. George Wilkinson, of Gormley. For the Ontario grain drill and grass seeder combined, Mr. J. Fleury obtained the first prize. In wagons, Speight & Sons were the successful competitors. To Eakin & Stephenson, of Unionville, first prizes were awarded for a buggy, platform wagon, democrat sleigh and cutter. The show of horses was fair; stallions this year were pronounced by competent judges to be superior to any yet shown, but the carriage and riding horses were rather inferior, with a few exceptions, one of which was a superior single driver owned by Mr. J. M. Davis, of this place. In cattle, the competition was keen and some fine animals had been entered, surpassing any previous fair. The sheep were excellent, comprising Hampshire, Shropshire, Leicester, Cotswold, &c. The swine were very good, of which there were a number of specimens of the large and small breeds. The entries in poultry were splendid, embracing some fine samples of geese, turkeys, ducks, chickens, &c. The Markham brass band was in attendance, and enlivened the proceedings with choice selections of music.

On the whole this fair was the largest and most successful of any ever held in Markham. It is a great satisfaction to know that the directors realized their most sanguine expectations. As a matter of course, everybody could not be suited, as not more than one could receive the first prize for the same article; but we have every reason to believe that the judges acted impartially in their awards. These exhibitions are a benefit to all classes of the community, inducing agriculturalists, manufacturers and others to produce articles worthy of competition. The prize list will appear in our next issue in full.

Persons Afflicted, however slightly, with any weakness of the Chest or Throat, involving either the Larynx, Trachea, Bronchial Tubes, or the Lungs themselves, should, on the first symptom commence with Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites, as by its use diseases of those organs (even Consumption in its primary stage) are speedily cured and more alarming symptoms prevented.
