TEMPERANCE PROGRESS.

The late meeting of the Grand Division of the Sons of Temperance, which in point of numbers and influence still continues in a steady career of prosperity—took place in the beautiful village of Orillia. This meeting may be counted a landmark in the history of temperance, on account of the great progress they have been enabled to chronicle. In Ontario alone they have reached the large number of 13,000, being an increase in the past six months of 1000. Such a creditable number of enthusiastic adherents—and surrounded as they are with a wide circle of acquaintances who are in hearty sympathy with the aims they have in view—is certain to wield a mighty influence. The Legislature of Ontario, impressed by the number, respectability, and persistency of their petitions, were constrained to grant a favorable hearing to their requests and has actually intimated to the Dominion Government its intention of giving the weight of its influence in favor of Temperance Reform. There were 36,132 petitioners to the Parliament of 1873 in Ontario and Quebec, and petitions from Municipal and Corporate bodies representing a population of 160,000 were sent in. To Ontario and Quebec were added this year the results of petitions from British Columbia, Manitoba, New Brunswick, Nova Scotia, and Prince Edward Island presenting a list of petitioners amounting to 127,817 names, and those from corporations and municipalities representing a population of 410,000. The Legislature of New Brunswick has also petitioned the Dominion Government in favor of a practical Prohibitory Liquor Law, in the same manner that the Legislature of Ontario did. Coming events speak loudly through these facts and their looming shadows are already approaching so near that we can almost read the signs of the coming time. When Legislatures and powerful Corporations take the matter in hand the rest is easy; but a danger lurks even in that. It will not be well for our temperance men to relax their efforts when there is smothered sailing. The battle does not cease there nor anywhere this side of the grave we fear. There will be powerful opposition always and treacherous undercurrents. The beam on the face of the waters may glow, but the tide runs in coldness and darkness below. It would be a pity if such splendid efforts were not crowned by a glorious triumph. Let them then keep the aim steadily in view and let them not be lulled into a fancied security by anything short of the reality. And let them gird themselves for the struggle more determinedly than ever, for he who is girding on his armor must not boast like him who is putting it off after the battle has been fought.

On Tuesday of last week the General Assembly of the Canada Presbyterian Church, and the Synod of the "Kirk" met at Ottawa. The occasion is interesting on account of the effort intended to be made in order to effect a union between the two bodies. Many (some say the vast majority) in both favor the proposed union; but there is an active minority in each who will strenuously oppose any such action. The tendency of religious organizations towards forming amalgamations has been the marked feature for the past few years, in the religious world. Actual union of many denominations is merely a question of time; but in many cases the preparatory stage is of vital importance, and it is dangerous to hurry churches through it.

WARNER & HENDERSON'S Great Pacific Museum, Menagerie, Circus and Hippodrome, united with Springer's trained animals and Egyptian Camels, advertised to arrive on Monday and Tuesday next, the 15th and 16th insts. By newspaper accounts this combination is most attractive and is well worthy of a visit from all who take an interest in these exhibitions, and regarding this exhibition the Detroit Daily Post says: "Large audiences greeted the performance at Warner's circus yesterday afternoon and evening, and athletes, acrobats, equestrians, gymnasts and horses one and all, seemed to be in the mood to put forth every nerve to make the performance unusually startling. Mile Jutta excelled herself in her specialties, and the loud cheers of the audience showed how her daring and dexterity was appreciated. The gymnasts 'threw' themselves in a way to amaze men whose spinal columns can't bend double without breaking, and 'Little Pet' gained the admiration of youth by his fearless and dexterous acrobatics. The box trick is the most astonishing feat of the age, and wherever it is performed it will make the people marvel and wonder."

THE GRANGER AGITATION.

We are glad to notice that the farming community are about to combine and agitate unitedly in order to secure due consideration for their class, socially, politically and commercially. They argue that all other classes are in the habit of entering into leagues and combinations in order to secure certain rights and privileges which they deem necessary to their welfare, and that consequently the farmer is steadily driven to the wall on account of either inability to take advantage of, or indifference and the want of united effort. They consider that the farmer who is the foundation stone of society and who supports upon his broad shoulders the whole social edifice, and pays for everything, gets the smallest share of the spoil after all. That while the toiler of the soil is wasted with the summer's heat and withered by the winter's cold, the drones of society are faring sumptuously and are clothed in purple and fine linen at his expense. There may possibly be more truth than poetry in this view of the case. Every man, however, ought to know his own business best, and if the farmer believes that he is defrauded of his just dues or rights, it is his business to see that a stop be put to it instantly. In so doing, he will not only be forwarding his own interests, but likewise, those of truth and justice. From such a point of view it is not only right and reasonable that action should be taken in the matter, but under any circumstances it is of the utmost importance that the greatest encouragement should be given to the pursuit of agriculture. It is well known that whatever misfortune happens to us as a nation, if our agricultural interests are sound, we will safely and triumphantly weather the gale. We do not fear that any harm whatever will arise from this agitation, but on the contrary, a great deal of good. Where the farmers are doing each other harm is in keeping themselves isolated, and in failing to communicate with each other, and freely interchanging experiences, and throwing it into the common stock. "Two heads are better than one" is a very old proverb, and one that the farmer is fond of respecting, and it is one that applies to the merits of the case, and we hope that our agricultural friends will step out of their old groove and form farmers' clubs and granges and other associations, and reap all the benefit of them.

"BEST IN THE DOMINION."—No. 3 Troop of Cavalry Richmond Hill, stands No. 1 in some respects. Col. Dominion on a tour of inspection on Monday last, called at the armoury and was highly pleased to see it. It was the best arranged; the equipment the cleanest and neatest in the Dominion, even beating the Governor-General's Body Guard. This reflects great credit upon the captain, J. McCune, for his strict attention to the armoury, and also to Sergeant Hyne, who took so much interest in the equipment, and gave them an excellent
