RICHMOND HILL, MAY 23, 1873.

"CONSISTENCY."

The action of the House of Commons in passing the resolution moved by Mr. Costigan, is very much to be regretted. The New Brunswick school law was in reality not in controversy at all. The action of the House neither gives nor takes away the right to appeal to the judicial committee of the Privy Council upon that law. That right already exists. The coast has been made easy for them by the Supreme Court of New Brunswick, and by the permission given to appeal from that decision; and it is therefore a pretence that the action of Parliament was necessary in this respect. However much parties may condemn the action of the New Brunswick Government in passing such a school law. It has offered every facility for appealing, to those who might wish to do so. The most extraordinary feature, however, of the debate, was the position taken by the "Reformers" of Ontario. Every one must remember how, in times past, they have made a stalking horse at the polls of the question of Separate Schools. Years before Confederation, it was the rallying cry at every polling place. Year after year resolutions were brought forward to repeal the Separate School Law. Many a man in Ontario lost his seat by refusing to vote the repeal of the said law. Bitter and acrimonious was the contest previous to 1863. Does it not indeed seem passing strange that men who should have so acted, should now attempt to prevent the Legislature of a sister Province passing laws in favor of the very principle the Reformers of Ontario, used to think the correct one. Last year when this question was brought forward in the House, Mr Mackenzie and his followers refused to support motions to disallow the bills, so strongly were they convinced of the impropriety of any action by the Parliament of Canada, in the subject under dispute, feeling satisfied that New Brunswick had a perfect right under the law to act as she did. A Montreal paper winds up an able article upon this question in the following words:

"It is not difficult to understand the motive which prompted this extraordinary conduct. These men are suffering from a disappointment so intense, as to make them reckless of everything they do. They came to this session of Parliament full of hope, that within ten days or a fortnight they would be called upon to form an administration. The session has passed over, and the Government finds itself stronger than at the opening. The last expiring hope of the Opposition is that by arraying New Brunswick against them, they may succeed in accomplishing their object. If the Government, they argue, fail to carry out the instructions of the House, a vote of censure next year will command the same majority as the motion on Wednesday night carried, and they will thus have succeeded in embarrassing and possibly turning out their opponents. If on the other hand the Government should act upon the decision of the House, they hope to see such a feeling aroused in New Brunswick, as will force its representatives to oppose the administration another session. Thus in either case these political gamblers hope to succeed. It is with them, as they think in their small cunning, the old game of "Heads I win, tails you lose." They will find themselves, who resort to such practices, disappointed in their object and despised by every man who has any respect for consistency or even decency in political life. The Administration, we have no doubt, will act as in their judgment they consider best for the interests of the country at large, and they will meet Parliament next year, whatever course they may determine to pursue, all the stronger for the exhibition which we have had of the want of principle and consistency on the part of their leading opponents.

AT IT AGAIN.

Some people delight in stirring up dirty water, and we think that the editor of the Markham Economist must be one of this sort, his nature appears to be of that class. In his last paper he returns to the charges against the firm of Phelps, Dodge & Co., of New York of attempting to defraud the revenue of the United States. The head of the firm has stated that he was not aware of such a thing, and on being made acquainted with it, at once tendered the amount claimed by the Government. It will be readily understood by our readers that in houses doing a large business both in the United States and Canada, that a great deal of the business is dependent upon trustworthy clerks, the heads of the firms knowing nothing of the details of what is going on. However, as we said before, we cannot understand why the relations of the member for North York should be ripped up against him. Every man has enough of his own sins to answer for, without answering for the sins of others. Would the editor of the Markham sheet

—since he seems to have such facilities for finding out things—make the necessary enquiries and give us the particulars of the escapade of the member for East York, the time he cleared out for Australia, and left his partners and creditors in the lurch; also the correspondence that took place previous to his landing again in Ontario. It might prove very interesting to the expectant 2500 (?) readers that he expects to have with his "new press," which, of course, was entered at the Customs. There might also be added by way of a change, the principle upon which the Local Member kept the school monies when he was deputy treasurer; No doubt he paid them all over when he was made acquainted with the amount required. We wait a reply.

VERY LIKE A VICTORY.

The following are the principal majorities which the House gave to the Government of the Right Honourable Sir John Macdonald, throughout the Session just closed.

- 16.
- 20.
- 25.
- 31.
- 33.
- 40.
- 77.

This does not look much like the victory promised to the country by that old croaker, the Globe, and re-echoed by all the minor Grit squeakers, eh? When is that "not far off end" coming? In the face of such "moral victories" as quoted above, we are of the opinion that it will be some time hence.

THE HUNTINGTON CHARGES.

We copy the following from the Toronto Leader in reference to the above charges:

