

Thos. Nightingale, Esq., lady and daughter returned from a visit to England on last Saturday. They enjoyed the trip well, and have improved in health. They went via New York and returned the same way.

We extremely regret to say that Mr W. Rowell has been unable to attend to business for some weeks past owing to his poor state of health. We know we but express the wish of his numerous friends in hoping that he may soon be able to get about again.

We understand that the managers of the Magdalen Asylum have sold the old building, with ground, as far as the line of York street (this street being intended to be opened out as far as Beverly) to Mr Stanton, at $30 per frontage on Yonge Street. A new Asylum being built further west, on Beverly street, of white brick, at a cost of about $14,000. Beverly street is kept in a most disgraceful state, being neither graded or side-walks; in fact you would think that the Council had no control over it at all. It would be a good thing for the village if Commissioner Coatsworth of the city could be persuaded to give his attention to the village for a time. If unfortunately the Cholera should visit Canada, Yorkville is pretty ripe for it as the streets are filthy, the slaughter houses and stables are stinking, and consequently the air is far from being pleasant and healthy.

Mr Smart, formerly of Yorkville and the city, has removed to Hamilton to do business and has been appointed to perform the duties of Judge Logie, in the absence of the latter while on a visit to Europe for the benefit of his health.

Illiteracy in the United Kingdom.

From the fifteenth annual report of the Registrar-General for Scotland, we take the following figures in regard to the adult illiteracy of the population.—A recently published summary of the census tables of England and Wales enables us to compare the illiteracy returns of the two divisions of the island. The detailed report of the Scottish Registrar-General refers to the year 1869. During that year 22,144 couples were married, and of the men 19,911, or 89.92 per cent, signed their names in writing in the marriage register; of the women, only 17,723, or 80.04 per cent, signed their names in writing. The number of men who signed their names with a mark, being unable to write, was consequently 2,233 or 10.08 per cent. of the whole, while 4,421 women, or 19.96 per cent, were unable to write. The Registrar-General adds some instructive details regarding the comparative illiteracy of those who got married by clergymen of the various religious denominations during the year. Of the persons married by the Established Church of Scotland, 7.04 per cent. of the men and 16.53 per cent. of the women signed their names with a mark. Of the marriages performed by the Free Church, 6.59 per cent. of the men and 15.70 per cent. of the women were unable to sign their names in writing. Of the United Presbyterian marriages, the proportion was 3.84 per cent. of the men and 11.84 per cent. of the women; while of the Episcopalian marriages 9.78 per cent. of the men and 20.93 per cent. of the women signed by mark. Of those married by the smaller Protestant denominations, 6.17 per cent. of the men and 17.65 per cent. of the women were unable to write. Those married according to the forms of the Roman Catholic Church furnish the very large proportion of 46.06 per cent. of the men and 61.72 per cent. of the women who were unable to write.—The figures in regard to England and Wales are not given so much in detail, but afford data for a general comparison between the northern and southern parts of the island. The census returns give the general average for England Wales of men and women married in 1870 who signed the marriage register with marks. Of men, the proportion is 19.8 per cent., and of women 27.3 per cent. Coming down to particular counties, the proportion varies from 36 per cent. of men, and 44 per cent. of women, in Stafford and Monmouth, to 9 per cent. of men, and 12 per cent. of women in Surrey.—There is no fixed data in regard to other matters from which we may explain the comparative prevalence of adult illiteracy. It does not, for example, accompany a high average of people to each inhabited house, for in the metropolitan counties of Surrey and Middlesex where the illiteracy is lowest, the number of persons for each house is highest.—Purely agricultural counties present a high proportion of illiteracy, but not the highest, as may be observed from the case of Stafford the seat of the great potteries. The northern counties, such as Northumberland and Westmoreland, have less than the average of adult illiteracy as shown by the marriage register, but when we come to Durham the proportion is much above the average. The general conclusion to be drawn from these figures is that owing to the rapid growth of manufacturing industry and the consequent tendency to put children to work when they should be at school, their has been during the last twenty years a considerable increase in the illiteracy of Scotland. This has been considerably swelled by the immigration from Ireland as the number of Roman Catholic marriages and of people unable to write conclusively shows. In England the proportion of adult illiteracy is, roughly speaking, twice as high as that of Scotland, while in Wales the proportion is 50 per cent. higher than in England. It will be at least ten years before the working of the new education act can manifest tangible result in regard to returns like these. Meanwhile, from the operation of causes which have been but lately interfered with, the returns of adult illiteracy are likely to grow less favorable than ever during several years to come.

