

Correspondence.

THE GOVERNOR-GENERAL AT YORKVILLE.

To the Editor of the York Herald. Sir, - On Monday morning their excellencies, Lord and Lady Dufferin, took their departure for Ottawa, after spending about three weeks in the city, during which time they won the hearts of all classes by the manner of their deportment. The number of addresses presented to them by municipalities, societies, &c., would be rather hazardous for me to attempt to guess. Friday night last, almost the last one they spent most, was occupied by attending a concert in this village, of more than classic renown, on which occasion his Excellency was presented with an address from the young men belonging to the Church of the Redeemer. Any one would have thought the Reeve and Council would have taken the first opportunity presented to them of paying their respects to the Representative of royalty, in the person of the Governor-General, but whether from a want of knowledge, narrow mindedness, party feelings, or whatever else it was the Grit Councilors allowed the opportunity to pass over, and have placed the loyal inhabitants of this village in an invidious position with the rest of the municipalities. I have no desire to dwell further upon this matter, but trust the next time an event of the kind should happen, men of a different kidney will occupy their position. It is one thing to keep the taxes reasonably low, and another to act meanly and unbecomingly, for fear of spending ten dollars in parchment.

Yours, &c., BUB Yorkville, Nov. 1, 1872.

Gold Discovery.

Excitement in Westchester, N.Y. The discovery of a gold and silver in large quantities and of a superior quality in Westchester county, near Hastings, was first exclusively in The Sun on Friday, is no longer speculation. That gold has been actually discovered, and that mining is to be begun within a few days, perhaps to day, can be proved by any one who will take the trouble to visit the locality indicated. Although gold was first discovered in July last by Mr. G. D. Davis of Jersey City, in the shape of a large piece of quartz, while walking over the Palisades with Dr. J. H. Rae, the discovery was kept secret until a few days ago. Dr. Rae had his reputation at stake, and would not allow the report to go forth until he had proved beyond all manner of controversy that gold actually does exist in the mountains. Dr. Rae is too old and experienced a miner and chemist to allow any tricksters to deceive him by dropping quartz around for him to pick up. A Sun reporter has spent several days in testing the actual existence of gold. He has examined the crushing mill, the washing and assaying apparatus, has seen the gold washed out of the ground quartz, and has seen the product tested in boiling nitric acid. Dr. Rae has made fifty six fire assays of the gold obtained from an equal number of specimens. With Dr. Rae the reporter has minutely examined the site of the mine. He saw quartz embedded in rocks weighing hundreds of tons. Saw pieces broken from these quartz stones, and plainly saw the glint of treasure in the broken pieces. The vein has been traced about 5,000 feet by the quartz which adheres to these mountains of stone. Comparatively few pieces of quartz have been found from these strata. Mr. Hopke, the owner of the land was unconscious of the treasure that his property contained until Mr. Davis, the discoverer, had, under the laws of the State, which gives the discoverer that right, obtained his pre-emption title to the land for twenty years. Therefore, the find is not Mr. Hopke's possession, and he could not dispose of it, should he so desire, to any one with the expectation that the purchaser should be benefited by the discovery. Neither did Mr. Davis sell the land. Hence the story started by some incredulous persons that the cry of "gold" had been raised to make the land salable falls to the ground. A rich mine of gold is there, and the gentleman who has undertaken the work will prove to the world that they have struck an Eldorado. Since the discovery of the precious metal in Westchester county, Dr. Rae has tested some "float" specimens of quartz which he gathered in Orange county. On Saturday the Doctor announced that from some of the specimens thus obtained he had found traces of gold, and believes that Orange county also contains gold in great quantities. He also believes that he thinks the Westchester mines superior. It is a source of surprise to many that gold could have been found, quartz mills erected, and all the refining paraphernalia made ready without the secret having leaked out. Dr. Rae had previously leased the large marble-crushing mill of Mr. Davis, and at once began crushing marble for chemical purposes. Being a chemist, mechanic, and inventor, the doctor built the machinery and put it up himself without attracting the attention of any one, none of his workmen knowing that the machinery was intended for any other purpose than the crushing of marble. The secret having been kept so successfully, the quidnuncs look knowing and shake their heads when they read that a gold mine exists within half an hour of New York which can be worked with four times the profit of some of the mines in California. - From the New York Sun.

