THE GRIT REFORMER.

It is the custom of the self styled Re formers to dub everyone "Tory" who differs from them in opinion. Very few of them know exactly the meaning of the term, but they have an idea that it is an opprobrious name, and use it according ly. If a person expresses an opinion contrary to the ideas of the "Reformere," if such an opinion is not in accordance with what the Globe teaches, then he is put down as a Tory. Servility to George Brown and the Globe is the creed of the Grit, next to the Bible; and even before it. With some, the Globe newspaper is the standard of morality and truth; it matters not how absurd the Monday evening, the 27th inst., at halfcharges it may make against the governare ready to believe them. It matters consented to be present to deliver an adnot how contemptible the means taken to acquire information-whether by letter the Sabbath School work will give an stealing or by bribery. If the Globe condemns not, then it is all right. Like all men who boast themselves of liberality, in the hour of trial they are found place. wanting. The confirmed Grit is the most il-tiberal man on the face of the earth. His narrow-mindedness will not permit him to read any other paper but the Globe and perhaps the local organ of the party.

The Economist for instance, whose editor the other day gave the astonishing information that Goldwin Smith supported John A. Macdonald's government. We would like to know when ty.—Mail. and where this remarkable instance of support is to be seen. Goldwin Smith, a most bitter radical. In fact so radical in his ideas that he might be classed among those who hold Chartist views. He writes now for a magazine for pay and the probability is that the extent of his pay is the extent of his independence. McMullen's brother stated that $20,000 dollars was paid for the copies of the telegrams, letters, &c., that the Editor put into the hands of Goldwin Smith, turing his skull in a most frightful manwould soon make the better side appear uer and killing him instantly.