The wrecks during July of American vessels bound to or from American ports numbered nineteen, the chief being the wrecks of the steamer City of Washington and of ship Alice Bell of New York. There were lost in addition to these, two barques, five briggs and ten schooners. The aggregate value of the nineteen vessels, exclusive of cargoes, is stated at $497,000.

A steamer with a cargo of tea was wrecked off Bermuda, and a portion of her lard (twas saved in a damaged condition. Parties in New York purchased the stuff to the extent of 9,000 chests, and, after washing the tea to get the taste of salt water out of it, and then drying, colouring and mixing with sound teas, they were prepared to re-pack the compound and foist it on the market. The scheme will, of course be denounced with much indignation, and yet there is a great deal of tea already in the market that has less of the genuine article about it than the compound of the New York speculators.

RAILWAY ACCIDENT.—A frightful railway accident occurred on Saturday last between Orillia and The Narrows bridge on Atherly, about two miles from the former village. The catastrophe took place on the Midland Railway, about 1:15 P.M. It appears the gravel-train was running at a moderate rate through the swamp and ran over two cows, which would persistently keep on the track. The engine passed over them without sustaining any apparent damage, but the van which contained the laborers succeeding it was not so fortunate, as it was by some means forced off the track, and the gravel cars broke into it, killing instantly two men named respectively James Stevens and Toovall Lake. A Norwegian from Muskoka, one of the injured, has since died. The following are injured, it is feared fatally: Thomas Darby, George Campbell, Bart Connors, W. Underwood, and two others whose names have not been ascertained. Several more are injured slightly. Drs. Corbett and Elliot were promptly in attendance at the scene of the sad occurrence. Numbers also arrived from Orillia, bringing with them Drs. Littles and Moores. Russes, Burgies, etc., were also provided without delay for the maimed and injured men, and in fact every attention was at once rendered for their immediate relief.

TORONTO YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION.

CORNER OF QUEEN AND JAMES STS., TORONTO, JUNE, 1873.

To Parents, Guardians, Pastors, and others whose Sons, Wards, or Friends may be leaving home for residence in the City of Toronto.

The Young Men's Christian Association take pleasure in informing their friends and the Christian Public generally of the facilities for usefulness which they now enjoy.

Their beautiful and commodious building, with its Halls, Library, Free Reading Room and Gymnasium are intended at once to invite and improve all young men who enter. Prayer Meetings, Literary and Musical Entertainments are frequently held and open to all.

Parents, Guardians, Pastors, or others who have young friends in the City or about to come to it, are invited to urge them to come to us. A Reception Committee has been formed, the members of which gladly call on all strangers whom they may hear of from those interested. Communications from friends at a distance are gladly received.

Yours respectfully, Thos. J. Wilkie, Secretary.

ROGUS MEDICINES.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS AND OINTMENT.

I have for a considerable time past considered it to be my duty to advise the public of the British North American Provinces against buying from unprincipled dealers medicines emanating from New York, and sold as my "Holloway's Pills and Ointment," in which much ingenuity has been displayed in passing them off as my make. It is very difficult indeed to attempt to enumerate the many devices to which the parties have had recourse. They say, amongst other things, that a new label has been adopted by them, and with base-fac'd effrontery caution the public against being deceived by spurious imitations. ...

SYRUP OF HYPOPHOSPHITES. As all life-endowed bodies, whether they be Beasts, Birds, Reptiles, Insects or even Zoophytes, and subjects of the Vegetable Kingdom are governed by vital Force, which binds all the springs of existence, and as nothing can save them from destruction when this principle leaves them, the discovery of means whereby vitality may be sustained in the living body is indeed a boon to the world. Modern chemistry has ventilated the question and discovered the ingredients constituting the brain, muscles and nerves, and finds that by introducing these ingredients in proper proportions the brain and nervous system are strengthened. This, then, is substantially the basis on which FELLOWS' HYPOPHOSPHITES is built, its direct action is upon the Blood, the Brain and