The Geneva arbitration is to cost the U. S. Government nothing. The ex Emperor Napoleon suffers from rheumatism, and cannot get relief therefrom. The first steamer that ever came to Montreal from Italy arrived on Tuesday last. The Liberal candidate Mr. Massey, has been elected to represent Tiverton in the English House of Commons. The seat was rendered vacant by the elevation of the Hon. George Denny to the Bench. Source of Lord Palmerston's Power. - The Spectator thinks that Lord Palmerston's tact was only a secondary quality. "Upon any subject he cared for, if it were only a Smoke Bill, he was the ablest and the least squeezable of mankind, and the country recognized that with admiration."

Stanley's Success.

The dinner to Mr. Stanley took place at a fortunate hour, as it is now known how completely he had succeeded in his splendid undertaking of finding and securing the great African explorer, letters direct from Dr. Livingstone himself were made public just in time for Sir Bartle Frere to read from one of them to the assembled guests. Along with the report of the dinner and with Dr. Livingstone's letter to Lord Granville, we were able to announce that Sir Bartle Frere is about to proceed to Zanzibar as a Special Commissioner to inquire into the Slave Trade, an expedition which is another direct result of Mr. Stanley's enterprise. Dr. Livingstone's despatch clears up at once the apparent misunderstanding that had been between him and the Royal Geographical Society. Mr. Stanley may generously forgive the momentary scepticism which, on the subject of his news, he has shown. Sir Henry Rawlinson is to declare that it was more likely Livingstone had succumbed Stanley than that Stanley had relieved Livingstone. The more incredible the news was when first it came, the greater is the honour of the achievement. Mr. Stanley has not only brought out of the interior of that continent of mystery news of the great traveller, but has reconstructed the broken line of communication between him and the civilized world. In the words of the President of the Geographical Society, Mr. Stanley has relieved the English mind from a heavy weight of anxiety, and in succouring Livingstone has covered his own name with imperishable renown. Dr. Livingstone's letter enables us to appreciate another service which Mr. Stanley has done for his country. It is to be noted that when he wrote the letter on the 1st of July, Dr. Livingstone did not know that his discoverer had got safely back with the invaluable diary in his hand. Thanks to the success of Mr. Stanley, we may hope by this time next year to see Dr. Livingstone himself in London, and to bear the story of his adventures and discoveries. He is evidently no longer the "more reckless of bones" he was when a strange white man espied him in a crowd and asked if he was Dr. Livingstone. He is full of heart and hope. The records of his past travels are safe in his daughter's hands, and he has himself set out on that eight months' journey "over water innumerable" which he hopes will complete his explorations of the Nile. It has not as yet been projected that he will go to Sir Bartle Frere, "to make a feasible finish up of my work." And he seems to think that he will come back with a confirmation in his hand of the ancient Egyptian tradition recorded by Ptolemy, that the Nile sets out on its northward journey to far distant Egypt and the Mediterranean Sea, from a group of fountains which rise at the foot of a mountain chain far south of the Equator, called the Mountains of the Moon. - London Daily News, Oct. 23.

Buried Alive.

The Ottawa Citizen of the 2nd inst., is responsible for the following startling story: - For some time past the work of removing the remains of the departed from the old Roman Catholic burying ground to the new cemetery, has been quietly going on, and nothing more than might be expected under the circumstances occurred until the other day. The sacred ashes have been reverently taken from their narrow beds and removed by the hands of their loving friends to the new city of the dead. Affecting incidents have naturally occurred, and some bones bordering on the revolting have been witnessed in the old cemetery. Recently buried bodies have been uncoffined that found eyes might gaze upon their features for a last time, before covering them with the soil again. One such incident, of a startling nature occurred last Tuesday. A gentleman who was engaged in removing the remains of some of his deceased relatives, was asked by an acquaintance, who was similarly engaged, to assist him in lifting a coffin from the grave. He did so, and the lid was taken off. To the horror of the small body of spectators who gathered around it, they discovered that the body (which was that of an uncle of the gentleman who was removing it) had been disturbed in the coffin. It was terribly cold, and the face was as if it had died in a great agony. The face wore an expression of intense pain and horror, the arms were drawn up as far as the coffin would admit, and the head was twisted round to the shoulders, from which the flesh had apparently been gnawed by the struggling man. Sickened by the horrid sight, the spectators drew back from the coffin, and looked speechlessly into each other's eyes. Not a word was spoken, but there was not a man present who did not feel that the deceased had been buried alive - probably while in a trance - and had awakened only to perish in his living tomb. The coffin was closed again and taken to the new cemetery, where it was decently interred. Every precaution was taken to hush up the affair, but it has got abroad, and we now publish it without giving names.