"Judging from the conduct of Messrs Huntington, Holton, Dorion, Blake, Mackenzie and the managing director of the Globe, we are convinced there is no case to go before the committee appointed to investigate these charges. The very plan adopted by these pretended jurists to bring the case before the country, is opposed to the course which men conscious of being able to prove the case would adopt. In an ordinary court of law, when a prosecutor has a good case he does not resort to the newspapers, or to public opinion, for the purpose of publishing the evidence he can produce when the day of trial comes. Indeed he invariably adopts the opposite course. He will remain quiet, feeling that he has confidence in the character and respectability of his witnesses, and establish the facts. That is the course followed in most cases, and we believe secrecy is one of the principal things inculcated by lawyers upon their clients, after they have taken a retaining fee. Tell me, says the lawyer, everything connected with your case, keep nothing back, and I will give you my opinion. If he is a conscientious man he will tell his client at once whether his case is a good one or a bad one; but in most instances secrecy is all important, indeed essential, in proportion to the gravity of the case, to obtain complete success. Suppose a case of murder or any other heinous crime. If there is any doubt whatever of the guilt of the party accused, surely it is plain that the only way to convict the criminal is to prevent him from knowing the nature of the evidence which is to be brought forward against him. The legal adviser of the criminal would take advantage of any knowledge obtained from his clients accusers, and perhaps obtain testimony which might weaken the strongest evidence of the prosecution, and thereby defeat the ends of justice. This is exactly the case of the Opposition in dealing with these charges against the Government. Not satisfied with the strength of the accusations which they have made, if they actually believed them to be true, they would submit silently, quietly if you will, until the hour arrived to put forward the evidence to substantiate their charges; but they are not satisfied, either with the character of the evidence or the truth of the charges, and therefore they worked themselves up into a furor of excitement, feeling the falsity of their position, so as to create a prejudice, if possible, against the Government, long before they bring forward a single witness to substantiate their case. Why should we bother our heads further with this matter? A few months at most will decide the question one way or another, and therefore we shall believe the repeated statements of Sir John, that the Government is not guilty, until the contrary is proved. The Opposition deserve no credit for anything they have done, but instead, they richly deserve the fate which awaits all tricksters, hypocrites and deceivers, and we are sure the people of Canada have already passed that verdict upon them in secret, before a single word is proved of all they have alleged against the honesty, patriotism and honour of men who have thus far, at least, never stooped to a dirty or mean act to gain an advantage over the humblest opponent of their policy.

Editor's Notes.

A practice and business meeting of the Richmond Hill Fire Company will be held on Monday evening next. Look out for the fines.

ANOTHER PROVINCE.—The latest news from Prince Edward Island, informs us that the Legislature of that Province have unanimously passed the resolutions accepting the terms offered that Province on entering the Dominion of Canada.

WOOL PRIZES.—The prizes offered in Toronto last wool season have been awarded as follows: Jas. Russell, Richmond Hill, best 50 fleeces, $20; Wm. Clark, Scarborough, best 30 fleeces, $12.50; Chris. Gohn, Vaughan, best 20 fleeces, $10; John Ireland, King, best 10 fleeces, $5; Samuel Egan, King, best 5 fleeces, $2.50.

THAT ACCOUNT.—At the last meeting of the Vaughan Council an account was presented from this establishment for settlement. The bill was made up of stationery supplied and printing done for the Township during the past ten months, and amounted to $42. At present we only have to say to Messrs McQuarrie and Reaman that they are "excessive," and that they have been misled by designing parties. We will refer to the subject again.

DOMINION DAY.—Preparations are being made to celebrate the 1st of July, in honor of the birth-day of our Dominion, on a grand scale. A meeting of the inhabitants of our village was held at Velie's hotel on Tuesday, when a committee was appointed to take up subscriptions to carry on the Demonstration. More extensive arrangements than heretofore, will be made to have an extra good time. The next meeting will be held at Proctor's Dominion hotel, this (Friday) evening, at 7.30 o'clock prompt.

VAUGHAN COUNCIL.—We have to apologize to our readers for the delay in publishing the proceedings of the Vaughan Council at its last meeting on the 13th inst. We are not particularly interested in the doings of this body of wise men, but many of our readers are, and for this reason we desire to publish them at the earliest moment. In the usual way the Clerk was applied to for them twice during the past two weeks, but he was conveniently too busy to prepare them. However, so long as money and the statute will protect us, we will give them to the public at the earliest moment.

GRAND SOIREE.—The Rising Star Temple, No. 252, I. O. G. T., will hold a Soiree on Tuesday next, June 3rd. At 11 a.m., a procession will be formed at the Lodge Room, P. M. Church, Victoria Square, headed by the Aurora Brass Band, and march to a beautiful grove on the property of James Stoutenburg, Esq., where a sumptuous repast will be provided by the ladies of the Society. After the removal of the cloth, addresses will be delivered by a number of popular speakers. Several other Lodges will be in attendance in full regalia. Proceeds to go toward building a new Lodge Room. Tickets: Adults 25 cents; Children under 14 years, 15 cents.

NEW LITERATURE.

THE CANADIAN ILLUSTRATED NEWS.—Published by Geo. E. Desbarats, Montreal. For sale at the Herald Book Store, price 10 cents.

This excellent weekly is improved wonderfully of late and is well worthy of a generous support. Last Saturday's has the portrait of the late Sir George E. Cartier; it is well done and beautifully executed.

THE PHRENOLOGICAL JOURNAL FOR MAY.—Published by S. R. Wells, New York. Price 30 cents; three months on trial 50 cents; a year's subscription, $3.

This is an excellent number; containing many particularly interesting features viz: the portraits and life sketches of twelve Editors of leading religious newspapers—such as The Observer, Christian Union, Evangelist, Christian Intelligence, Liberal Christian, Church and State, Baptist Union, Christian Advocate, N. J. Messenger, Jewish Chronicle, etc.; human knowledge past and present; mouths we meet and their meaning;—illustrated; does sorrow kill?—a pathetic story; James Blake of Indianapolis, portrait and character; Justice Ward Hunt; building with rough stone; does the human race degenerate in America? the gulf-stream; curiosities of suicide, etc. The number merits general approbation; let everyone read it.
