THE PACIFIC RAILWAY SCANDAL

with the letters, said to be the evidence Pacific Railway Contract. The indictment has been read by the public, and if the Grits have nothing further which will bear stronger evidence in substantiation of the charges that have been made, and it is reasonable to look for their best cards first, we must say that Mr Brown's effort to make out his case has ended in smoke. Those letters are said to have been purchased, by Grit subscriptions, from one McMullen, for the modest sum of $25,000. Admitting their truthful- adian Pacific Railway Charter? ness, and Sir Hugh says he wrote them John Macdonald or any one of his Government, as having basely sold the charter for a large sum of money; in fact, those letters prove the contrary. They state that the writer, Sir Hugh Allen, did spend money, if he did all that he says he did in one of his letters. He hoped to secure sufficient French influence to obtain the charter, and he did what? Project the railway from Montreal to Quebec, and secure a controlling interest in it. Employ several young lawyers to write it up. Subsidize the newspapers. Go everywhere throughout the country spending with a liberal hand. "Make friends of the priests." And finally form a Committee to "influence members of the Legislature." The letters prove not only that Sir John Macdonald's Government neither received, nor ever were promised a single dollar, but that Sir Hugh and his American friends were "all right with the Globe;" or in other words that Sir Hugh had secured its influence for the project, and that in addition $50,000 | Sir Hugh Allen's letters, where does ONE | Prayer Meetings, Literary and Musical Enworth of the Railway stock had been of the Ministers of the Dominion Governset apart for George Brown- -Sir John's accuser-a rerson of whom it is said. received $20,000 on a former occasion for shirking what he, at an hour previous. considered his duty. The whole of the charges have been levelled at Sir John Macdonald, and lo! when the stolen letters come to light it is Mr Brown whose price had been ascertained. Mr Brown who had been bought to agree to being priced.

On the day following, Saturday, we have in the Mail a sworn affidavit of Sir Hugh Allen. It gives the full account of the letters referred to above, and likewise some correspondence that has been suppressed by the enemies of Sir John Macdonald. The following one of the letters proves all that is required with regard to the position of the Government in this matter, and it is with them and the Huntington charges we have to do up to the present time. The letter reads thus

'MY DEAR MR MCMULLEN,--No action has yet, as far as I know, been taken by the Government in the matter of the Pacific Railroad. The opposition of the Ontario party will, I think, have the effect of shutting out our American friends from any participation in the road, and I apprehend that all negotiation is at an end. It is still uncertain how the contract will be given; but in any case the Government seem inclined to exact a declaration that no foreigners interest in it; but everything is in a you hear what the result is likely to be. ed, Sir Hugh Allen hastens to explain their meaning. We never had a doubt of the innocence of Sir John with regard to these charges, and the letters and affidavit confirm our expressed opinion of three months ago. The Premier's grand aim is to so guide the helm of affairs as to culminate the great and glo-In the Globe of Friday, the 4th inst., rious work of uniting the British posthe readers of that paper were favored sessions on this continent in one compact and influential confederacy, to be in the the 28th ult. with which they were prepared to establique the Great Britian of America! lish the notorious charges made by Mr | The work is all but completed, and we Huntington, in the Commons, anent the trust Providence to spare his life for that 630 patients in the Lunatic Asylum great end. A FEW QUERIES.

> If the Yankees bought the Canadian Pacific Railway Charter, why do they not furnish the money for building the road? and why is Sir Hugh Allen compelled to go to England as the only place in which he can obtain the money for that purpose?

Why did Sir Hugh Allen in his allotments of stock in the proposed Pacific Railway Company set apart $50,000 to the Hon. George Brown? and as long as there was a prospect of Sir Hugh's Yankee friends obtaining the charter, why was he "all right with the Globe?"

When that prospect was effectually crushed by Sir John Macdonald's Government deciding in the interest of the country that the much coveted charter should be exclusively Canadian, why did George Brown then, and only then, commence to rail with all the low language at his command, at Sir John being sold to the said Yankees?

In the appropriations mentioned in ment appear?

Why were those of the above mentioned etters which would exculpate Sir John left unpublished by the Globe?

If the Yankees were not disappointed by Sir John Macdonald refusing them the Pacific Railway contract, why have of from those interested. Communications they been induced to give up Sir Hugh's letters, thus cutting their connection ceived. with that gentleman and literally throwco-operation with the Americans. Sir ing up the contract for $25,000, the John Macdonald was not insulted with price said to be paid by the Grits for those precious missives?

Why have Messrs Blake and Dorion refused to act as a Royal Commission. when they could thus place the whole evidence before the country?

And why is Sir John so anxious to have an inquiry if the charges are true? We would like to have these queries answered by the Globe or its satellites.

TAKING HIMSELF OFF.

We understand Mr George Brown proposes leaving for Europe on Saturday next. It is unfortunate for Mr Brown that he should deem it necessary to leave the country at this time. His name has been prominently mixed up in a transaction which reflects but little credit upon him. If there should be an investigation of the charges preferred by Mr Huntington it is quite evident that Mr Brown must be put on the stand-if within the reach of the Committee. Is he afraid of the further revelations which | For restraining or regulating the running will have directly or indirectly any are in store for a public already surfeited state of uncertainty, and I think it is with sensations? There doubtless are unnecessary for you to visit New York a good many reasons why Mr Brown BE IT ENACTED BY THE COUNCIL OF THE CORon this business at present or at all till should take himself off, and the Canadian people will not be slow to indicate them if Mr Brown persists in shirking the enquiry. We shall say no more until we see whether Mr Brown really leaves the country.-Mail.