The Presidential Election.

Although the October elections in Pennsylvania were a matter of little interest to the world that they have struck an Eldorado. Since the discovery of the precious metal in Westchester county, Dr. Rae has tested some "float" specimens of quartz which he gathered in Orange county. COLLINGWOOD, Nov. 2. - Yesterday, about four p.m., as the construction train on the Narrow Gauge Railroad was backing down the switch at Indian River, two miles south of Thornbury, a workman named John Clark, a resident of this place, fell from one of the flat cars through the bridge into the river, a distance of about twenty feet, breaking a leg and shattering the knee. The Presbyterian of Lackawanna, Pa., has laid before the Presbyterian Synod of Philadelphia, now in session at Columbia Pa., the following question: "It is the duty of church sessions to discipline members who knowingly vote for men who do not love God nor hate covetousness, nor love truth?" The Synod has very wisely returned an answer in the negative, adding that it is a measure of penitence which no one should think appropriate to the Church of God. Two boys at Halifax stole a quantity of blasting powder a few nights ago. A portion of this was given to another lad, named Dean, who filled his pocket with it, and then all three went to the yard of St. Augustine's School. Here a quantity of the powder was placed on the ground, and Dean, kneeling down, ignited it with a match. Instantly there was a great flash, and the powder in his pocket went off, and he was so fearfully burned that he died at the Halifax infirmary on the following day. A fatal explosion of dynamite is reported from Wales. It occurred in a small quarry called Churelfaure, about six miles from Carnarvon. Mr. Richard Hughes, the agent and manager, and Richard Hughes, a workman, were in the machine room, engaged in preparing and tempering dynamite. It is supposed that they had placed the composition on the stone, when by some means it exploded, and that there were only two pounds of the explosive matter, so great was the force of the concussion that the roof was blown off and thrown up a great height into the air, and everything in the place was shattered to atoms. Richard Hughes died almost immediately from the injuries he received, and Mr. Eames died on the following day.

Fellows' Compound SYRUP OF HYPOPHOSPHITES. A Allife-endowed body, whether that of a Bird, Fish, Reptile, Insect, or even Zoophyte, and subject of the Vegetable Kingdom, is generated by vital force, which binds all the springs of existence, and no building can have them for a destination when this principle leaves them, the discovery of means whereby vitality may be sustained in the living body is indeed a boon to the world. Modern chemistry has ventilated the question and discovered the just agent for sustaining the brain and nervous system in proper proportions, the brain and nervous system are strengthened. This, then, is substantially the basis on which FELLOW'S HYPOPHOSPHITES is built. Its direct action is upon the Blood. Brain and Nervous system and the Muscles. It is being sent the nerves, it causes the rapid distribution of Vitalized Blood in the Muscular Organs of the Body. Reinvigorating the action of the Stomach and expelling the Lungs to be fully inflated with Oxygen. It is adapted for all cases of Weakness and Emaciation, whether arising from ordinary life, a tropical climate, from fever, or debility from any cause, and is especially efficacious in cases of Consumption, where the system has been ruined and all hope deferred, where it has been continued over a fortnight. In Bronchitis it is specific, and in Asthma it gives relief where other remedies fail. It is a safe and reliable remedy, and may be used with confidence in all cases. As this is entirely distinct and different from every other preparation of Hypophosphites, it is essential to ask for FELLOW'S SYRUP and to be careful.
